"JOHNNIE" WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very pleased to be able to again present to the Members and visitors of the House a voice that I am sure you will all recognize, one you have heard many times on the radio. It was our pleasure the other day to present to you Don McNeill. We are very happy to have with us the Division Manager of Central Pennsylvania William A. Heenan and the Sales Representative Mr. R. F. Bryner, who have brought with them "Johnnie" of Philip Morris.

The Chair requests Mr. Waterhouse, who together with Mr. Watkins, I am sure are very much responsible for having "Johnnie" here, and also Mr. Scanlon, to escort "Johnnie" to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER. May I present "Johnnie" of Philip Morris?

JOHNNIE. Mr. Speaker, thank you very much. Brevity has always been my greatest asset, and I won't infringe on it at this time. I am Johnnie of Philip Morris and I am making a good-will tour of the country. Recently I was in Washington and I am afraid that I upset the decorum of the House while I was there. So I came over here, accompanied by Mr. Waterhouse and Mr. Watkins, to say "hello" and to wish you well. I desire to thank you very much for your kind invitation to be here with you today, and I would like to get this across, "Call for Philip Morris." Thank you very much.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair has a very important announcement and message. The Chair has received a very cordial invitation to attend the thirtieth wedding anniversary and celebration of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, and Mrs. O'Connor, to be held on June 22nd. The Chair would like to acknowledge at this time this invitation and certainly will say for the Members of the House that they wish both Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor at least thirty years more of marital bliss. We wish them well and God bless them.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to thank you for your kindness and courtesy extended to me and Mrs. O'Connor in reading that invitation to all the Members of the House.

I wish to state that although thirty years have flown around I am still hale and hearty. During that span of thirty years I am proud to say I have become a parent, and I feel that no greater blessing could befall any man than to get a loving and devoted wife and a loving and devoted mother, and now a loving and devoted grandmother, such as I have had in Mrs. O'Connor for the past thirty years. As the parents of a family we have seen life in all phases, births and deaths, fortunes and reverses, but through it all we stuck together, and we hope that the expression of the Speaker may be realized that the first thirty years will only be the beginning of greater happiness for the second thirty years. Again I thank you.

Mr. DIX. Of course, Mr. Speaker, I did not know this before, but inasmuch as Mr. O'Connor, the gentleman from Cambria who just spoke, has a wedding anniversary on the 22nd of June, I just want you to know that my wedding anniversary, which is the thirty-first, also comes on the 22nd of June. I want to congratulate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, and Mrs. O'Connor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. YOUNG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, since congratulations are in order for wedding anniversaries I would like to remind the House that today is the twenty-fourth wedding anniversary of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very pleased to learn that fact, and certainly wishes for him as he does for the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, the same as he wished for Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, that their number of years of married bliss may be doubled and tripled.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 306, Printer's No. 571 and

Senate Bill No. 361, Printer's No. 589

Trout.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,
Senate Bill No. 491, Printer's No. 231
Senate Bill No. 506, Printer's No. 611
Senate Bill No. 507, Printer's No. 610 and
Senate Bill No. 533, Printer's No. 397
were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 578, as follows:

An Act amending revising and consolidating the laws relating to delinquent county city except of the first and second class and second class A borough town township school district except of the first class and school districts within cities of the second class A and institution district taxes providing when how and upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for such taxes the return and entering of claims therefor the collection and adjudication of such claims sales of real property including seated and unseated lands subject to the lien of such tax claims the disposition of the proceeds thereof including State taxes and municipal claims recovered and the redemption of property providing for the discharge and divestiture by certain tax sales of all estates in property and of mortgages and liens on such property and the proceedings therefor creating a Tax Claim Bureau in each county except a county of the first class to act as agent for taxing districts defining its powers and duties including sales of property the management of property taken in sequestration and the management sale and disposition of property heretofore sold to the county commissioners taxing districts and trustees at tax sales providing a method for the service of process and notices imposing duties on taxing districts and their officers and on taxcollectors and certain expenses on counties and for their reimbursement by taxing districts and repealing existing laws

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Bill 578, Printer's No. 603, be dropped from the calendar.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I must take issue with my friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor. I think this bill should be voted upon by the Members of the Assembly. This bill amends, revises and consolidates the laws relating to certain delinquent taxes and clarifies the record and creates a system by which tax sale titles can be clarified and made as good as any title that can be given on real estate. The bill is the result of six years of study by the Local Government Commission. It is endorsed by the State Association of County Commissioners and the Pennsylvania School Directors' Association, also the cities, boroughs and township organizations throughout our Commonwealth. Therefore, I feel that we should vote on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that the Majority Leader has been called from the floor for a minute. Would the gentleman be agreeable to withdrawing his motion to drop the bill from the calendar, and temporarily passing the bill over?

MOTION TO DROP FROM CALENDAR WITHDRAWN

Mr. O'CONNOR. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not object to withdrawing my motion and passing the bill over temporarily.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the bill will be passed over temporarily. The Chair hears none.

BILLS PASSED OVER

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 801, Printer's No. 585

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 814, as follows:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities" by removing certain restrictions for a limited period of time as to the licensing of veterans' organizations

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 licenses shall hereafter be granted by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages or the retail sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages in excess of one of such licenses of any class for each one thousand inhabitants or fraction thereof in any municipality exclusive of licenses granted to hotels as defined in this act and clubs but at least one such license may be granted in each municipality except in municipalities where the electors have voted against the granting of any retail licenses. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as denying the right to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew or to transfer existing retail licenses of any class notwithstanding that the number of such licensed places in a municipality shall exceed the limitation hereinbefore prescribed but where such number exceeds the limitation prescribed by this act no new license except for hotels as defined in this act and veterans' clubs as hereinafter provided shall be granted so long as said limitation is exceeded. Any branch post camp or chapter of a veterans' organization Nationally chartered by the United States congress or any subsidiary thereof chartered as such by the national organization whose active and voting membership is the same as such branch post camp or charter which files a proper application together with the required fees and bond within eighteen months after the effective date of this act may be licensed any time after its incorporation whether or not it shall have been in existence and operation for a period of one year

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, as one who is opposed to the limitation of licenses and who voted for 1170, when it passed this House with the limitation on clubs renewed for a period of eighteen months, I find that I cannot in good conscience vote for this bill.

Senate Bill 814 seeks to amend the limitation law by providing that for the next eighteen months club licenses may be issued to veterans' clubs as defined in the bill. It appears that the latest amendment includes home associations of veterans' organizations. Under the interpretation of the Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas the present limitation law has been interpreted so as not to include clubs. If I vote for this bill I will eliminate the ability of any other organization other than a veterans' organization, no matter how good it may be, from obtaining a club liquor license. In every county in the state—I think there are twenty-seven or twenty-eight counties where the courts have already ruled that the clubs are not within the quota, veterans' organizations can now obtain liquor licenses. In all the counties where the courts have ruled otherwise, of course, the veterans' organizations as well as other organizations will not be able to obtain a club liquor license.

I think perhaps there has been a lot of confusion as to just what this bill does. I know many members have spoken to me and they think if they vote against the bill, regardless of the county they happen to be in, they will be saying to the veterans, "You cannot have a club liquor license." That is not so. The one thing that this bill does, however, if it should pass, is to make it possible for veterans' organizations to apply immediately and obtain a club liquor license because the provision that they must wait until one year has elapsed will be eliminated in the present law. Therefore, for those reasons I am going to vote against Senate Bill 814.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(d) Whenever any personal property taxable under the provisions of this act is held owned or possessed as trustee agent attorney-in-fact or in any other manner as hereinabove set forth by two or more persons copartnerships unincorporated associations companies limited partnerships joint-stock associations or corporations all of which are residents of the Commonwealth but not all of which are domiciled in the same school district levying this tax return of such personal property shall be made in a school district of the first class where any of the same are domiciled and there shall be paid in each such school district that portion of the tax imposed upon such personal property so held owned or possessed as the number of such trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact domiciled therein bears to the total number thereof notwithstanding the residence of any beneficiary or the place where such personal property is kept

Section 4 Listing Date The board shall on or before the fifteenth day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and annually thereafter fix a day as of which the property made taxable by this act shall be listed and returned The day so fixed shall be between the first and the fifteenth days of the month of January both inclusive and the day so fixed shall be printed or stamped on the forms for making returns of all such property If through inadvertence mistake or otherwise the board fails to designate or fix such date or if such date does not appear on the form for making return of such property the date as of which such property shall be listed and returned shall be the immediately preceding first day of January

Section 5 Payment of the Tax The tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable at the same time and subject to the same conditions as to discounts penalties and interest as in the case of personal property taxes due and payable to the county or city coextensive with the county in which the school district of the first class levying the tax is located

Section 6 Collection and Use of Tax Compensation of Collector All taxes penalties and fines imposed under the provisions of this act shall be paid to and collected by the Receiver of School Taxes or in school districts in which there is no Receiver of School Taxes by the County Treasurer of the county in which such school district is located and such County Treasurer shall pay the same to the School Treasurer of such school district There shall be paid to the county for the services rendered by such county treasurer in collecting the tax an amount to be mutually agreed upon between the county treasurer and the board of public education Such monies shall be collected by such collecting officials in the same manner as the personal property taxes for county purposes or in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes are collected

Section 7 Assessment by the Board Notice (a) If any taxable resident shall fail to file a return or fail to include in any return all of his property made taxable by this act or shall file a return which is false incomplete incorrect or inaccurate the board shall make an assessment of tax against such resident of the amount of the tax for which such resident is liable or for which he is believed by the board to be liable to which estimated return the board shall add twelve per cent (12%) and the aggregate amount so obtained shall be the basis for taxation

(b) The board shall notify by mail such resident of the estimated assessment. If such resident is dissatisfied with the assessment so made he may on or before the day fixed for appeals from assessments present reasons supported by oath or affirmation for his failure to file a return to include all of his taxable property therein or for having made a return which was incomplete, incorrect or inaccurate and the board may if satisfied with the excuse so presented permit the tax payer to file his own return and substitute said return for the estimated return made by the board. In all cases where a false return has been filed by the taxpayer the board may not relieve the taxpayer from the payment of twelve per cent (12%) penalty but the estimated return shall be final except in those cases in which a true and correct return shall reveal a higher assessed value than that contained in the estimated return in which case the tax and penalty shall be based upon the true valuation.

Section 8 Assessments Made at Any time Within Five years. An assessment as herein provided may be made by the board at any time within five (5) years after any property owned, held or possessed or alleged to have been so owned, held or possessed by any resident should have been returned by him for taxation notwithstanding he shall have paid a tax assessed on the basis of returns previously made or filed and notwithstanding the board shall have made previous assessments against such resident. In any such case no credit shall be given for any penalty formerly assessed and paid.

Section 9 Petition for Reassessment Appeal. (a) Any resident against whom an assessment is made may petition the board for a reassessment. Notice of an intention to file such a petition or to appear and be heard shall be given to the board within thirty (30) days after notice of such assessment is given or sent by the board to the taxpayer as provided in this act. The board shall hold such hearings as may be necessary to hear and determine petitions for reassessment at such places and at such times as may be determined by rules and regulations of the board and each petitioner who has duly notified the board of an intention to file a petition for reassessment or to appear and be heard shall be notified by the board of the time when and the place where such hearings shall be held. All such petitions shall set forth specifically and in detail the grounds upon which it is claimed the assessment is erroneous or unlawful and shall be accompanied by an affidavit under oath or affirmation certifying to the correctness of the facts stated therein. If no petition for reassessment is filed with the board the petitioner may in lieu thereof appear at the hearing and present his petition orally in which event all testimony or statements of facts shall be made under oath or affirmation.

(b) If such petitioner is dissatisfied with the action of the board on his petition for reassessment he shall have the right to appeal to the court of common pleas of the county where he resides at any time within sixty (60) days after notice of such action is given to him by the board. If any resident shall fail to give due notice of an intention to petition for reassessment and to file a petition for reassessment or to appear and be heard after due notice of his intention to do so or to appeal to the court of common pleas within the time and in the manner herein set forth the right to do so shall be forever barred and any such resident so failing shall not thereafter be permitted in a suit for the recovery of such tax to set up any ground of defense which might have been determined either by the board or the court of common pleas. In all cases of petitions for reassessment and appeals the burden of proof shall be on the petitioner or appellant as the case may be and every appeal to the court of common pleas under this section shall specify all the objections to the assessment and any objection not specified in the appeal shall not be considered by the court.

Section 10 Information at Source Reports. The executor of every will and the administrator of every estate at the time of filing with the register of wills or clerk of the orphans' court the inventory and appraisal of such estate shall file with such register of wills or clerk of the orphans' court a statement in duplicate under oath or affirmation setting forth the items included in such inventory and appraisal which may be liable to the tax imposed by this act. The register or clerk with whom the same is filed shall forthwith send one copy thereof to the board. It shall be the duty of the board to proceed at once to assess the tax due from such decedent with interest as provided in this act. Such assessment shall include all property owned, held or possessed by the decedent which should have been returned by him for taxation for any former year or years not exceeding five (5) years. In any case where a false, incomplete, incorrect or inaccurate return has been previously filed the board shall make an additional assessment for the five (5) years immediately preceding the year of assessment in the same manner as otherwise provided in this act. The school district levying the tax may proceed to collect the said tax by presenting a claim therefor to the orphans' court of the proper county or may proceed by action or suit at law in any court of competent jurisdiction or take any and all other appropriate steps or procedure for the collection of such taxes.

Section 11 Examination of Books and Witnesses rules and regulations. (A) The board or any employee authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books, papers and records of any resident in order to verify the accuracy of any return made or if no return was made to ascertain and assess the tax imposed by this act. Every such resident is hereby directed and required to give to the board or its duly authorized employees the means, facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized. The board is hereby authorized to examine any person under oath concerning any property which was or should have been returned for taxation and to this end may compel the production of books, papers and records and the attendance of all persons whether as parties or witnesses whom it believes have knowledge of such property. In the event of the refusal of any taxpayer to permit the examination of his books and records or upon his refusal to appear before the board or to testify or in the event of his refusal to produce books, papers and records which the board has directed to be produced the board may have recourse to the court of common pleas of said county which court shall upon cause shown direct the attendance of witnesses and the production of such books, papers and records.

(b) The board is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe, adopt, promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by this act.

(c) The powers conferred by this act upon the board relating to the administration and enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the said board by law.

Section 12 Certified Statement to Board of Public Education and Collecting officers. For the purpose of enabling the Board of Public Education to levy the taxes imposed by this act for one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and for every year thereafter it shall be the duty of the board to furnish annually at the same time as it furnishes the valuation of real property to the board of public education in school districts of the first class and to the Receiver of school Taxes or in school districts in which here is no Receiver of school taxes to the County Treasurer of the county in which such school district is located in estimate of the total valuation of all personal property taxable for school purposes

Section 13 Interest tax liens and claims (a) the tax imposed by this act shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum until paid (b) the school district levying the tax may at any time transmit to the prothonotary of the county in which the school district levying the tax is located a certified record of taxes imposed under this act and the penalties and interest thereon the record so transmitted shall contain the name of the taxpayer his address if known amount of tax penalty and interest due and the year during which said tax was payable and it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to enter and docket the same of record in the prothonotary's office in a docket which shall be designated "personal property tax lien docket" and such tax lien shall be indexed as judgments are now indexed and shall be combined with liens arising from county or in cities coextensive with counties city and county personal property taxes in no event shall the prothonotary be entitled to duplicate fees all taxes imposed under this act together with penalties and interest thereon shall be a lien on the real estate of the taxpayer within the county until paid after the same shall have been entered and docketed of record by the prothonotary all such liens shall have priority to and be fully paid and satisfied out of the proceeds of any judicial sale of said real estate before any other obligation judgment claim lien or estate with which the said real estate may become charged or for which it may become liable save and except only the costs of the sale and of the writ upon which it is made and the real estate taxes imposed or assessed upon said property the lien of said tax shall continue for a period of five years from the date of entry and may be revived and continued in the manner now or hereafter provided for revival of judgments and it shall be lawful for a writ of scire facias to issue and be prosecuted to judgment in the manner in which such writs are now ordinarily employed

(c) Claims for taxes due under this act may be collected by action in assumpsit brought by the school district levying the tax against the taxpayer or may be presented at the audit of any estate in the orphans' court

Section 14 Penalties (a) It shall be unlawful for any person or persons copartnership joint-stock association or limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation whatsoever in loaning money at interest to any person or persons whether such loans be secured by bond and mortgage or otherwise to require the person or persons borrowing the same to pay the tax imposed thereon by this act and in all cases where such tax shall have been paid by the borrower or borrowers the same shall be deemed and considered usury and subject to the laws governing the same

(b) Any wilful failure on the part of the board register of wills or clerks of orphans' court to carry out the duties imposed upon them by the several sections of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof the person or persons so failing to comply shall be sentenced to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) and imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year

(c) Any person who shall wilfully and corruptly make a false and fraudulent return as aforesaid shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon his or her conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) or undergo an imprisonment not exceeding two (2) years or both

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 859, as follows:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven P. L. 465) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing certain acts" permitting the use of an automatic mechanically operated device as a means of egress and escape from buildings in cases of fire and panic

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 465) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assehbled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and reglations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing certain acts" as last amended by the act approved the first day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 107) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 Ways of Egress From every floor of buildings enumerated in section two of this act there shall be proper and sufficient ways of egress and means of escape from fire and panic Provided That in all buildings hereafter erected or adapted for any of the purposes enumerated in section two of this act there shall be not less than two (2) ways of egress as remote from each other as possible except that the requirement for two means of egress shall not be appicable to buildings two stories or less in height with an occupancy of not more than three persons above the ground floor when it is determined by the department that adequate means of egress are available to all occupants and except that there may be one means of egress of fire-resistive construction in the case of tenement houses apartment houses and apartment hotels not over three stories in height with not more than a gross area of three thousand (3000) square feet on each floor between exterior and fire walls comprising a maximum of six (6) apartments under regulations which may be promulgated by the Department of Labor and Industry

In buildings of more than one story all means of egress shall be located inside the building at least one of which shall be an enclosed stair tower of fire-resistive construction and in addition thereto there may be used as a fire escape a mechanically operated device suitable for use as a means of escaping from windows and which shall consist of a steel cable lifebelt and mechanical brake which is automatically put into action by the presence of weight at the end of the cable Where the department finds after proper investigation that in buildings erected prior to the passage of this act the internal ways of egress herin provided for cannot be installed it may direct that such means of egress be provided as will in its judgment to better advantage carry out the intent and purpose of this section The Department of Labor and Industry may order fire walls or smoke barriers or both to be built in buildings already erected or which may hereafter be erected where in its judgment the erection of such fire walls or smoke barriers is necessary to the reasonable safe protection of the occupants The ways of egress shall be free from obstruction lighted and realy for instant use at all times Fire escapes now in use or hereafter erected shall be painted at least once a year and be kept in safe condition and up to such standard requirements as may be specified by the Department of Labor and Industry

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agree dto.

Section 12 Saving Clause

(a) Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to empower any school district of the first class to levy and collect the taxes hereby imposed on any person or on any business or any portion of any business not within the taxing power of this Commonwealth under the Constitution of the United States

(b) If the tax on any portion of the tax imposed upon any person or business or upon any portion of a business under the provisions of this act shall be held by any court of competent jurisdiction to be in violation of the constitution of the United States or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the decision of the court shall not affect or impair the right to impose such taxes or the validity of taxes so imposed upon other persons or businesses or portions thereof as herein provided it is the intent of the General Assembly that the taxes so held to be unconstitutional were not to be imposed but that the remainder of said taxes imposed hereunder were to be imposed and collected

Section 13 Repeal all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 14 Effective date the provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall remain in effect until and including the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-nine

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 869 which is the last bill on the calendar represents the General Assembly's contribution to the tax situation of first class school districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

You had Senate Bill 742 and Senate Bill 862. Speaking for the School Board of the City of Pittsburgh, and I believe I am joined in by the School Board of the City of Philadelphia, we want to take this opportunity to thank the majority and the minority members of this House for the faithful way in which they have performed their duties in connection with this very difficult problem. This marks the first time that a first class school district has had to do with taxes except those on real estate. Our estimates may be under or our estimates may be over, and whether the estimates are under or over, we wish to publicly acknowledge our indebtedness to the Members of the General Assembly.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Trout.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 801, as follows:

An Act to provide for the prompt peaceful and just settlement of labor disputes between public utility employes engaged in furnishing electric gas water and steam heat services to the public and their employes which cause or threaten to cause strike lockouts slow-downs or similar work stoppages and consequent interruptions in the supply of a public utility service on which a community served is so dependent that severe hardship would be inflicted on a substantial number of persons by a cessation of such service providing procedures for the adjustment and settlement of such disputes declaring that the public policy of the Commonwealth requires the continuation without cessation of such public utility services and providing means including regulations affecting the rights powers and privileges of employers and employes for the enforcement of such public policy and providing penalties

Section 1 That it is hereby declared to be the public policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it is necessary and essential in the public interest to facilitate the prompt peaceful and just settlement of labor disputes between public utility employers engaged in furnishing electric gas water and steam heat services to the public and their employes which cause or threaten to cause an interruption in the supply of service necessary to the health safety and well being of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to that end to encourage the making and maintaining of agreements concerning wages hours and other conditions of employment through collective bargaining between public utility employers and their employes and to provide settlement procedures for labor disputes between public utility employers and their employes in cases where the collective bargaining process has reached an impasse and stalemate and as a result thereof the parties are unable to affect such settlement and which labor disputes are likely to cause interruption of the supply of a public utility service on which the community so affected is so dependent that severe hardship would be inflicted on a substantial number of persons by a cessation of such service

Section 2 As used in this act

(a) The term "public utility" or "public utility employer" means a private employer subject to the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and engaged in the business of rendering electric gas water and steam heat services to the public in this Commonwealth

(b) The term "collective bargaining" means collective bargaining of or similar to the kind provided for by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act as interpreted by the decisions of the courts in this Commonwealth

Section 3 It shall be the duty of public utility employers and their employes engaged in operating public utility services to exert every reasonable effort to settle all labor disputes by engaging in collective bargaining in good faith and by entering into agreement and maintaining the same

Section 4 Within sixty days after this act becomes effective the Governor shall appoint a panel of arbitration consisting of twelve persons selected from a roster of recommendations received from a Labor-Management Advisory Committee appointed by him and having thereon equal representation from labor and management. The number and terms of the members of said Advisory Committee shall be fixed by the Governor. The Governor shall keep such panel revised at all times and available for services under the provisions of this act. Each person appointed on said panel shall be a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania possessing in the judgment of the Governor the requisite experience and judgment to qualify him to capably and fairly deal with labor dispute problems. Appointments on the panel of arbitration shall be made without consideration of political affiliation. Each appointee shall take an oath or affirmation to perform honestly and to the best of his ability the duties of arbitrator. Any appointee may be removed by the Governor at any time or may resign his position at any time by notice in writing to the Governor. Any vacancy on the panel shall be filled by the Governor within thirty days after the vacancy occurs. Arbitrators shall receive no compensation except for their services as such as hereinafter provided in this act.

Section 5 If in any case of a labor dispute between a public utility employer and its employees the collective bargaining process reaches an impasse and stalemate with the result that the employer and employees are unable to effect a settlement then either party to the dispute or the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board may request the Governor in writing to appoint a mediator. Upon the filing of any such request the Governor shall consider the same and if in his opinion the collective bargaining process has failed and such dispute if not settled is likely to cause the interruption of the supply of a public utility service on which a community is so dependent that severe hardship would be inflicted on a substantial number of persons by a cessation of such service the Governor shall appoint a mediator from among the mediators employed by the Department of Labor and Industry to attempt to effect a settlement of such labor dispute.

Section 6 The mediator so named shall expeditiously meet with the disputing parties or their representatives and shall exert every reasonable effort to effect a prompt settlement of the labor dispute. After the appointment of a mediator by the Governor as provided for in Section 5 hereof there shall be no interruption of work and no strikes or slowdowns by employees and there shall be no lockout or other work stoppage by the employer until such time as all of the procedure provided for in this act has been exhausted or during the effective period of any order issued by a board of arbitration pursuant to the provisions of this act unless the Governor shall determine that failure to settle the dispute would not cause severe hardship to be inflicted on a substantial number of persons.

Section 7 If the mediator appointed by the Governor is satisfied that the labor dispute cannot be settled within thirty (30) days of his intervention the mediator shall within such time secure from and it shall be the duty of each of the parties to furnish to him a written statement of the best offer of each party for the settlement of the labor dispute. The mediator shall thereupon make a report to the Governor who shall require the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board forthwith to conduct an election among all of the employees in the bargaining unit involved in the labor dispute on the question "Shall the employer's offer be accepted?" Such election shall be by secret ballot. If a majority of those voting on the question shall vote in favor of accepting the offer then such offer shall become effective and if the same involves a dispute relating to wages hours or other conditions of employment that should be adjusted by collective bargaining the effective period shall date from the date of the appointment of the mediator by the Governor and shall continue effective for one year from that date. In default of a majority vote in favor of accepting the offer the vote shall constitute a vote in favor of arbitration.

A full statement of the offer as made by each party shall be furnished simultaneously to each eligible voter at such election and to the employer or his representative.

Section 8 If a majority of those voting at the election provided for in Section 7 of this act shall have voted against the offer as made and if the offer made to the employer is likewise rejected then it shall become the duty of the parties to the labor dispute to submit the labor dispute to an arbitrator or a board of arbitration as may be provided for in any agreement between the parties to the labor dispute or if no such arbitration is provided for the labor dispute continuing the Governor shall promptly appoint a Board of Arbitration composed of three members of the panel constituted in accordance with the provisions of this act to hear and determine such dispute. A new board shall be chosen by the Governor for each separate labor dispute but the same board may hear any number of issues or grievances which are involved in any one dispute between the public utility employer and its employees. Members of such board of arbitration shall be allowed reasonable compensation for their services and for their expenses in an amount to be fixed by the Governor. Such compensation and expenses including all stenographic and other expenses in connection with such hearings and the making of a complete record thereof shall be shared equally by the parties to the dispute.

Section 9 Each party to the labor dispute shall be entitled to designate one representative to sit with the Board of Arbitration appointed by the Governor but such representatives shall sit in an advisory capacity only and shall have no vote.

Section 10 The Board of Arbitration shall hold hearings and shall have power to administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses by subpoena and the furnishing by the parties of such information as may be necessary to a determination of the issue or issues in dispute. Both parties to the dispute shall have the opportunity to be present at the hearing by representatives and by counsel and to present such oral and documentary evidence as the Board shall deem relevant to the issue or issues in controversy.

Section 11 It shall be the duty of the arbitrators to make written findings of fact and to render a written decision and order upon the issues presented in the case. In making its findings the Board shall consider only the issues raised by the offers furnished to the mediator as provided in Section 7 of this act and shall not include any matter which is not regularly and customarily included as a matter for collective bargaining in the particular business. The arbitrators shall consider only the evidence submitted by the parties to the dispute. When a valid contract is in effect defining the rights, duties and liabilities of the parties with respect to any matter in dispute the Board shall have power only to determine the proper interpretation and application of the contract involved. Where there is no contract between the parties or where there is a contract but the parties have begun negotiations looking to a new contract or amendments of the existing contract and wage rates or other conditions of employment under the proposed new or amended contract are in dispute the Board shall consider all pertinent factors and shall establish rates of pay and conditions of employment comparable to prevalent wage rates paid and conditions of employment maintained for the same or similar work of workers exhibiting like or similar skills under the same or similar working conditions by public utility employers in the same business if any in the same labor market area and if none in an adjoining labor market area within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and which in addition thereto bear a generally comparable relationship to wage rates paid and conditions of employment maintained by all other employers in the same labor market area

The Board shall determine in each case from the evidence presented what constitutes in a particular case the same labor market area or an adjoining labor market area

In establishing wage rates the Board shall take into consideration the over-all compensation presently received by the employes having regard not only to wages for time actually worked but also to wages for time not worked including vacations holidays and other excused time an dall benefits received including insurance and pensions and the continuity and stability of employment enjoyed by the employes

Section 12 The Board of Arbitration shall hand down its findings decision and order (hereinafter referred to as its order) within sixty (60) days after its appointment unless the Governor for good cause shall extend said period not to exceed an additional sixty (60) days The order of a majority of the Board of Arbitration shall constitute the order of the Board The Board shall furnish to the Governor and to each of the parties a copy of its order A certified copy of its order together with the complete record in the case including the testimony shall be filed by the Board in the office of the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of the county wherein the dispute arose or in the office of the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of the county where the public utility employer maintains its principal office

Unless such order is modified or vacated as provided in Section 13 of this act such order together with such agreements as the parties may themselves have reached shall become binding upon and shall control the relationship between the parties from the date such order is filed with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas and shall continue effective for one year from that date but such order may be changed by mutual consent of the parties No order of the Board relative to wage and rates of pay shall be retroactive to a date before the date of termination of any contract which may have existed between the parties and if there was no such contract to a date before the date on which the Governor appointed a mediator in the labor dispute

Section 13 Either party to the labor dispute may within fifteen days from the date such order is filed with the prothonotary of the Court petition the court of common pleas of the county in which the certified copy of the order was filed for review of such order on any of the following ground that

(a) The order was procured by corruption fraud of unlawful means

(b) There was evident partiality or corruption on the part of the arbitrators or any of them

(c) The arbitrators refused to postpone the hearing upon sufficient cause shown or did not give the parties a reasonable opportunity to be heard or refused to hear evidence pertinent and relevant to the controversy

(d) The arbitrators exceeded their powers or so imperfectly executed them that a final and definite order upon the subject matter was not made

(e) There was an evident material miscalculation of figures or an evident mistake in the description of any person thing or property referred to in the order

(f) The arbitrators had ooded upon a matter not submitted to them unless it was a matter not affecting the merits of the decision

(g) The order is imperfect in matter of form not affecting the merits of the controversy

(h) The order is unreasonable in that it is not supported by the evidence

Upon the presentation of any such petition the Court shall issue a rule on the other party to the labor dispute returnable within such time as the court may fix The Court shall hear the matter on the record as filed with the prothonotary unless the petition alleges ground for a vacation or modification of the order of the arbitrators on which no evidence or insufficient evidence was taken in which case the court may require such additional evidence before it as may be deemed necessary in order to enable it to enter a proper order The Court may enter such order affirming or modifying or vacating the order of the Boad of Arbitration in accordance with the grounds specified in this section as to it appears just and proper The jurisdiction of the court of common pleas shall be exclusive and its order shall be final except that the same shall be subject to review by the appellate courts of this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided

Within thirty (30) days after the entry of any final order of the court of common pleas any party to the proceedings aggrieved thereby may appeal therefrom on matters of the law to the Superior Court Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and with same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas

Within thirty (30) days after the entry of any final order of the Superior Court any party to the proceedings aggrieved thereby may appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court if the jurisdiction of the Superior Court is in issue or if the case involves the construction or application of the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of Pennsylvania Such appeals shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal from the Superior Court to the Supreme Court All appeals from the action of the Board to the court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court and from the Superior Court to the Supreme Court shall take precedence over all other matters except older matters of the same character

The prothonotary of the respective courts shall in each case promptly notify the Governor an dthe parties to the proceedings of the order entered by the court of common pleas by the Superior Court or by the Supreme Court as the case may be

The order of any court sustaining or modifying the order appealed from and from which no further appeal is taken shall become binding and shall control the relationship between the parties from the dates that the original order of the Board of Arbitration has been filed with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas and shall remain effective for one year from that date unless changed by mutual consent of the parties to the proceedings If the order of any court vacates the order appealed from and no further appeal is taken then the Governor may either attempt further efforts to mediate the controversy or appoint another board of arbitration in the event the parties do not first agree to engage in further collective bargaining to settle such labor dispute

Any such second arbitration board shall consider the evidence taken by the first board and such additional evidence as may be presented by the parties to the labor dispute The order of any second board of arbitration shall supersede the preceding order and shall be filed in the court and be subject to review as in this act provided

Section 14 It shall be unlawful for any group of employes acting in concert to call a strike or to go out on strike or to cause any work stoppage or slowdown in violation of the provisions of this act It shall be unlawful for any employer to lockout his employe in violation of the provisions of this act It shall be unlawful for any person association or corporation to instigate induce conspire with or encourage any person or persons to engage in any strike lockout slowdown or work stoppage in violation of the provisions of this act Any violation of the provisions of this act shall constitute a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof the person association or corporation shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred ($500) dollars or more than twenty-five hundred ($2500) dollars or suffer imprisonment for not more than six months or both In the case of violation by associations and corporations the penalty by imprisonment may be imposed upon the representatives or officers thereof responsible for such violation

Section 15 Any person adversely affected by reason of a violation of the provisions of this act may file an action in the court of common pleas of the county in which such violation occurs to restrain and enjoin such violation and to compel the performance of duties imposed by this act. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts of common pleas to hear and determine such actions.

Section 16 Nothing in this act shall be construed to require an individual employe to render labor or service without his consent or to make unlawful the quitting of his labor or service or the withdrawal from his place of employment unless done in concert or in agreement with others and in violation of the provisions of this act. No court shall have power to issue any process to compel an individual employe to render labor or service or to remain at his place of employment without his consent. It is the intent of this act only to forbid employes to leave their employment in concert or to cause a work slowdown or stoppage in concert in violation of the provisions of this act and to forbid an employer to lockout his employes in violation of the provisions of this act.

Section 17 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mrs. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, the bill we are considering deals with strikes in Public Utilities. The bill in its final analysis sets up a system of compulsory arbitration. The word compulsory has no proper place in the field of management-labor relation. They have never accepted nor do they now accept the principle of compulsory arbitration. It is a word that is equally repugnant to both because it is a direct assault on both free enterprise and free labor. The answer to industrial strife lies in an adequate and competent conciliation, mediation and voluntary arbitration. It is beyond my understanding to know how anyone who is sworn to uphold our constitution will vote to uphold compulsory arbitration and compulsory service for free Americans. Why, our Constitution guarantees the citizen against such legislation. The power strike in Pittsburgh last fall no doubt inspired this kind of legislation. The Union involved in that strike was company inspired and company fostered. It was a union that we commonly know as a company union. The Duquesne Light Company believed they were raising a pussy-cat and lo and behold when it grew up it turned out to be a wild cat. That sorry spectacle does not portray the true relationship of management and labor in public utilities in this Commonwealth. There are in existence hundreds of agreements covering thousands of utility workers in which the relationship is on a high plane. These agreements provide for a method of voluntary arbitration. That is the American code of labor relations. Compulsory arbitration will neither assure industrial peace nor contribute to economic progress and is wholly repugnant to people who believe in freedom. It is no solution at all to the problems which beset us. In my opinion it will have the same effect as the Volstead Act did when it attempted to stop excessive drinking. The nature of the real job to be done should not be obscured by any easy reliance upon the comforting but erroneous motion that some law can be passed to guarantee industrial peace. We can not bring about peace and cooperation in industry with unhappy and coerced workers.

When we turn from the ordinary process of voluntary action to forced action we are asking management and workers to assume an unnatural attitude. This bill would wipe out the voluntary code of labor relations based on more than fifty years of experience and would tend to increase rather than check the discontent of the workers. For my part I do not think that forced labor is as efficient or free as voluntary labor.

For those reasons I will cast my vote in opposition to this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say amen to the remarks of the gentleman who just preceded me. I will also cast my vote against this bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say too that this bill presupposes the existence of voluntary arbitration provisions in such agreements as were referred to. The bill is, however, designed to cover only those situations where the public suffers, where the communities are disorganized as the result of the failure to reach a proper conclusion as the result of labor-management negotiations. The experience referred to by the gentleman prompted us to adopt a measure such as this because it is so very, very vitally needed by the public.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I too rise in opposition to Senate Bill 801. This bill would force compulsory arbitration on workers in public utilities. Organized labor is not opposed to voluntary arbitration and many contracts have arbitration clauses in them, but organized labor is very much opposed to compulsory arbitration, and most of industry is opposed to it also. Advocacy of compulsory arbitration goes hand in hand with the conviction that organized labor and management are either unable or unwilling to compose their differences by understanding, compromise and agreement. I do not subscribe to such a conviction.

The labor crises of the past year were mighty serious and in my opinion they show the need for less government interference in industrial relations and for labor and management to work more seriously than ever at developing the agreement making functions of collective bargaining.

We cannot bring about cooperation and peace in industry with unhappy and coerced workers. When we turn from the ordinary processes of voluntary action to forced action we are asking workers to assume an unnatural attitude.

We cannot sanction proposals to enslave labor without also doing irreparable injury to the system that has made America the world's greatest democracy. Our system of checks and balances in our economy has given to America our high standard of living and so many material blessings that it is without parallel in all history.

The labor unions, the free association of citizens in their trade associations, their cooperative groups, their buying and selling organizations, are the inherent checks and balances and pressures within our economic system. If we limit the efficiency of any of these organizations by weakening their form or structure, or regulating them to a degree that they are no longer so efficient in behalf of their members, then their contribution to the economic situation is restricted, and the economic situation will suffer.

We have just fought another war to preserve democracy and freedom of action and a nation of free workers demonstrated to the world the greatest productive record in the history of mankind. We entered this war with certain laws guaranteeing the rights and privileges of labor unions to organize and bargain collectively for the welfare of their members; now after winning this war with our system of free labor, it is proposed that the liberties and rights of these workers shall be limited, restricted and annihilated.

Again, let me say organized labor is not opposed to voluntary arbitration, but as free Americans we are very much opposed to any form of compulsory arbitration, and to preserve to us our rights under our Constitution, this bill should be defeated. I ask the Members of this House to vote "no" on this bill, and I ask that none but those present be recorded.

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Members in approaching this bill, I simply want to point out that in these labor relations bills something important has been overlooked. I mean that labor and management exist unto themselves. No law has ever been devised or passed which would make a man and a woman live together faithfully unless each was willing to do so, and I think the problem facing this Commonwealth is to let well enough alone and let labor and management work out their problems because if they cannot do so, any legislation placed upon the statute books will just add to the chaos and confusion, and if this system which we have is to survive it will have to be worked out within their own houses.

Mr. SORG. I say, Mr. Speaker, let them work out their own problems, but I don't think we ought to separate labor and management from the public generally. Let them work out their problems, yes, but don't let them close our hospitals, don't let them have the power to disorganize a community, don't let them withhold from the public the means of keeping their milk from being contaminated. Mr. Speaker, I say again this legislation is vitally needed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Chudoff and Cole.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, this particular bill has been enunciated in Committee since it came over from the Senate. It covers two phases of labor relations. In the first place it would outlaw jurisdictional strikes. Jurisdictional strikes cannot be outlawed by passing laws and placing them on the statute books of this country. This is a problem that has to be worked out between the unions themselves by men sitting around the conference table and using good, common horse sense. You could no more enforce a law of this kind if it were placed on the statute books than you could enforce the eighteenth amendment by prohibiting people from drinking, which did not work, and this law won't work. The unions themselves for the past few years have gone a long ways towards eliminating this form of strike. I think if there were less interference from the government and more labor-management negotiations this type of strike will be eliminated, and regardless of all the various laws which you put upon the statute books, you could not eliminate that sort of strike.

This bill also restores the entire doctrine of criminal conspiracy so abused in the past. Under the pretext of outlawing so-called secondary boycotts it prevents workers from refusing to deal with employers whose practices may lead to the ruination of their working conditions.

Only an enraged and vindictive determination to punish labor, no matter what the effect on labor's and the entire public's welfare will be, can explain this proposal. It simply ignores and confounds the most elemental realities of free enterprise, competitive system. Whether intended or otherwise, this proposal, if enacted, would go far toward restoring the intolerable evil of the sweatshop and all of the disastrous economic consequences that the sweatshop implies. That is so because in many instances it is impractical or impossible for a host of reasons to establish decent work standards save by peaceful, economic pressure brought to bear on the customers or suppliers of unfair employers.

The operations of a substandard plant means that the fair and humane employer, anxious to maintain decent work standards and adequate mass consuming power, must, out of pressure of competition, either be forced out of business or abandon his fair and humane practices. It means the decimation of one of the most constructive contributions made by organized labor to American progress and the American way of life—namely, the elimination of competitive advantages based solely on the crude exploitation of human beings. It means, finally, that the working people of this country would be compelled by law themselves to destroy the standards of living achieved over the years.

This bill would outlaw so-called jurisdictional strikes under any and all circumstances. Great progress has been made in eliminating such strikes and they cannot be settled by compulsion but only within the ranks of labor.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is defective because of the following reasons: The exclusion of supervisory employes from the definition of "employee" conflicts with the National Labor Relations Act and is in direct conflict with the decisions of the United States Supreme Court. As the previous speaker said, no law can compel workers to refrain from working together.

The exclusion of supervisory employes, irrespective of their actual function places them beyond and outside of the law. Limitations upon the scope of collective bargaining interferes with the process of collective bargaining.

The employes in any concern have a right to bargain on the subject of wages, hours, working conditions, and upon any point that affects their welfare. Excluding services to be rendered by an employee, would enable an employer to farm out part of his business and actually to prevent bargaining.

Exclusive from collective bargaining on the location of the plant and facilities enables an employer to run away from any particular location at will, abandoning his employes. The exclusion of equipment from the scope of bargaining tends to freeze safety and health requirements to whatever happens to be the present minimum in any plant. It is admitted that many health risks are not now covered by existing laws, and they should be within the scope of collective bargaining.

The exclusion of financial policy from collective bargaining has direct relation to wages that can be paid. It gives to an employer arbitrary power over job contracts. The worker should have the right to bargain on any matter that could reasonably be the cause of a strike in any industry. The bill as drawn is actually designed to create strikes rather than curb them.

Under the terms of this bill it is likely that when an employer decided in his own mind that every Democrat was a Communist, that every Republican was a Facist, he could probably bring the charges and create conditions that would enable him to toss any of them out at will. The primary defect in this bill is that it purports to deal with secondary boycotts, a very important matter, and nowhere in the measure is there an attempt to define a secondary boycott.

For these reasons and upon these points, Mr. Speaker, this bill should be defeated.

Mr. SORG. I rise in support of a principal that any bargaining agency or any member of a bargaining agency should have the right to decide for themselves who their representative should be; that if they get into a controversy as to who their representative might be, at least the matter could be decided in some peaceful manner other than the cessation of production by the employer, who would be perfectly willing to recognize whoever is designated by the majority of those employes. It is unfair to suspend production and to jeopardize business of that employer who might be willing to recognize either of the groups affected. It is unfair to him who desire to be fair to them.

In connection with the bill, on the question of secondary boycotts, we have again the principle that the one who is not concerned and has no part in the cause or the reason for any particular dispute shall not be made to suffer because of the boycott of the particular product, he being no part of the problem.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if all there was in this bill was a logical intent to curb jurisdictional strikes and the methods employed were likely to accomplish that end, there would be very little difference of opinion among labor leaders. Jurisdictional strikes are as obnoxious to management as they are to the public, but as I have pointed out jurisdictional strikes are only one feature, let us say they are the only good feature in a otherwise bad bill. I noticed that the Majority Leader, lawyer-like, hung his case on his best point, and perhaps his only good point.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like again to emphasize one point. In the matter of secondary boycotts the Majority Leader says it is not right for one plant to pull a secondary boycott against another plant because that plant may not have anything to do with this particular strike, but that plant may be working under sub-standard conditions that I spoke about a while ago, and may perhaps be in the process of breaking down the working conditions of the men in the other plant. Enough for that.

Sometime ago the Senate passed a bill which came over to the House which is still here in our Committee, which would have gone far towards solving this problem of management-labor relations. That was a bill to set up a fund to teach in the Pennsylvania State College the subject of management-labor relations. I think that is the only fair and sane approach to the subject. It looks to me like we do not want to approach the subject in that particular way. The only thing we are after is to bust the unions or else make them so inefficient that they cannot function properly. This method of management-labor relations in education is really the solution of the problem if we are to have in our public schools, our high schools and in our colleges courses in management-labor relations. I think that in a very short time we could eliminate all this trouble. And I repeat again, we are not going to do it by the passing of an obnoxious law.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman, there is room for exploitation of the theory of collective bargaining. Every member of this House thoroughly agrees and is in accord with the process of collective bargaining as the answer to most of our problems. I also feel and I am sure the gentleman himself feels that collective bargaining in all its aspects is not old enough on a broad basis that we have had it for the last several years, to have even had a good chance.

I agree whole-heartedly with the theory in the collective bargaining process as to the conditions of work and conditions it covers, but I am very much opposed, as many of us are, to those things that involve perfectly innocent parties, and particularly, Mr. Speaker, the most innocent party, the public.

Mr. MAZZA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to House Bill 361. Being a member of the C. I. O. for a period of five years, affiliated with labor organizations and knowing their problems, I want to make a statement at this time to make it clear that I am not on any labor pay-roll. I have been a working man in the steel mills for a period of fifteen years; for the past few years I am now in business. I honestly feel that the Republican administration is absolutely going too far in this legislation.

Pertaining to House Bill 361, I would like to know the definition of a secondary boycott and the definition of a jurisdictional dispute. I don't know what is going to happen if all this anti-labor legislation is going to pass this House. I feel that we are going to be called back here in a special session in the beginning of next year, because I don't care how many laws you pass against labor, they have the right to strike, the right to bargain for the thing they are striking for. I don't want to go back to the days when I was a boy. I can remember the Coal and Iron Police, the State Police, when they paraded up and down past my home, who whipped down men, women and children. That is why I am opposed to this Legislation, because I am afraid of it, because behind these bills there is something drastic, and I am urging the members to vote down Senate Bill 361.

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, this bill has one merit. On page 7 it increases the salary of the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board. I can only gather from that that the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board is expecting a lot of work in the near future as a result of this naive legislation. This bill embodies strikes which subject is under national scrutiny now. The secondary boycott clause up until now we have not had explained in this House. It is an all-embracing term put down here, ambiguous, loosely drawn, and the result of a perplexed legislator sponsoring something that he is not familiar with. I oppose this bill for that reason, and on account of jurisdictional strikes it is just ambiguous in its legislative intent. I cannot concur with the Majority Leader when he starts talking about the public being hurt, because in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we have about one million eight hundred thousand members of labor unions. Let us say they have an average of two people whom they support, and you have a pretty fair segment of the population of this state. This bill tends to deal with things that are simply conceived by naive and perplexed legislators not familiar with management-labor problems, and I think it would result in giving a lot of work to the judges of this Commonwealth for whom we made an increase the other day.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the provisions left in this bill are those which in my opinion are beyond the scope of collective bargaining, much more than the other provisions. The reason the other provisions were stricken from the bill is because the Members of the House believed they interfered too much with collective bargaining. Those provisions were designed to prevent jurisdictional disputes and secondary boycotts. They are not anti anything. They are not anti anybody, they are not anti labor or anti union. I don't believe the Members of this House have that attitude. I believe the Members of the House are intelligent enough to know that they cannot force their way out of any situation. I believe that this is wholesome legislation, and when I say "public" I want to include the working men, who because of this type of thing are thrown out of work when they do not want to be thrown out of work.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Schuster and Capano.

Provided however that if on the first day of July or on the first day of October one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven the balance in the unemployment trust fund to the credit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is less than eight and one tenth percentum of the total wages of all employees paid during the first four of the last six completed calendar quarters as reported to the department than and in that event the provisions of section 301 (f) prior to the amendments thereto made by this amendatory act shall apply

Section 3 The provisions of Section 1 hereof shall become effective on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight

The provisions of Section 2 hereof shall become effective upon the final enactment of this act and shall apply to the determination of employers' rates of contribution for the last three calendar quarter of the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this bill represents the contemplated contribution to various giant corporations which was cut in half as a result of amendments demanded by the National Social Security Organization. This measure propoerts to be designed to stabilize the Unemployment Compensation Fund. As to whether the Unemployment Compensation Fund should be stabilized in the general region of six hundred and twenty-five million or five hundred and seventy-five million is anybody's guess. However, the weight of opinion among those who claim to know about such things is that the fund should be stabilized in the neighborhood of six hundred million.

Now, it happens that there were some strikes that interrupted the operations of several of our giant corporations. This impaired their unemployment compensation rating; it impaired their rating so seriously that their figures would have been at a point that would have compelled them to contribute at the maximum 2.7 for a period of two and a half to three years in order to gain the lower rate. And so a bill was introduced in this House which would have enabled those corporations to gain a merit rating status that they have not earned, and which as drawn would have saved those corporations from fifteen to sixteen million dollars.

The Social Security Organization halted the schedule in the Senate Bill. The social security organization said, "First of all, you have got to start your figure at two point seven, you can go down as low as you like but you have got to start at two point seven." So, they modified the schedule with the result that while under the bill as it came from the Senate the experts say the unemployment compensation fund would have slipped to the tune of forty million dollars a year, now I am informed by competent authority that under the terms of this act the unemployment compensation fund will slip below a normal figure of six hundred million to the tune of twenty million dollars a year, and that as this bill is drawn it will save Westinghouse, Baldwin and several other large corporations much more money than they will pay out under capital stock tax and in the carry-over and carry-back provision of the tax laws that this House has passed.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if you believe that the corporations, Westinghouse, Baldwin, General Electric and several others, were unduly penalized because they had a strike, and that they should be given a merit rating which they have not earned on the basis of merit, you will support this bill. If you do not believe that or if you do not want to make a direct contribution to these large corporations, you will vote against this bill. In voting for this bill you will establish schedules which, if you take six hundred million dollars as the level at which unemployment compensation fund will stand, I say if you take that level, you will vote for a bill which will cause the fund to slip to the tune of at least twenty million dollars a year.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, when I vote for this bill I am not going to vote for it for any particular organization. I am going to vote for it because I believe, as I believe about many tax measures, when we need it, it should be there.

It does not occur to me that we need more than six hundred million dollars. It occurs to me that we need enough money in the unemployment compensation fund to meet the contingencies as set forth in the act, and that is unemployment on a purely involuntary basis. We need it to relieve conditions when a man is out of his job, and I am going to vote for it because I feel that under its provisions the fund will be adequately maintained in order to meet those particular conditions.

May I say, Mr. Speaker, that in the District of Columbia the rate can get as low as one-tenth of one per cent, and there it is adequate to meet the customary contingencies for which the unemployment compensation law was originally designed as an insurance measure.

In Florida seven-tenths of one per cent; in Illinois five-tenths of one per cent; in Indiana one-tenth of one per cent; Massachusetts five-tenths of one per cent; Missouri zero; North Carolina six and one-half tenths of one per cent; Texas one-half of one per cent.

Mr. Speaker, the experience of those particular places indicate that they maintain the fund on the basis of these percentages, and with the particular experience of our Commonwealth, when it has been called upon most heavily, it is my conviction that under 723 the purpose of our unemployment compensation laws can be carried out adequately.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it is very significant that the Majority Leader cites that highly industrialized district, the District of Columbia, where I am sure, if there are any heavy industries located, they do not deal in steel or coal or such matters as that. He also cites the highly industrialized State of Florida, whose chief industry, in addition to producing Senator Pepper, is producing reactionary southern Crackers. I will say to the gentleman if he will get his statistician and his experts to take these schedules and take six hundred million dollars as a base, that he will find that taking the present drafts on the unemployment compensation fund as normal, that the fund will not stand up at six hundred million dollars under the terms of this act.

I submit to the gentleman that the unemployment compensation fund has not been put to the test of experience as yet. There have not been the expected drafts upon it, and to mix into the structure the twenty million dollar a year draft over the proper level is certainly a dangerous experiment at this time.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it is deeply significant that the gentleman would pick two of the states that I mentioned. I submitted the State of Illinois, an industrial state; also the State of Massachusetts which is also an industrial state. I suggest also to the gentleman that not even in those states do they have the safety valve that is included in 723, to be sure that these minimum amounts are not based entirely on the individual concern, and by the way they are not all industrial or manufacturing concerns which have an unemployment compensation law but the law deals with all employees practically.

I call attention, Mr. Speaker, to the safety factor in 723, that like the other states is based on their own experience and unless unemployment greatly increases, at which time payments into the compensation fund are increased, I am convinced that it definitely will adequately maintain the fund.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in protest to this bill because I feel that under this bill the amount of money in the unemployment compensation fund is at a point where there never could be any increase in the weekly rate regardless of how much the cost of living was raised. We had a bill in the House some time back to raise the unemployment compensation rate to twenty-five dollars a week for twenty-six weeks. The bill was cut in committee to twenty-four weeks at the same rate which they are getting now, twenty dollars a week, despite the fact that the administration in its pre-election platform had promised to the workers of this State a very substantial increase in unemployment compensation rates. So I say to you that this bill was designed primarily to put it in a place where there never could be any increase in rates, regardless of the high cost of living.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, when we had the merit rating bill I opposed that bill. I wondered why the heavy industries did not oppose that bill. For the first time I found myself fighting in the interests of these heavy industries. Now I find that this bill will take care of the heavy industries. So I say to you men here who supported the merit rating, you have got these fellows now right where you want them. Just let them take their merit rating that they asked for and deprive them of this bill, and you have got them in good shape.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I believe we can base our decision in most instances not on an anti anything basis. I believe that one thing this State of Pennsylvania needs, and I think needs more than anything we can realize when we talk about various measures before the House, because some of them at least are entirely irrelevant, is jobs.

I thoroughly believe that the State of Pennsylvania should be in such a position that it will be at least competitive with our sister states in the matter of providing jobs. I do not subscribe to the theory that unless we kick them in the teeth every chance we might possibly get, that we are anti somebody else. I believe it is a matter of competition so long as it does not seriously interfere with the very good purposes of our unemployment compensation laws, and we can logically and sincerely support a measure like this.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to refer to the statement made by our Majority Leader, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg. Since 1932 it has been very evident, not in Pennsylvania but nationally, that any legislation in order to be good legislation has to be definitely anti anything, and I believe that we have come to the point in the road where we have definitely got to get back towards the center. We were definitely too far to the left and went too far to the right. In Pennsylvania industry is now paying practically double the tax that they would have to pay in Illinois, the same in New Jersey, and that is true in a lot of other heavy industry states. I am certainly not anti labor. I have worked in the coal mines and shops and in all types of work before they had a union to any great degree. I am not anti union, but I definitely do believe that they have lacked and still lack a general understanding of what industry is up against. I believe that this bill is a good bill and I certainly think, for the sake of Pennsylvania it should be supported.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Democratic party, I accept the gentleman's surrender of the Republican party to the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, what I want to know if this bill is so good, why were not the features of this bill put into Bill 952? I believe that not all the cards were laid on the table at the time the bill was before us because of the attempt of this bill to give away monies which belonged to the working men.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the provisions of this bill were not before the House at the same time as 952, and I cannot accept unchallenged the gentleman's statement that this is a surrender to the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association or any other association. The Members of this House do not vote for or against any association or organization; they vote for good legislation on the basis of principle, and I believe, Mr. Speaker, they vote for it because they think it is good.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 826

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 826, Printer's No. 962.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee on Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 826, entitled: "An act relating to strikes by public employes, prohibiting such strikes, providing that such employes by striking terminate their employment, providing for reinstatement under certain conditions, providing for a grievance procedure and providing for hearings before civil service and tenure authorities and in certain cases before the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

LOUIS H. FARRELL,

JAMES A. GELTZ,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

CHARLES L. ROBERTSON,

ADAM T. BOWER,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act relating to strikes by public employes prohibiting such strikes providing that such employes by striking terminate their employment providing for reinstatement under certain conditions providing for a grievance procedure and providing for hearings before civil service and tenure authorities and in certain cases before the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board

Section 1 As used in this act

(a) The term "public employe" includes all persons holding a position by appointment or employment in the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or under any of its agencies boards commissions or other branches or in the government of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth or any authority or in the public school system

(b) The word "strike" means the failure to report for duty the wilful absence from one's position the stoppage of work or the abstinence in whole or in part from the full faithful and proper performance of the duties of employment for the purpose of inducing influencing or coercing a change in the conditions or compensation or the rights privileges or obligations of employment Provided however That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to limit impair or affect the right of any public employe to the expression or communication of a view grievance complaint or opinion on any matter related to the conditions or compensation of public employment or the betterment thereof so long as the same is not designated to and does not interfere with the full faithful and proper performance of the duties of employment nor to limit impair or affect the right of any such employe to attend meetings conferences or hearings relating to such matters so long as such attendance is not designed to interfere with the full faithful and proper performance of the duties of employment for the further purpose of equitably carrying out the provisions of this act in order to avoid or minimize any possible controversies by making available full and adequate governmental facilities for the adjustment of grievances the governmental agency involved at the request of the public employes shall set up a panel of three members one to be selected by the employes one by the governmental agency and the two so selected to select a third member

the members of the panel shall be compensated for all necessary expenses by the Commonwealth on the political subdivision thereof or the authority involved the panel shall meet within fifteen (15) days if the grievance can be adjusted through negotiation and informal conferences between the various parties it shall be so adjusted if the conference negotiations do not result in rulings satisfactory to all parties concerned the panel shall afford the public employes and the governmental agency a full hearing after which the panel shall make their findings copy of which shall be sent to the Governor to the general assembly and to the head of the agency or political subdivision involved upon receipt of the findings of the panel the Governor or the head of the State agency or political subdivision involved may take administrative measures to remedy the complaints if the Governor or the head of the State agency or political subdivision finds that the situation complained of can only be remedied by legislative action the Governor may refer the matter to the legislature for correction or the head of the State agency or political subdivision may refer the matter to the proper law-making body if the members of the panel decide that legal counsel is necessary they may with the approval of the attorney general engage local counsel to advise them on the questions involved

Provided however that in the case of grievances or controversies involving employes of the public school system of the Commonwealth the school board or board of Public Education at the request of the employes shall set up a panel of three members one an employe of the school district to be selected by the employes one a member of the board of school directors or board of Public Education to be selected by such body and the third shall be the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or his nominee the members of the panel shall serve without compensation but shall receive all necessary traveling expenses which shall be paid by the school district or board of Public Education involved

Section 2 No public employe shall strike and no person exercising any authority supervision or direction over any public employe shall have the power to authorize approve or consent to a strike by one or more public employes

Section 3 Notwithstanding any other provision of law any public employe who violates the provisions of this act shall thereby abandon and terminate his appointment or employment and shall no longer hold such job or position or be entitled to any of the rights or emoluments thereof except if appointed reappointed employed or re-employed as hereinafter provided

Section 4 Notwithstanding any other provision of law a person violating the provisions of this act may subsequent to such violation be appointed or reappointed employed or re-employed as a public employe but only upon the following conditions

(a) His compensation shall in no event exceed that received by him immediately prior to the time of such violation

(b) The compensation of such person shall not be increased until after the expiration of three years from such appointment or reappointment employment or re-employment and

(c) Such person shall be on probation for a period of five years following such appointment or reappointment employment or re-employment during which period he shall serve without tenure and at the pleasure of the appointing officer or body

Section 5 Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law any person holding such a position who without the lawful approval of his superior fails to report for duty or otherwise absents himself from his position or abstains in whole or in part from the full faithful and proper performance of his position shall be deemed on strike Provided That such person upon request shall be entitled to establish that he did not violate the provisions of this act Such request must be filed in writing within ten days after regular compensation of such employe has ceased

In the case of a public employe who is entitled by law to a hearing upon dismissal or removal such written request shall be filed with the officer or body having power to remove such employe and such officer or body shall within ten days conduct a hearing to determine whether the provisions of this act have been violated by such public employe in the manner provided by law appropriate to a proceeding to dismiss or remove such public employe In the case of a public employe who is not entitled by law to a hearing upon dismissal or removal the request for a hearing shall be filed with the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board which shall within ten days conduct a hearing to determine whether the provisions of this act have been violated by such public employe in the manner provided for hearings before the board by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act All such proceedings shall be undertaken without unnecessary delay

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, there comes a time in every man's life when he likes to indulge in oratory sufficiently so to attract your attention and votes for the thing in which he is interested, so I ask you now to kindly lend me your ears.

House Bill 826 is based upon the fundamentally incorrect premise that strikes of public employes have been so frequent and serious in their effect upon public interest as to justify not only repressive but punitive action against them. My own personal experience has been that the teachers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the public employes in general are an intelligent group of public employes and individuals.

Mr. Sorg, at the time this bill was originally presented, intimated to you and to me that we cannot as individuals strike against, the government, and I say to you that that promise is based upon a principle age old in history that the king can do no wrong. So we come to the report of the Committee of Conference on this particular bill and we find that no attempt has been made to eliminate the definition of the word "strike." This is the first time in the history of Pennsylvania in all of the labor bills you have heard discussed in this House that we find that it is possible for an individual to commit the offense of being on a strike.

In response to that particular position I might say to you by way of argument, as lawyers sometimes think, if this bill were designed to attack collective action or group action on the part of public employes, then I say that perhaps the design of this particular bill and purpose of this particular bill might be good. But we find in this report they still retain the situation where an individual may be deemed to be on strike. This bill still contains the necessity that an individual must faithfully and properly perform his duties, and if he does not fall within that particular definition it is very possible for him to be dismissed, or any individual employe might be dismissed for failure to perform his duties in accordance with the definition under this act.

At the time we adopted it one of my objections to this particular measure was the fact that there was absolutely no provision made whereby public employes or teachers might properly discuss any trouble or grievance which they had concerning wages or trouble of any kind in that particular profession. We find now that the Senate has attempted in a very improper way to set up provisions for the adjustment of grievances, and I submit to you that this particular provision of the act is wholly inadequate and ineffective and in the end accomplishes no good, because the tripartite agreement for mediation provided for in the bill is not binding. In other words, there is nothing in this act which says that after the tripartite arrangement for mediation has been entered into that any one, including the administrative body affected, has to pay any attention to what the report of that tripartite arrangement might be.

So I submit to you that this arbitration arrangement in the bill is wholly inadequate and unsatisfactory. It is purely punitive and repressive; the punitive and repressive measures in this bill are still retained.

I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, in the last analysis that as strong as these punitive and repressive provisions in this bill are, they in no way will prevent strikes and will probably tend to increase them.

The intent of the bill in my own humble opinion is that it is an effort to destroy teachers' tenure by indirection. I submit to you very honestly and very sincerely because we have had no instances of strikes by public employes, that by and large in the last analysis it could only have been directed at the teachers, and I submit if this legislature is interested in destroying the effect of the teachers' tenure a bill should have been introduced in this House and passed, and we should not by this method attempt to destroy the effect of that act.

On May 2nd, the Governor of this Commonwealth stated that if strikes were to be abandoned on the part of public employes and such strikes punished, or any one striker punished, then the proper machinery for the peaceful settlement of such strikes should be set up. Anyone who has taken the time to peruse this act and has determined and studied the provisions for such mediation will find that the Governor's request as part of the machinery for the peaceful settlement of strikes by public employes has certainly fallen far short of achieving the goal that he requested.

Therefore, I submit to you that this report of the Conference Committee should not be adopted.

MR. WOOD IN THE CHAIR

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I should like to direct the attention of the gentleman to the fact that there was a bill introduced in this House last year for extremely modifying the teachers' tenure. That bill was not acceptable.

Concerning the method as to the agreement involving teachers, particularly in Conference Report on House Bill No. 826, it was suggested and accepted by the Conference Committee, as I understand it, at the request and suggestion of the authoritative representatives of the teachers' organizations. The Conference Report on House Bill No. 826 has not had in mind the particular provisions of the tenure act. It has in mind the prevention of strikes by public employes, and I know of no better argument in favor of the acceptance of this report than to set forth again the reasons why it was adopted by the State of New York. I certainly do not want to be the one who advocates the adopting of measures because other states adopt them, but I do want to say that when they advance a pretty good argument we might just as well accept it.

Here are the reasons given, "The duty of public employes is to the whole of society. A strike of firemen, if prolonged, could permit the destruction of the whole city. A strike of policemen could endanger the safety of millions of people. A strike of sanitary workers almost overnight could produce an epidemic threatening the lives of thousands of people. A strike in the mental hospitals of the state could cause the deaths of unfortunate inmates by starvation."

These things, Mr. Speaker, we must take steps to prevent, and while I would not subscribe to the fact that this is a confession of the principle that the king can do no wrong, certainly government can be wrong, but, Mr. Speaker, in our Commonwealth and under our system the people can do no wrong, and the only thing the people have to stand between order and disorder is the government they have. If they don't like it they can change it;—in the final analysis the people are the government.

Mr. Speaker, in view of the serious consequence of the failure of public employes to perform the duties of their office, the work that has been imposed upon them upon the part of the people, their employer, and of whom they are themselves a part, on behalf of the public I ask the Members to take these precautionary measures against serious consequences.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether or not a minority report was handed in by this Conference Committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

Mr. COLE. That is all I want to know. Thank you.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to understand the Majority Leader's acute concern to prevent things that have not happened. If he can tell me where the policemen are on strike or have been on strike in Pennsylvania in the last year, I will be more favorably inclined towards this bill. If he would cite a single instance in which the employes of our mental hospitals in all the history of this state have been on strike, I would be more favorably inclined to the bill. If he would point to an instance in which the firemen have been on strike, I would be more favorably inclined towards this bill. The only strikes that he can point to have been strikes staged by teachers. That has been and is now the only menace from his standpoint that looms upon the horizon.

This bill is an anchor cast to windward. No one can tell me how much of the cost of maintaining the school system under the terms of the teachers' bill will slough over on the local districts. In many districts the teachers have been given cost of living bonuses much above the stipulated minimum. There may be, if this bill increases the local costs, insofar as schools are concerned, situations that will arise between school teachers and school boards which because of the scarcity of teachers have been paying more than they want to pay. There is a possibility that here and there teachers might strike. So the tenure provisions of this bill are deleted to fit the case in the possibility of a teachers' strike, and they do not fit any other situation.

Now, if it is the majority party's view that these penalties should be properly visited upon the teachers in the event that they even for a day fail to show up in their school room, well and good. I say that these penalties are extravagant, they are ruthless in the case of teachers who might for the duration of half a day decline to teach. I want to point out to the gentleman that the Commonwealth would operate for a week even though many teachers were not in the schoolroom, while I will admit that we would need policemen and firemen and employes in the state institutions. So I say that this is a bill designed to build a ring around, to place a fetter upon the teachers of the Commonwealth to make certain that they are good boys and girls, in the event that any dissatisfaction arises under the terms of the teachers' salary bill, which will shortly become the law of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, here we are again with some more anti-somebody talk. This bill is not directed against the teachers. That is not the intent nor the theory under which the Members of the majority are going to vote for this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I cite for the gentleman the information that the garbage collectors struck in the City of Pittsburgh; the street cleaners struck in the City of Philadelphia; the municipal workers struck in McKeesport and the municipal workers struck in the City of Scranton.

Even if we were to accept the gentleman's argument, and even if we were to talk about the teachers generally, who suffers most when the teachers strike? All of the discussion on education in this House has been, "How about the teachers?" Let us here and now say that no public employes shall strike, and if we must take a specific instance, let us say that we are going to say that teachers won't strike because the ones who suffer in case of a strike are the kids in school who have a right to be taught.

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, part of the argument that Mr. Sorg has advanced has been answered by the Minority Leader, Mr. Andrews. I should like to point out and I would like to say, as I stated here before, that I might be willing to concede,—because every time we hear an argument on the floor of the House it is against the teachers individually and collectively, and I admit for the sake of argument that there is some merit to the gentleman's proposition, but I submit to you that when you impose upon any one individual the punitive measures which this act provides, then you are depriving them of a right which you have not seen fit to impose upon any other group of individuals by the labor legislation which has passed this House. How you can possibly conceive that this bill is directed to any other group of people is impossible for me to understand. I submit to you that when you get down to the basic principle which is here involved, if this act as amended by the Committee of Conference had provided for adequate and proper methods of mediation, and even if they had gone so far as to say that after the mediation machinery has been set up in this bill as now amended to provide that when mediation has been agreed upon, that the administrative bodies affected would be required to consider and adopt a report of that tripartite committee, then I would say you have taken a long step forward, but we will still have these definite punitive measures. And we would have nothing by way of mediation because no one under this act is required to accept anything.

I say to you that this act is most unreasonable and most unfair to a group of individuals of our state. They are important, they are educated, they are a group which very properly in the days that are ahead may seek the recourse to strike, if we may call it that. To say that there is nothing in this bill that makes it a punitive measure, and for me to go into a lengthy debate as to why the teachers very properly might decide that they no longer desire to be members of the teaching profession, there isn't anything you can do to more certainly drive them out of the profession than to pass this particular act, which would leave them no alternative but to submit to this measure.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I reiterate that the provisions for the grievance machinery for teachers as established by this Conference report on page 6, is grievance machinery which was suggested and requested by the generally accepted authorities of the teachers' organizations.

The gentleman criticises the provisions that has to do with only one employee. I submit there are many instances, if we are going to stay with the Department of Education, suppose a janitor does not want to open the school; he is the only one their is; let him call a strike or whatever it is. For failure to show up on this particular day he should be subject to the same provisions as if there were six janitors who failed to show up. The gentleman contends that the Members of this House are subscribing to principle here concerning public employes that they do not subscribe to concerning any other group. I suggest that there is a very good reason why the high cost of strikes in private industry will not be tolerated by the Members of this House, when there is an undue interference with their productive process. I do say that public employes are an entirely different group; they are employed by the public. They have a trust imposed in them by the public and for that reason only such a measure as this would apply to them.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say that the PSEA had endorsed this provision of this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that any particular organization endorsed this measure. I do ask that the Members of this House take my word when I say that an organization or several organizations did subscribe to the request and ask that this provision be inserted in the Conference Report. I mean they are the kind that are authoritative and I do not desire to mention any particular names.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the Majority Leader two questions.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as I read the conference report on House Bill 826, the panel set up for arbitration as it appears on page 5, lines 8 and 9, "Copies of this report shall be sent to the Governor and to the General Assembly." Now, suppose the General Assembly is not in session. Can the gentleman tell me what that means?

Mr. SORG. If I were to send a communication to the General Assembly when it is not in session, I would send it to its presiding officer, the Speaker of the House.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean to infer legally that when the General Assembly is not in session a communication to the Speaker is a communication to the General Assembly?

Mr. SORG. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Just one other question, Mr. Speaker. The Majority Leader a few minutes ago mentioned garbage collectors in the City of Pittsburgh. If I understand this bill, if they strike for one day and then they are re-appointed the next day, they are not entitled to any compensation under any circumstances for a period of three years, is that correct?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not correct. They are not entitled to increased compensation.

Mr. BROWN. That is what I said, Mr. Speaker, to any increased compensation for a period of three years.

Mr. SORG. The bill does contain such a provision, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, although the strike may last for six hours or sixty minutes?

Mr. SORG. If it is a strike, the penalty imposed in the bill is such as the gentleman states.

Mr. BROWN. I wish to thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I submit that this bill is not only ruthless according to the Majority Floor Leader, but it is absolutely barbarous, to say that if a person or a group of persons are on strike for sixty minutes and then are reappointed, that for a period of three years they can receive no increase in compensation whatsoever.

On page 5 it provides that the findings of the panel hearing shall be sent to the Governor. It does not say "Or to the General Assembly." It says, "To the Governor, to the General Assembly and to the head of the agency or political subdivision involved upon receipt of the findings of the panel."

I submit to the Majority Floor Leader that to comply with this law we would have to simply stay in session, because if we are not then in session, a communication sent to the Governor or to the head of the agency would not meet the requirements of this bill. However, the Majority Floor Leader says that the Speaker of the House, and I presume the President pro tempore of the Senate would constitute the General Assembly if the Assembly is not in session. But under the law when we adjourn sine die,—today I believe, there is no General Assembly in session in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania until the next General Assembly in the year 1949, or a special session is called by the Governor according to the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I cannot accept the gentleman's argument, particularly in view of the fact that no specific time is set forth for a communication to the General Assembly, and the provisions of this act can be fulfilled, if we cannot send a communication to the presiding officer, that communication can be sent to the General Assembly when it is in session.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 952

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 952, Printer's No. 956.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 952, entitled: "An act to further amend the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 1937 page 2897) entitled 'An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties,' by further defining employes ineligible to compensation by providing for increases in the duration of benefits by changing the manner in which compromises are to be made and by providing a prison sentence for individuals fraudulently claiming benefits' respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

WELDON B. HEYBURN,

JAMES S. BERGER,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 1937 page 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by further defining employes ineligible to compensation by providing for increases in the duration of benefits by changing the manner in which compromises are to be made and by providing a prison sentence for individuals fraudulently claiming benefits

Section 1 Section three hundred nine point one of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 1937 page 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 717) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 309.1 Compromises Where the department is satisfied (1) that the employer is unable to make payment in full of contributions interest and penalties imposed upon him by the law or that it would be inequitable to require the payment in full of delinquent interest and (2) that the employer has acted in good faith the secretary is hereby authorized [with the approval of the attorney general and under rules and regulations adopted therefor] to compromise delinquent interest and penalties due on any contribution and in the case of any employer that has been adjudged a bankrupt or for whom a receiver has been appointed to compromise the principal of any delinquent contribution as well as interest and penalties thereon provided that any compromise of a total delinquent amount in excess of one thousand dollars shall require the approval of the attorney general

Section 2 Sections four hundred two and four hundred four of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1145) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 402 Ineligibility for Compensation An employe shall be ineligible for compensation for any week

(a) In which his unemployment is due to failure without good cause either to apply for suitable work at such time and in such manner as the department may prescribe or to accept suitable work when offered to him by the employment office or by any employer Provided That such employer simultaneously notifies the employment office of such offer

(b) In which his unemployment is due to voluntarily leaving work without good cause Provided That no employe shall be deemed to be ineligible under this [section] subsection where as a condition of continuing in employment such employe would be required to join or remain a member of a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization or to accept wages hours or conditions of employment not desired by a majority of the employes in the establishment or the occupation or would be denied the right of collective bargaining under generally prevailing conditions [In] and that in determining whether or not an employe has left his work voluntarily without good cause the department shall give consideration to the same factors in so far as they are applicable provided with respect to the determination of suitable work under section four (t) and provided further that the provisions of this subsection shall not apply in the event of a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute within the meaning of subsection (d)

(c) with respect to which or a part of which he has received or is seeking unemployment benefits under an unemployment compensation law of any other state or of the United States Provided That if the appropriate agency of such other state or of the United States finally determines that he is not entitled to such unemployment benefits the disqualification shall not apply

[(d) In which his unemployment is due to a voluntary suspension of work resulting from an industrial dispute at the factory establishment or other premises at which he is or was last employed Provided That this disqualification shall apply only to any week of unemployment which in whole or in part includes any part of a period beginning with the day on which such suspension occurs and ending with (i) the last day of the fourth calendar week immediately following the calendar week in which such suspension occurs or (ii) the day on which such suspension was terminated whichever is the earlier]

(d) In which his unemployment is due to a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute at the factory establishment or other premises at which he is or was last employed Provided that this subsection shall not apply if it is shown that (1) he is not participating in or directly interested in the labor dispute which caused the stoppage of work and (2) he is not a member of an organization which is participating in or directly interested in the labor dispute which caused the stoppage of work and (3) he does not belong to a grade or class of workers of which immediately before the commencement of the stoppage there were members employed at the premises at which the stoppage occurs any of whom are participating in or directly interested in the dispute

(e) In which his unemployment is due to his discharge or temporary suspension from work for willful misconduct connected with his work and

(f) Which in whole or in part includes any part of the two-week period which immediately follows each period of employment under Shipping Articles

Section 404 Rate and amount of compensation Compensation shall be paid [with respect] to each eligible employee [whose benefit year begins prior to June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five in accordance with the provisions of this act prior to that date and with respect to each eligible employee whose benefit year begins subsequent to May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and forty-five] in accordance with the following provisions of this section

(a) The employee's weekly benefit rate shall be that rate which appears in "Part B" and which is one the same horizontal line in "Part A" as the interval which includes his "highest quarterly wage"

(b) The "highest quarterly wages" of an employee shall be the total wages (computed to the nearest dollar) which were paid to such employee in that calendar quarter in which such total wages were highest during the base year

(c) Each eligible employee who is totally unemployed with respect to any week ending subsequent to the sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five and prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six shall be paid with respect to such week compensation in an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate no payment shall be made for any week ending during such period unless the employee has been totally unemployed with respect to such week and has served one waiting week as required under section four hundred one (e) provided that with respect to such week the employee has been totally unemployed for purposes of this subsection an employee shall be deemed totally unemployed with respect to any week during which he performs no services and with respect to which no remuneration is paid or payable to him or to any week of less than fulltime work if the remuneration paid or payable to him with respect to such week does not exceed three dollars ($3.00)]

(d) Each eligible employee who is unemployed with respect to any week [ending the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six or thereafter] shall be paid with respect to such week compensation in an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate less that part of the remuneration if any paid or payable to him with respect to such week which is in excess of three dollars ($3.00) such compensation if not a multiple of one dollar ($1.00) shall be computed to the next higher multiple of one dollar ($1.00) provided that if at the end of any calendar quarter the balance in the unemployment trust fund to the credit of Pennsylvania is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months the maximum amount of compensation payable to any employee for a week of unemployment ending during the next calendar quarter shall not be in excess of eighteen dollars ($18)

(e) Any otherwise eligible employee shall be entitled during his benefit year to an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate multiplied by the number which appears at the top of a column under "Part C" to be ascertained by locating on the same horizontal line on which his weekly benefit rate appears the interval which includes the total wages paid to him during his base year provided that if at the end of any calendar quarter the balance in the unemployment trust fund to the credit of Pennsylvania is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months No employee shall be paid compensation with respect to weeks of unemployment ending during the next calendar quarter in an amount which together with any amounts previously paid with respect to the same benefit year would be in excess of sixteen times the employee's weekly benefit rate or two hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($288) whichever is the lesser and provided further that no employee shall be paid compensation in excess of twenty times his weekly benefit rate with respect to any benefit year which begins prior to the first day of October one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

(f) For the purposes of this section and of section four hundred one (a) Wages paid with respect to employment performed under shipping articles shall be considered as having been paid in the respective calendar quarters in which the services of the employee were being performed

Section 3 Section eight hundred one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 801 False statements and representations to obtain or increase compensation Whoever makes a false statement or representation knowing it to be false or knowingly fails to disclose a material fact to obtain or increase any compensation or other payment under this act either for himself or for any other person shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars [and in default of the payment of such fine and costs] or shall be sentenced to imprisonment for not longer than thirty days or both and each such false statement or representation or failure to disclose a material fact shall constitute a separate offense

Section 4 Except as otherwise specifically provided herein the amendments to sections three hundred nine point one four hundred two and eight hundred one shall become effective the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and the amendments to section four hundred four shall become effective the first day of October one thousand nine hundred forty-seven Any claim for compensation filed with respect to any week of unemployment ending on or after the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven shall be subject to the provisions of section four hundred two as amended by this act

On the question.

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to read the minority report as it was filed on this bill:

The minority members on the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 952 oppose the report of the Committee for the following reasons:

A. Because by the amendments made on page 7 this bill now is immanently unfair in that it pays benefits in times of labor disputes to non-union members while denying same benefits to Union members not directly interested in the dispute.

B. Because by the nature of the bill itself the philosophy behind the payment of Unemployment Compensation is one that considers benefits to be paid as strike benefits rather than Unemployment Compensation benefits.

C. Because in the opinion of the minority members this bill will shift from industry the responsibility and costs for the relief of distressed families of unemployed strikers to the Department of Public Assistance, thereby putting the costs directly upon the shoulders of the taxpayers.

D. Because this bill is a deliberate attack upon the entire structure of the American Labor movement. It is a part of a definite program to make impotent the force and bargaining powers of the American labor movement.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to debate this bill. I simply rise to say to the gentleman on the other side that you cannot possibly be any more weary of this debate than I am at this session, short and business-like as it has been.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to say on behalf of the conferees who signed this particular report that the amendments inserted by the conferees actually have for their design the removal of one of the principal objections that was made to the bill in its original form when it passed the House. That objection has to do particularly with the denial of unemployment compensation benefits to one who suspends work and is not a member of the organization that calls or subscribes to the particular strike involved. I also would like to ask the Members to support this measure because basically it is unfair to ask the government to subsidize strikes.

Mr. MAZZA. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. I do not know what is going to happen with all this legislation against the man who labors. Now we are going to rule out the compensation to a striker. I honestly feel that all we are doing is taking the burden away from the manufacturer, whether he is right or whether he is wrong. Suppose a man goes out on strike who has a large family. I want to know who is going to take care of his people when he is out on strike for any length of time? Is it going to be the burden of the state? Again I say that I oppose this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 195

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 195, Printer's No. 967.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 195, entitled: "An act prohibiting discrimination in rate of pay because of sex; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry and prescribing penalties,"

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

JAMES S. BERGER,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

JEANETTE M. DYE,

CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr.,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act prohibiting discrimination in rate of pay because of sex conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry and prescribing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Definitions (a) The term "employee" as used in this act shall mean any person employed for hire in any lawful business industry trade or profession or in any other lawful enterprise

(b) "Employer" includes any person natural or artificial acting directly or indirectly in the interest of any employer in relations with an employee to work

(c) "Employ" shall mean to engage suffer or permit

(d) "Occupation" shall mean any industry trade business profession or any other employment

(e) "Comparable work" shall mean work of comparable character or work on comparable operations

(f) "Secretary" shall mean Secretary of Labor and Industry

Section 2 Wage Rates No employer shall discriminate in any way in the payment of wages or salaries in any occupation as between the sexes or pay any female in his employ in any occupation salary or wage rates less than the rates paid to male employees for comparable work

Provided however that nothing herein contained shall prohibit a variation in salary or wage rates based upon either difference in seniority experience training skill or ability or difference in duties and services performed or difference in the shift or time of the day worked or any other reasonable differentiation except difference in sex

Section 3 Powers of Secretary (a) The secretary shall have the power and it shall be his duty to carry out and administer the provisions of this act

(b) For this purpose the secretary or his authorized representative shall have the power to enter the establishment of any employer to inspect and copy payrolls and other employment records to compare character of work and operations on which persons employed by him are engaged to question such persons and to obtain such other information as is reasonably necessary to the administration and enforcement of this act

(c) The secretary shall have the power to issue such administrative regulations consistent with the purpose and provisions of this act as he deems necessary for the efficient administration thereof

Section 4 Collection of Unpaid Wages (a) An employer who violates the provisions of section two of this act shall be liable to the employee or employees affected in the amount of their unpaid wages Action to recover such wages may be maintained in any court of competent jurisdiction by any one or more employees Any agreement between the employer and an employee to work for less than the wage to which such employee is entitled under this act shall be no defense to such action The court in such action shall in addition to any wages and damages allow a reasonable attorneys' fee and costs of the action to the plaintiff At the request of any employee paid less than the wage to which she is entitled under this act the Secretary of Labor and Industry may take an assignment of such wage claim for collection and shall bring any legal action necessary to collect such claim The secretary shall not be required to pay the filing fee or other costs in connection with such action

(b) Any action pursuant to the provisions of this act must be brought within three years from the date upon which the violation complained of occurs

(c) Any employee may directly or through his attorney agent or collective bargaining representative waive compromise adjust settle or release any claim which such employee may have under this act either before or after commencement of suit thereon and a waiver compromise adjustment settlement or release of any such claim by such employee or his attorney agent or collective bargaining representative shall be a complete satisfaction of such claim and a complete bar to any action based on such claim

Section 5 Records and Reporting Every employer subject to this act shall make keep and maintain such records of the wages and wage rates job classifications and other terms and conditions of employment of the persons employed by him and shall preserve such records for a period of four years and shall make such reports therefrom as the secretary shall prescribe

Section 6 Abstracts The Department of Labor and Industry shall prepare an abstract of the provisions of this act copies of the abstract shall be printed in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth regulating printing and publishing and the Department of Labor and Industry shall supply the same to all persons required to post them Employers subject to the provisions of this act shall be required to keep such abstract posted in a conspicuous place

Section 7 Penalties (a) Any employer who violates any provisions of this act or who discharges or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has made any complaint to her employer the secretary or any other person or instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding under or related to this act or has testified or is about to testify in any such proceedings shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200) or to undergo imprisonment for not less than thirty (30) days nor more than sixty (60) days or by both such fine and imprisonment Each day such a violation continues shall constitute a separate offense

(b) Any employer who fails to keep the records required under this act or to furnish such records to the secretary upon request or who falsifies such records or who hinders delays or otherwise interferes with the secretary or his authorized representatives in the performance of his duties in the enforcement of this act or refuses such official entry into any establishment which he is authorized by this act to inspect shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200) Each day such a violation continues shall constitute a separate offense

Section 8 Effective Date This act shall become effective six months after the date of its final enactment

On the question.

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in regard to the conference report on House Bill 195, I must admit that I got a little confused again. If you will recall a day or two ago we had a little dispute on the conference report on House Bill 195. Of course this is a new report that is now before you. In studying over the changes from the original report and this report I find that the only thing they do is to say the same thing with fewer words. That is the only difference between this report and the old one. They say exactly the same thing but they don't use as many words to say it.

I want to say to my good friend, Mrs. Dye, that I told her if the bill passed the House of Representatives, she would never see the bill again in that particular form, and I want to say to Mrs. Dye today that this bill is certainly not the bill, or this report does not make it the bill that Mrs. Dye had passed in the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Dye told me she was going to insist that we get this bill just as it left the House of Representatives. This bill is far from being like it was when it left the House of Representatives. Since this bill, House Bill No. 195 is a companion bill to House Bill No. 35, which the Governor returned, and as far as I know is still lying on his desk, waiting to get House Bill No. 195, I would say to Mrs. Dye and the membership of this House that they would be much better off if they defeated this bill and the Governor would let House Bill No. 35 lie on his desk, the women of Pennsylvania would be in much better shape than they are if we pass this bill and have the Governor sign House Bill 35.

If anybody thinks that they are kidding the people of Pennsylvania, that they are doing anything for the women and women workers of Pennsylvania when they pass this bill and House Bill 35, they are sadly mistaken. I say to you that honestly the only thing that remains in House Bill 195 is that you put your foot in the door and say to the women of Pennsylvania, "We are going to at some future date try to do something for you in regard to equal pay for equal work”.

I might say to my good friend, Mrs. Dye, of whom I have become very fond during this session, because she has been so fair in her dealings in this particular matter, that at this time I admit I feel sorry for Mrs. Dye if this is all that is left that she can give to the women of Pennsylvania. I say honestly to you that under House Bill 195 the women of Pennsylvania are not going to get any equal pay for equal work and I would ask the membership to vote against this report, hoping that House Bill 35 will remain on the desk and leave the law as it is today in Pennsylvania. I ask you to vote down House Bill No. 195.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to vote for the Conference Report on House Bill No. 195 because it does definitely prevent any inequality of pay by reason of a difference in sex.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, at the instigation of the women's organizations of this state to get equal pay for equal work this measure was drawn. This measure was introduced by the lady from Mercer. There was some difficulty with the bill in the House but eventually a fair bill was sent to the other chamber.

This bill was mutilated in the other chamber and there was a great indignation on the part of the sponsor. There was considerable indignation on the part of the various Members of the House who supported the House Bill. Those who were advocating the bill were determined to do something about it. The provisions that the Senate put in the bill were to be taken out. In some manner the bill comes before us in exactly the form that the Senate desired. The very organizations that sponsored this measure originally have sent telegrams to various persons in this chamber repudiating the measure in its present form. It does not meet the wishes of the women's organizations that campaigned for this bill. The cause of the women in behalf of equal work for equal pay has been sold down the river, and this bill is the betrayal.

It provides: "Nothing herein contained shall prohibit a variation in salary or wages placed upon either difference of skill, experience, training or ability or difference in duties and services performed or difference in the shift or time of the day worked or any other reasonable differentiation except difference in sex".

That is a wide open paragraph that enables an employer to write his own ticket, notwithstanding the preceding section, and if this is what this House wants to hand to the women's organizations in this state who campaigned so diligently for this bill, it is what this House wants to hand them.

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this bill and ask for its opposition by the entire House. We passed the original measure which had as its premise equal pay for equal work. This bill comes back to us from the Senate and I think I am safe in saying that the sponsor of the bill could not sincerely be in accord with those amendments, having at heart the welfare of the job opportunities and the good of the working girls of Pennsylvania who are denied opportunity at this time, when this bill leaves nine loopholes, leaves it arbitrarily to the employer to say to a girl who has just left High School and is learning to iron a shirt, "No, Miss Brown, you don't get the same money because we think you don't hold your neck right or you don't handle your flat-iron as good as John Smith". You even provide that determination of years of seniority, skill, training, experience and ability are left entirely to the judgment of the foreman or the employer. Now this bill does not give equal pay for equal work.

This bill leaves wide open the question in Pennsylvania of scuttling the minimum wage scale. Where manufacturers cannot meet out-of-the-state low wage scales we proceed to empower them to throw into sweatshop standards the women workers of Pennsylvania, and probably displace many men who are heads of families. Instead of the representatives of Pennsylvania acting nationally to raise that wage scale in the sister states, a nice concerted move is made to say, "Let them set the wages." They can find a dozen reasons to keep them that way. A girl walks into a restaurant, and this is her first job, and the employer says to her, "I can only give you forty cents an hour against that man's eighty cents because you don't have the seniority." Let us presume that she does the same thing and that she turns out the same amount of work and handles as many products, he may still say, "You don't have the seniority". I cannot reconcile the fact that she is ever going to have as much seniority because as he gets older on the job she still is ten years younger. This is another bill drawn up to scuttle the minimum wage scale, and I contend that it is not for equal work or equal pay or equal opportunity, and I ask this House to go back to its original vote on this bill, when by a vote of 202 to nothing you passed it and sent to to the Senate, when somebody concocted these beautiful amendments we have here to let an employer say, "I will pay you according to your skill. You don't hold your toe right while you are working, therefore I will give you fifty cents less." If you want sweatshop standards then I say vote for it. If you want to do something that is detrimental to what the women already have in the State of Pennsylvania, I say go ahead and vote for it. If it does not affect your particular district, please don't forget you are state-wide representatives obligated to advance the common weal.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 195 as it originally passed this House did not have certain words in it. I am here to say that these amendments do not make too much difference, and the reason it does not make too much difference is because when you just say equal work regardless of sex, and the employees seek to bring pressure or any action at all, the only way we can do it is by proper collective bargaining and possibly in the court, and in the event the claim is made that it was not equal work the question is asked "Why isn't it equal work?" The answer is "Difference in skill, difference in ability, difference in training." There are many reasons for such a defense. But we still have the definite prohibition against discrimination because of sex.

Here is the only measure, I believe, before this House that has to do with the specific matter of collective bargaining. Let me say here when we consider legislation that we cannot lose sight of the fact that collective bargaining has got to be given attention, and that we will stand here in this House to protect the collective bargaining process.

The gentleman from Cambria cites different degrees of seniority. What is the matter with varying the man's salary by giving him three weeks' vacation instead of one week's vacation because he has been there twenty-five years instead of five? What is the matter with different rates of pay because of difference in ability to work? What is the matter with giving a good man a little bit more than the one who doesn't perform such good work? So long as there is equal work and so long as the only difference and the only excuse that is being used for difference in pay is a matter of difference in sex this bill specifically prohibits it. It is the only one we have got before us and I am going to vote for it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I hope you listened attentively to the Majority Leader. The gentleman asked for equal pay for equal work. What does the gentleman present? He presents them with a lawsuit; if they cannot get their rights under this bill go into court. He says collective bargaining, knowing full well that we have passed legislation that undermines the very fundamentals of collective bargaining.

I say to you that the gentleman on the other side of the House who has said that this is not an equal pay for equal work bill, that it is a sweatshop bill, is absolutely right.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I do not like the idea of disagreeing with our Floor Leader, and it is very seldom that I do, but in this matter I must differ with the gentleman. I think the language of this bill is a subterfuge and delusion, and I think the bill constitutes a betrayal of the working women of Pennsylvania. If all the women workers of this state were organized it would not make a great deal of difference, but many of them are not organized and there is possibility in the very clever wording of this bill that there can be discrimination against these women workers. I think it will be a dark day for all of us if we adopt this report.

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, in rebuttal of the Majority Leader's statements, we have no quarrel with paying a good day's wages to a good man. We have no quarrel with giving an annual vacation to a good man. Our case here today is to give those things to a good woman, and this bill does not provide for it. The bill provides that they shall have access to the courts, and so if they have fifty dollars damages coming they can pay a lawyer at least thirty-five dollars and collect fifteen dollars for themselves. It is marvelous, and my colleague, Mr. Westcott sitting beside me said that that is what he and Homer Brown and all of these other gentlemen say. But I say to you gentlemen seriously that labor in this House is for this bill in its original form. We are anxious to get equal pay for equal work for women. This bill does not give it to the working women of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Goff.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOFF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether there are any provisions on the statute books that guarantee equal pay for equal work to both sexes?

Mr. GOFF. No, Mr. Speaker, I think that was the purpose of this bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman say that this bill absolutely prohibits such acts?

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, only as to sex.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I respectfully submit that this bill does provide that there shall not be a difference of pay by reason of difference in sex. It is the first bill we have to put on the statute books to accomplish that particular purpose. To say that the specific provisions of the bill do not call for that particular thing is to draw conclusions from matters not contained in this report.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, as this bill was originally drawn, in section 4 it read as follows: "Collection of unpaid wages: an employer who shall wilfully and knowingly violate the provisions of section 2 of this act shall be liable to the employee or employees affected in the amount of their unpaid wages and in addition an equal amount as liquidated damages." Now, as the bill reads, it says in Section 4: "An employer who violates the provisions of section two of this act shall be liable to the employee or employees affected in the amount of their unpaid wages."

The matter of damages has been stricken out of the bill. In other words, there is nothing to prevent an employer under this bill from paying less than the proper wages or rates that were originally intended by the bill. An employer could force under this section every female employee to go into court to try to collect the unpaid wages, and if the employee affected was successful in doing that, all the employer would need to do would be to pay the original amount of wages. The bill as it is now does not carry the original damage provisions that the original bill did. That is a very bad feature of this bill along with the many other bad features of the bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the Majority Floor Leader, who has always been very fair, that I do not feel that he is very fair in this particular bill. The only thing that stands out in my mind is that the lady herself is not satisfied with this bill, or at least she hasn't said so. I want to be fair, I don't want to make her say so, but I noticed that the lady voted for all these other labor bills that we felt were very unfair to labor as far as men and women workers were concerned, where they were in labor organizations, and I say to you that the women of Pennsylvania who are not in labor organizations, that you certainly are driving them into labor organizations, for you are not going to give them any rights under House Bill No. 195, and for any equal pay for equal work they will have to get it through the labor organizations. I can see no reason why we should pass House Bill 195 when we know that the Governor of Pennsylvania will not sign House Bill 35 without House Bill 195.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Evans, I should like to direct his attention to page 7 of the Conference Report, wherein they specifically provide that the employer who violates any provisions of this act shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than 50 dollars and not more than 200 dollars, or to undergo imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than 60 days. I submit that is a reasonable meaning by this measure that the employer shall be penalized.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, the question I would like to ask is under the provisions of this bill where it defines an employer, what good is that going to do to an employee? He is not going to get anything out of it. I wonder if the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, has ever gone to court on any of these cases? I wonder if he knows how long these cases are dragged out in court? Sometimes they go on for years. We had a case before the Superior Court of Pennsylvania for four years. We had cases on different occasions affecting different workers and we had to take them to the Superior Court and we have been waiting for four years to get the matter finally settled. The same thing could happen under this bill, and for no other reason, this bill should be defeated.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I fear that there has been a misrepresentation as to the meaning of this bill. I know that the gentleman from Westmoreland made a misstatement, unintentionally, of course, when he seems to think that we are driving people into labor organizations. We do not want to drive anybody into anything, but the very conduct of the affairs of this House on the matters before it should certainly convince us that we do not care who joins labor organizations, and we recommend the field of collective bargaining.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a statement. For the benefit of my very good friend, Mr. Lovett. I would like to say that there has been a bill in this Legislature for about the last five terms, equal pay for equal work, and that there has never been a bill which came out of Committee before. After this second conference report was printed today I talked with the State President of the Business and Professional Women, and she told me over the telephone that they were very well pleased with this bill.

I want to say further to my good friend, Mr. Lovett, that I am very well satisfied with this bill as it came from the second conference committee also.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say to the Majority Leader that in his remarks about labor unions he said that they do not object to people joining labor unions, in fact they would like to have them join labor unions. Then I say to him why did you pass the legislation that we passed today curbing labor unions in the State of Pennsylvania? That does not make sense to me.

To my very warm friend, Mrs. Dye, on the other side, I know that the lady has had a change of heart since the original bill passed this House, if she now says to this House that she is perfectly satisfied with this bill. She sure has had a change of heart, because this bill is not like it was when the lady had it passed and sent to the Senate. The engineers, the legislative engineers have worked out on this and some of them are sitting in the hall of the House at this particular time. They came in with their pencils and they fixed this measure the way they wanted it. Now, if Mrs. Dye agrees with them, it is okay with me. I still think that the membership of this House should not pass this legislation because if we do not, House Bill 35 will never become a law, I don't think. Therefore, I think we should defeat House Bill 195.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I don't know why we cannot take a measure and not ascribe motives to it, or authorship, but discuss it on its merits. I believe that is the way legislation should be adopted. I believe that is the way we intended to adopt the measure, that says, there shall be equal pay for equal work.

Mr. Speaker, unless you attempt to find out whether a bill has merit, whether it meets with the tested interest that the public may or may not have, it makes no difference where it comes from or who sponsors it. If it is a fair measure I think we all ought to be for it.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the Members of this House that I as the sponsor of this bill am satisfied with it, and that the original sponsors of this bill, the people who were interested in having such legislation introduced and passed, are satisfied with this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Mercer permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker. I know this will be the source of great amusement to this House, you are looking at a woman who is speechless. I yield to the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COLE. I do not desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader. I just wanted to ask one question, if the lady will answer. The question I wanted to ask her was whether or not she got an endorsement from any of the women's organizations of this state as it came out of the Conference Committee.

I would like to make this statement which I believe to be a true statement, or I would not make it; I believe there was a deal made in the first place to put across House Bill 35. Then House Bill 195 was introduced primarily to give women in industry a square deal. Now it looks to me like we are going to emasculate 195 and throw the door wide open for sweatshop conditions in Pennsylvania. It is my honest conviction and I believe that we should vote against this bill 195, and I really think according to what the Governor has said that he won't sign 35 until we get rid of both of them.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, there is one question I would like to ask all the Members of the House. Who wants this bill? The women who actually do the work or those that are elsewhere?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer that question which the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Erb, asked. I was approached over the weekend. I left here Saturday night and came back last night. I was approached by several of the women from our local industry and they definitely wanted me to do all I could to see that 195 became law.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman who just spoke if he meant the original bill or the Conference Committee bill. I just took occasion at my home this morning to talk to several of the workers in industry. They do not want it as it is.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I told them that this bill had been amended and it was now in the Conference Committee, and that undoubtedly there would be some restrictions that maybe they didn't know about. They said that they felt that 195, even if it were to be amended some or a lot, would still be something better than they had now.

Mr. BENDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Mercer permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. DYE. No, I shall not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENDER. Mr. Speaker, since the lady does not wish to answer a simple question, I would like to ask the entire House if this bill, House Bill 195 were to be applied to the lady Members of the House of Representatives, simply because the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye, is only serving a second term in the House of Representatives, and we know that we have people here who are four-or five-or six-termers—the people of her district might say to her, "Sorry, Mrs. Dye, as capable and as able as you are, we cannot pay you the same salary that the rest of the Members of the House receive." Would she then say that this bill is a good bill?

I come from a strictly labor district, and in my time in Harrisburg I haven't received a single piece of mail urging me to vote for House Bill 35 nor House Bill 195 as it is now. I had the honor and pleasure of voting for House Bill 195 as it was in its original form but I will not and cannot conscientiously cast my vote for it as it is now.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I just cannot help pointing to the error of the example that the gentleman gave. The bill is not intended to authorize anything. It is intended to prohibit any discrimination, which does not exist in the case of the gentleman's example.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Chudoff and Yetzer.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Turner and Mr. Cooper came to me and said that they had an appointment with the Senate; that they would stay here, if necessary, if we insisted upon verifying the roll, and I told Mr. Cooper and Mr. Turner that in order to expedite the business of the House, and to get the Conference Committee report acted upon, that it would be unnecessary for them to stay in order to be counted on this roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Upon failure of any person convicted of a first offense to immediately pay the fine imposed and costs of prosecution he shall be imprisoned one day for each dollar of fine imposed and costs of prosecution

Any person convicted of a second or subsequent offense shall be liable to the fines above provided and costs of prosecution and in addition thereto shall in the discretion of the court suffer imprisonment one day for each dollar of fine imposed

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill 454 relates principally to the increase of the hunting license fees. I think the Members of the House are entitled to a history of this bill.

The bill when it was originally introduced carried a split license fee, a fee of two dollars and ten cents for small game, one dollar and ten cents for large game, or a combined license fee of three dollars and ten cents. The split license fee because of certain reasons was dropped, and the bill was reported for a flat fee of three dollars and ten cents.

At that point another Member of this House and myself tried to justify such increase in the license fee for a hunting license. We made every effort possible to get information as to what this increased license fee was to be used for. At that time there was better than two and a half million dollars in the game fund. The Game Commission ended the fiscal year on the 30th day of May of this year with better than two million dollars in the fund unexpended. They have given us no projected program as to what they propose to do with that, together with the additional one and a half million dollars which they will receive in connection with this increased license fee. Last year there were eight hundred and eighty thousand hunting licenses issued in the State of Pennsylvania, which means, with a fifty cent increase almost an additional half million dollars. We did, however, in the course of our investigation learn that the Game Commission proposed to introduce a bill at this session of the General Assembly authorizing the Game Commission to expend the sum of one hundred thousand dollars for the purchase of a piece of property within the city limits of Harrisburg, and later upon the same piece of property they proposed to erect a granite monument in the nature of a Game Commission building.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not talking on the bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am talking directly on the bill. It will tie in with the bill also as I go on with my argument.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I insist that the gentleman is not discussing the merits of House Bill 454.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have the floor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was not following the remarks of the gentleman but the Chair would suggest that his remarks be confined to the question of adopting the Conference report.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Elder.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ELDER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lycoming please state whether or not it was proposed to introduce a bill at this session of the General Assembly for the purpose of purchasing a piece of property in the City of Harrisburg, and that bill carried with it an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars?

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, the question is not in line with the increased costs in the license fee carried in this bill 454. Therefore, I have no knowledge of such a bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman deny that such a bill was proposed?

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, the question was brought up in the Committee on Game and Forestry. I denied knowledge then and I deny it now.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I happen to have interviewed, for the information of the gentleman, the present Secretary of the Game Commission, and he admitted to me as well as to Mr. Watkins, a Member of this House, that such was the case.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I have no knowledge of such being the case.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Lycoming, but I happen to have personal knowledge of such a situation.

What I am getting at is that I have been seeking justification for the increased hunting license fee when they had two million dollars in the treasury and have given us no projected program. We have had all kinds of dreams and schemes, everything else except to protect game and to stock and propagate game, and until such time as the Game Commission can lay before the Members of this House a program justifying the increase in the hunting license fee, I say to you there is no justification for permitting such an increase. If they cannot give us a better program than wanting to build in the City of Harrisburg a big granite monument, I say to you instead of putting that money into that building, there is no justification in giving the Game Commission this increased money to play around with.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cameron if he knows what the present hunting license fee in the State of Maryland is?

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not. I am not talking about the State of Maryland.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman the same question in regard to the State of New Jersey?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I don't know, Mr. Speaker. I am talking about the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me if he knows what the present license fee is in the State of New York.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do not, Mr. Speaker. I am still talking about the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman about the State of Virginia?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I don't know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ELDER. That is all.

Mr. Speaker, I say to you that I can furnish facts when I say that the State of Pennsylvania, with the position that it maintains among the forty-eight states of the Union is entitled to a fifty per cent increase. I think that the Game Commission has done a good job and will continue to do so. To enable them to do a good job let us give them the increase; let us sustain the conference report.

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, in this particular bill the sportsmen here in Pennsylvania are being asked to pay approximately eight hundred thousand dollars more during the next biennium. We are told that the State Game Commission has a wonderful program in mind, that it is very broad. It is a program that is going to dissipate all the criticism that we now hear against the State Game Commission. That is about all we hear about this program except that they do want this increase in the license fee.

I would like to tell the Members of this House that the State Game Commission has approximately two million dollars in their treasury. Surely the State Game Commission must realize the tremendous amount of criticism that has been levelled against that Commission by the sportsmen here in Pennsylvania. If the Game Commission feels that this plan which they have is so wonderful, and if they realize, and they must know of this criticism, don't you feel it would be fair for the Game Commission to show their sincerity to the sportsmen by taking the eight hundred thousand dollars out of that two million dollar surplus and prove to the sportsmen that they do mean business and are sincere in their efforts. I am confident that if the Game Commission would do this they could come back to this Legislature two years from now and the Members of the General Assembly would be only too happy to give the Game Commission an increase, but to give them this increase now when all this criticism is being levelled against the Commission would be only adding fuel to the fire.

I hope that the Members of this Legislature will refuse to go along with this conference report, and I ask that the Members vote "no", and also respectfully request that the clerks only count the votes of those Members who answer to their names.

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, I have heard several figures here as to what the balance is. The real balance is one million five hundred thousand dollars. We all know that the price on everything has gone up. If you do not have any faith in your Game Commission I say you had better get a new Commission. If you cannot have any faith in your officials, what is the use of having them? We went down, asked for and got the full details of the fifty cent increase. The cost for the next biennium is supposed to be eight hundred thousand dollars without any increase, and they have one million five hundred thousand dollars. Figure it out for yourselves. The sportsmen that I talked to are in favor of this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the last speaker made the remark, if you don't have faith in your officials, in the members of your Commission, why not get a new Game Commission? I don't know but what that might be a good idea. I don't know of what date the gentleman gets his figures, but the figures released by the Game Commission as of January 1st of this year showed a balance of over three million dollars. Their budgetary report indicated that they would wind up with two and a quarter million dollars by May 30th of this year. I talked with the Executive Director some time in March or April of this year, and he expected to wind up at that time with three million dollars in the treasury. What has happened to the two million and a quarter dollars in the meantime?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, as a member of this conference committee, I would like to make a brief statement. When I signed the report I signed it with the understanding in the committee that I was not in agreement with all the provisions of this particular bill. That statement still stands tonight.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I represent some of the sportsmens' organizations in the State of Pennsylvania, nine of them in one organization. I want to say that my organization is heartily in accord with this increase. I have made a thorough study of this bill and I believe that every Member of this House should vote for this increase and not in any way jeopardize the interests of the sportsmen of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, the report that I got was last Wednesday. That is when I got those figures.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I just want to raise my voice to assist in the defeat of this bill.

MR. BRUNNER IN THE CHAIR.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

summon and interrogate the candidates named therein or the persons presenting said petitions certificates or papers and his or their retention of same for the purpose of making such examination or interrogation shall not be construed as an acceptance or filing

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state we are opposed to this conference report.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House concur in the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill 218.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state the ground for his abhorrence for the word "genuine" in relation to signatures in election petitions? What is there obnoxious about the word "genuine?"

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe there is anything particularly obnoxious, but the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Board of Elections who are considered experts are by this bill given the privilege of checking any signatures that they do not deem to be genuine signatures.

Mr. ANDREWS. But, Mr. Speaker, when they know that the signatures are not genuine, when the falsity of the petition is apparent on its face, this bill places no obligation upon them to scrutinize the document still further, even when it is fraudulent on its face.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, when they know it is fraudulent on its face they have the privilege of striking out the signature.

Mr. ANDREWS. They have the privilege but is there any compulsion?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would say yes, Mr. Speaker. The election board has a right to take it to court and have it stricken out.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman. This bill is a bill drawn for the purpose of validating fraudulent petitions containing fraudulent names upon them which are self-evident from an examination of the document.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, there have been many bills affecting the election code of Pennsylvania introduced into this General Assembly. I think those bills we have passed have made the election laws stronger and are a credit to the Commonwealth. Whenever a bill was introduced that would weaken the election laws it was promptly killed, and this is one bill that will positively weaken the election laws. This allows a county board of elections to close its eyes to petitions that are forged, if they care to do so, and allow it to open its eyes to those that they want to really throw out. I think this will clearly weaken the election code of Pennsylvania and I think that every Member of the House should vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1286 DISCHARGED

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1286, Printer's No. 892, entitled:

An Act validating certain conveyances of real property and certain agreements concerning real property made by a county home or by the directors of the poor having failed to agree, I move that the Committee be discharged.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its nonconcurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate, and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1286

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. COOPER, TURNER and BANE.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 306, entitled:

An Act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 615, entitled:

An Act making provisions for community property law providing that the act shall apply to husbands and wives and their property subsequent to the effective date of the act defining separate property and the community property of the husband and wife providing for the management control and disposition thereof including the homestead defining the ownership of funds on deposit in any bank or banking institution providing for the rights and remedies of creditors providing that either spouse may give or convey his or her community property to the other providing for disposition of community property on dissolution of marriage providing for the substitution of one spouse under certain conditions for the other through legal proceedings in the management control and disposition of community property providing for the administration and distribution of the interests of a deceased spouse in community property

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend the title, page 1, line 5 by striking out as the end of the line after the word "thereof" the words: [including the]

Amend the title, page 1, line 6 by striking out at the beginning of the line before the word "defining" the word: [homestead]

The Clerk proceeded to read the amendments to section 10.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, is the Clerk reading the amendments to all the sections. I want it known that when you reach Section 10 because I propose to withdraw the amendment presented to that Section.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the gentleman desires—

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am interested and the Speaker is interested in what the Majority Leader is trying to do.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am taking out of Senate Bill 615 some western law which does not apply in the State of Pennsylvania, and I am also correcting some technical errors.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the Majority Leader really serious when he says that the result of the legal conference this afternoon with regard to some of the diverse provisions in this bill have come to naught, and that he is striking out of this bill the message that was brought to us earlier in the day from the Attorney General's Department, and now taking out of the bill, leaving the divorce clause as it was?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, for the very reason that the gentleman states I would say that the conference of legal talent accomplished something, the withdrawal of that particular amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, might I inquire from what source the amendments that went in and are now stricken emanated?

Mr. SORG. My name, Mr. Speaker, happens to be on the amendment, and I happened to be the individual who signed the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is a lawyer's answer, and he knows it isn't so.

The SPEAKER. That is the Speaker's lawyer. Does the Chair understand correctly before putting the question on the amendment submitted by the gentleman from Elk that we are now amending Section 11?

Mr. SORG. All but Section 10, Mr. Speaker. I withdraw the amendments to section 10.

The Clerk continued to read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 11, page 7, line 4 by striking out at the end of the line after the words "court of" the words: [quarter sessions] and inserting in lieu thereof the words: "common pleas."

Amend Section 12, page 7, line 17 by striking out the words: [other civil actions] and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "actions of assumpsit or in such other manner as may directed by the court."

Amend Section 14, page 8, line 7 by striking out after the words "office of the" and before the words "of the" the words: [clerk of the court] and inserting in lieu thereof the words: prothonotary of the court of common pleas.

Amend Section 15, page 8, line 18 by striking out after the word "except" and before the word "exempt" the words: "[the homestead and]."

Amend Section 15, page 9, line 8 by striking out at the end of the line after the word "common" the words: "[And provided]."

Amend Section 15, page 9 by striking out lines 9, 10 and 11 both inclusive.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, for taking out part of the amendments. I hope that as the night goes on he will not only take out the rest of the amendments but will take out the bill.

I would like to ask the gentleman whether he would prefer that the bill as it will probably stand after the amendments are inserted which he has asked for, should be debated now, or later on final passage? I am not quite so sure as to the procedure on amending the bill on third reading at this particular time, whether we will have another legislative day, at which time the bill will then be on final passage, or whether there is some way that the bill can be amended and still be voted upon tonight on third reading.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, there is only one thing that stands in the way of a vote on this particular bill as amended, if the amendments are allowed at the present time, and that is because the bill is not in print as amended. I would therefore suggest that on the same day that the amendments are offered on the third reading the bill can come to final passage after being printed.

I would suggest to the gentleman, however, in reply to his inquiry, whether or not the bill should be debated at the present time, I would prefer that when it is brought before the House for final vote that it be debated at that time. I am sure that the gentleman would probably prefer that too.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, do I clearly understand the Majority Floor Leader, that his position is, that this bill House Bill 615 can be amended on third reading and can be voted upon before it is printed with the amendments by unanimous consent of this House. That is what the gentleman said, is it not?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, I did not mean to make that representation. Under the Constitution the bill must be printed for the use of the Members before it is finally voted upon, but I did mean to say, Mr. Speaker, that it can be voted upon on the same legislative day on which it is amended.

The SPEAKER. To further clarify the matter, the bill cannot be voted upon until it is reprinted with a new Printer's number, and on the Members' desks as amended.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, then do I understand that the bill will be reprinted immediately?

The SPEAKER. That is correct, with a new Printer's number, and it must appear on the Members' desks before it can be voted upon finally.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, to facilitate matters in the House, I shall not discuss the amendments at this time.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, has the Clerk read the amendments?

The SPEAKER. Yes, he has.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing

Agreeably to order,

The first assistant district attorney shall receive a salary of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) per annum and the second assistant district attorney shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars ($2000) per annum.

The salary board of any county of the third class in case of an emergency or on account of increased business or unusual circumstances or conditions may authorize the district attorney to appoint such additional assistant district attorneys as may be approved by the court. Provided however That the salary of said appointees shall not exceed the minimum salary provided for assistants in the respective offices.

Section 10 Section two hundred fifty-eight of said act as amended by the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 401) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 258 Clerks in Counties Third Class Indictment and Cost Clerk in Counties of the Fourth Class Compensation. The salary board in all counties of the third class shall have authority to provide for the appointment by the district attorney of such clerks and stenographers in the office of the district attorney as may be deemed necessary for the proper dispatch of business and at such salaries as the salary board may fix. The district attorney of any county of the fourth class in addition to the assistants hereinbefore authorized may appoint an assistant learned in the law who shall be designated as indictment and cost clerk to assist the district attorney in the discharge of his duties. Such appointee shall hold office during the term of office of the district attorney appointing him but the district attorney may remove such appointees for any cause he deems sufficient and appoint another person duly qualified to fill the vacancy. Such indictment clerk shall receive [the salary of twelve hundred dollars ($1200) per annum] a salary to be fixed by the salary board.

Section 11 Section two hundred fifty-nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 259 Special Assistants. The district attorney of any county of the seventh and eighth classes may with the approval of the [president judge of the court of quarter sessions or the] salary board [as may be provided by law] appoint an assistant attorney learned in the law to aid in the preparation and trial of any indictment for homicide or murder on behalf of the Commonwealth. Such assistant shall receive such compensation [not exceeding four hundred dollars as may be approved and recommended by the judge presiding at the trial] as may be fixed by the salary board.

Section 12 Section two hundred sixty-two of said act as last amended by the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2619) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 262 Stenographers in Fourth Fifth Sixth Seventh and Eighth Class Counties. In counties of the fourth and fifth classes the district attorney may employ a stenographer or stenographers whose [combined annual salaries in any one of said counties shall not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500). Such] salaries shall be fixed by the [district attorney] salary board.

In counties of the sixth class the district attorney may employ a stenographer as an assistant in his office at a salary [of not less than seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) nor more than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1500) a year. Said salary] to be fixed by the salary board of the county.

In counties of the eighth class the district attorney may with the consent of the county commissioners employ a stenographer as an assistant in his office at a salary [not to exceed seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750.00) per year] to be fixed by the salary board.

In counties of the seventh class the district attorney may employ a stenographer as an assistant in his office at a salary [of not less than five hundred dollars and not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1000) a year] to be fixed by the [county commissioners] salary board.

[The salaries of said stenographers shall be paid by the respective counties in the same manner as other county employees are paid].

Section 13 Section two hundred seventy-seven of said act as amended by the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 401) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 277 In Counties of the Third and Fourth Classes. In counties of the third class the district attorney may appoint one chief county detective and five assistant county detectives.

The chief county detective shall receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars ($3000) and the five assistant county detectives shall receive annual salaries of two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600) each.

In counties of the fourth class the district attorney shall have power to appoint one chief county detective [at an annual salary of three thousand dollars ($3000)] one assistant chief county detective at an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) and two special county detectives [at annual salaries of two thousand dollars ($200) each] each such detective shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the salary board.

The salary board of any county of the third class in case of an emergency or on account of increased business or unusual circumstances or conditions may authorize the district attorney to appoint such additional detectives as may be approved by court. Provided however That the salary of said appointees shall not exceed the minimum salaries provided for detectives in counties of the third class].

The salaries and expenses of such detectives in the respective counties shall be paid by the county in the usual manner.

Such county detectives shall hold their positions during the term of the district attorney appointing them and shall be removable at his discretion. They shall have possess and exercise all of the rights and powers conferred by existing law upon constables so far as such laws relate to crimes and criminal procedure and shall when requested by the district attorney make an investigation and endeavor to obtain such evidence as may be required in any criminal case. They shall also perform such other duties as the district attorney may direct. Such county detectives shall be allowed their expenses actually and necessarily incurred in performance of their duties.

Section 14 Section two hundred seventy-eight of said act as last amended by act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 441) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 278 In Counties of the Fifth Class. In counties of the fifth class the district attorney with the approval of the [court of quarter sessions] salary board may appoint one chief county detective and one assistant county detective.

The [court of quarter sessions] salary board shall fix the compensation of the county detectives [and shall direct the clerk of said court to certify the same to the county commissioners who shall draw their warrants on the treasurer in favor of said detectives for the amount so certified].

Such county detectives shall hold their positions during the term of the district attorney appointing them and shall be removable at his discretion. They shall have possess and exercise all the rights and powers conferred by law upon constables in so far as such law or laws relate to crimes and criminal procedure and shall when requested by the district attorney make an investigation and endeavor to obtain such evidence as may be required in any criminal case. They shall also perform such other duties as the district attorney may direct.

Such county detectives shall be allowed their expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties.

Section 15 Section two hundred seventy-nine of said act as amended by the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 401) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 279 In Counties of the Seventh and Eighth Classes. The district attorney of counties of the seventh and eighth classes may with the approval of the [president judge of the courts] salary board employ one detective for the investigation of any crimes committed within such county. The compensation of such detective shall be fixed by the [district attorney with the approval of the presiding judge of the court] salary board and shall be paid from the county treasury in the usual manner.

Section 16 Section two hundred eighty of said act as last amended by the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 441) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 280 In Counties of Sixth Class. In all counties of the sixth class the district attorney shall have power to appoint with the approval of the [president judge of the court of common pleas] salary board of such county one county detective at an annual salary [not to exceed four thousand dollars ($4000)] to be fixed by the salary board [in counties where there is a salary board and in other counties by the district attorney with the approval of the president judge of said court] Such detective shall also receive his actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of his duties. The salary and expenses of such detective shall be paid out of the county treasury in the usual manner.

The county detective herein provided for shall hold his position during the term of the district attorney appointing him and shall be removable at his pleasure. He shall have possess and exercise all the rights and powers conferred by existing laws upon constables so far as such laws relate to crimes and criminal procedure and shall when requested by the district attorney make an investigation and endeavor to obtain such evidence as may be required in any criminal case. He shall also perform such other duties as the district attorney may direct. Provided however That nothing herein contained shall prevent the employment of one or more detectives for special purposes as now provided by law.

Section 17 Section two hundred eighty-one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 281 Appointment of Special Detective with Approval of Court The district attorney [of any county] in counties of the second and third class may with the approval of the court of quarter sessions whenever said court and district attorney may deem it necessary and in all other counties with the approval of the salary board whenever the court of quarter sessions and the district attorney may deem it necessary appoint an officer as a special detective whose duty it shall be to assist in obtaining such evidence as shall be directed by the district attorney for the Commonwealth in all criminal cases and perform such other duties as the court may direct. The compensation of such special detective shall be fixed by the [president judge of the court of quarter sessions or] the salary board [as the case may be].

Such special detective officer shall be a general police officer and shall have all the powers that are conferred on constables by the existing laws of this Commonwealth so far as they relate to crimes or criminal procedure.

Section 18 Section two hundred ninety-five of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 953) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 295 Clerk Except as hereinafter provided the jury commissioners are hereby authorized to appoint a clerk and fix his compensation with the consent and approval of the salary board [if there be such a board or if not then of the county commissioners for his employment with said jury commissioners in the preparation and in filling the jury wheel or in drawing jurors but in no case shall the compensation of such clerk in counties of the sixth class exceed the amount received by any jury commissioner from such county for the same period of time]. Said appointment of a clerk shall be made within thirty days after the jury commissioners qualify for office and if the jury commissioners shall fail to make such appointment within said time or shall thereafter for a period of thirty days fail to fill any vacancy in said position the county commissioners shall appoint a clerk for them. The compensation of said clerk shall be fixed by the salary board [or the commissioners as the case may be]. In counties of the third class the clerk of the jury commissioners shall be appointed and his compensation fixed by the court of common pleas.

Section 19 Subdivision (o) of article three of said act section three hundred one thereof as amended by the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 401) is hereby amended to read as follows

(o) Compensation Salaries Fees Salary Boards

Section 301 Salaries and Compensation The salaries and compensation of county officers shall be as now or hereafter fixed by law. The salaries and compensation of all appointed officers clerks stenographers and employes who are paid from the county treasury in counties of the second and third class shall be as fixed by this act or as may be fixed by the salary board created by law for such purposes in all other counties the salaries and compensation of all appointed officers clerks stenographers and employes who are paid from the county treasury shall be fixed by the salary board created by this act.

Section 302 Fees All county officers shall continue to charge and collect the fees mileage and emoluments of office for their own use or for the use of the county as is now or may hereafter be provided by law and where required by law such fees mileage and emoluments shall be paid to the county treasurer as and when required.

Section 303 Salary Boards Created There is hereby created in each county except counties of the second and third class a salary board which shall consist of the three county commissioners the county controller in counties where there is a controller or the county treasurer in counties where there is no controller. The chairman of the board of county commissioners shall be chairman of the salary board. The board shall meet and organize on the effective date of this act and on the first Monday of January of each year thereafter.

In counties of the second and third class the salary board as provided by law shall continue to exercise the powers and duties conferred upon it and the salaries and compensation of all officers and employes shall be as prescribed by law or as fixed by such salary board as the case may be.

Section 304 Number and Compensation of Officers Deputies Assistants Clerks and Employes At its first meeting on the effective date of this act the board shall subject to limitations imposed by existing law fix the compensation of all appointed county officers and the number and compensation of all deputies assistants clerks and other persons whose compensation is paid out of the county treasury (except employes of county officers who are paid by fees and not by salary) and of all court criers tipstaves and other court employes and of all officers clerks stenographers and employes appointed by the judges of any court and who are paid from the county treasury. Thereupon the number and compensation of all such officers deputies assistants clerks and persons whether fixed by statute or by any other method are hereby repealed. In the event that any salary board shall fail to fix the number or compensation of any such officers deputies assistants clerks or other employes as required by this section the number and compensation shall continue as fixed by or pursuant to law on the effective date of this act with like effect as though the same had been so fixed by the board.

Section 305 Revisions of Salary Schedules At each annual meeting the board shall revise the salary schedule so far as it shall deem such action necessary. From time to time between annual meetings whenever required by any judge county officer or executive head of any separate board commission or division the number of compensation of whose deputies assistants clerks and employes is sought to be fixed the board shall meet and consider and shall fix and determine the same. All salaries fixed under the provisions of this act shall be paid out of the county treasury in the manner provided by law.

Section 306 Procedure and Action of Board (a) Whenever the board shall consider the number of salaries of the deputies assistants clerks or other employes of any county officer or agency such officer or the executive head of such agency shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting his office or agency is under consideration and no longer.

(b) Whenever the board shall consider the number or salaries of the court criers or tipstaves or other court employes the president judge of the court shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting the court criers tipstaves or employes of his court is under consideration and no longer.

(c) Whenever the board shall consider the number or salaries of the officers clerks stenographers or employes appointed by any judge of any court such judge shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting any of his appointees is under consideration and no longer

(d) The decision of a majority shall govern Each board shall keep a correct minute book of its proceedings in all cases heard and determined by it Such minute book shall be a public record

Section 307 Appeals If after any decision is made any officer or executive head or any judge of any court is of the opinion that the number of his deputies assistants clerks or other employes is too few or the compensation provided for any of them is too low he may appeal from the action of the board to the court of common pleas of the county which shall hear and determine such appeal as promptly as possible The decision of the court shall be final

Section 20 The following acts and parts of acts and their amendments are hereby repealed as indicated in so far as they relate to counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 507, as follows:

An Act abolishing all existing county salary boards in counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class and providing for the transfer of their books records and property

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The salary board of each county of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class having a salary board for any purpose is hereby abolished. Each such existing salary board shall on the effective date of this act transfer all of its books records minutes papers property and equipment to the salary board created in the county by amendment to the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) known as "The General County Law"

Section 2 The following acts and parts of acts and their amendments are hereby repealed as indicated in so far as they apply to counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the House has just passed what is probably in principle about the worst piece of legislation that has weathered the gale in this chamber. Of course, Senate Bill 507 is a companion bill to 506.

Under the set-up that we are furthering, in a county where you happen to have the row officers who are Democrats and the judges are Republicans, and you have a District Attorney who is Republican and the rest of the row officers are Democrats, the Democrats could tell the District Attorney how many assistants he could have and what he could pay them, and they can tell your Republican judge how many tipstaves he can have and what he could pay them. As we expect, here and there you will have Republican judges in this state, and we will gradually work into control of the row offices. We say take this bad piece of legislation, and the day will come when we will have our day in court.

Mr. RAGOT. Mr. Speaker, during this session of the Legislature we have passed salary bills for all the county officers, and salary bills for the judges. There are some of the court officers whose salaries we did not raise. The court criers and tipstaves are two that I may mention. Also at the last session of the Legislature they passed a bill giving a temporary increase to these officers. This temporary increase expires the first of January. Now, we are asked to vote on these two companion bills. It is the only way in which this sort of forgotten man can be taken care of; it is the only way left to us now with the time remaining for this session of the Legislature to do the right thing by these people. We raised everybody else's salaries. We should not cut these fellows' salaries.

Mr. Speaker, as I understand this bill, the court officers will be turned over to the salary board instead of to the Legislature. They will be the ones who will decide what the salaries shall be. I believe that both of these are very good bills and should be passed.

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, I had no intention to get up and debate this bill, but I agree with the Minority Leader and disagree with the gentleman who just debated the bill.

I admit that the court criers and the tipstaves haven't gotten a raise. A bill was introduced in the House for the purpose of equalizing the salaries. If you think that the salary board bill is going to accomplish that I might only suggest to you that in my own county where during the period of the existence of the temporary increase in salaries the tipstaves, they all didn't get the advantage of the fifty dollar increase under the act because we had dissension between the Republican commissioners and the Democratic judges. Now, we find ourselves going back to the identical situation. I do not believe the court criers and the tipstaves in my county are going to get any increase under this bill. I certainly do not think that this House is going to accomplish it under this act.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has given us a somewhat naive interpretation of this bill. He is talking about tipstaves. On page 24 of the bill, Section 27, in counties of the fourth class "The District Attorney may appoint one chief county detective and as many assistant county detectives as may be fixed by the salary board; each detective shall receive a salary to be fixed by the salary board." The same thing applies to his assistants. The salary board has the District Attorney by the throat, and under the terms of this bill, or the two bills, the salary board has the court by the throat as far as employees are concerned. Tipstaves did not figure in this particular bill at all. It was the control of the employees of the District Attorney's office and the employees of the court.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, again I say I am going to vote for a measure on its own merits. I am going to put the county employees under the supervision of the salary board of the municipality that has the duty to raise the taxes to pay them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I might say that this is a political scrap in certain counties in this Commonwealth where scraps are aplenty.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 533, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 837) entitled "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged and in certain cases for the widows and wives of such persons" by extending the provisions of the act to retention in public position or on public works in certain cases

Section 1 The title of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 837) entitled "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged and in certain cases for the widows and wives of such persons" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to and retention in public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged and in certain cases for the widows and wives of such persons

Section 2 Said act is hereby amended by adding immediately following section six thereof a new section to read as follows

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlemen from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I have heard many conflicting opinions as to the provisions of this bill, and for my own information and for the information of other Members of the House, I would like to know in just what way this bill would affect veterans and non-veterans.

Mr. SORG. I shall first state to the gentleman my opinion as to the intent of the bill, what it seeks to accomplish, and then I propose to yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, who is familiar with its provisions.

It is my understanding that this bill seeks to repeal certain temporary appointments or repeal the act under which the temporary appointments have been made recently. Under the repeal of the provisions setting up these temporary appointments, a number of veterans have been dismissed until they qualify, or they are subject to dismissal until they do qualify by examination and other procedure necessary for permanent employment. Under the bill they will be given credit for seniority for the period of time that they were in the service.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman another question. Does this bill apply only to service people who before entering the service engaged in any public position or public work in this Commonwealth or its political subdivisions, or does it apply to all service people even though before entering the service they did not work in any of the capacities that I have mentioned?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I believe that it applies to all servicemen, whether they previously held public office or public employment or not.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, does the bill set up a system of super-seniority?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman might use that term accurately, I believe. I suggest that I will vote for the bill, nevertheless.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

As a veteran and as a Member of this House I certainly have no desire to oppose any legislation that will be beneficial to the veterans, provided, however, that that legislation is drawn within the realm of reason and fairness. From answers just given to me by the Majority Leader, this bill sets up a system of super-seniority for veterans, for all ex-service people in this Commonwealth.

In my opinion Senate Bill No. 533 amends P. L. 837, the Veterans Preference Act.

As PL 837 now stands it is impossible for any non-veteran to receive a promotion as long as there is a veteran who possesses the requisite qualifications. This in itself, as far as promotions are concerned, gives veterans a tremendous advantage, and may have the effect of stifling all initiative and ambition of the non-veteran. As PL 837 now stands it gives all veterans absolute preference.

PL 870, the Emergency Act, which suspends civil service until six months after cessation of hostilities, provides that veterans will not be given less credit for time spent in the armed service than he would have received had he stayed in a position covered by civil service.

Senate Bill 760, which is to repeal the Emergency Act, also amends the Civil Service Act to include the protection clause for veterans.

S 533 proposes to amend PL 870 by adding section 6.1 which reads: "Whenever a reduction in force is necessary in any public position or on public works of this Commonwealth and its political sub-divisions and personnel are discharged according to seniority the number of years of seniority of any soldier shall be determined by adding his total years of service on public works to his total years of service as a member of the armed forces of the United States or in any woman's organization officially connected therewith during any war in which the United States engaged".

If section 6.1 is interpreted to mean that a person, who, before their entry into the armed services was engaged in a position in the public employ, should be given toward seniority a total of their time spent in such position plus time spent in the armed forces, then section 6.1 is unnecessary, because such protection is already provided.

If however section 6.1 is interpreted to mean that time spent in the armed forces before any employment in public service is to be counted, not only toward helping to secure an appointment, but is also to be added to the first, and to all subsequent promotions, and also to be used in computing seniority in retention of appointments and promotions, then it is not only unfair, but also is bad for morale, will tend to produce inefficiency, and may lead to a complete break-down of civil service.

Under this interpretation it is very possible that a public employee who has been in the public employ for eight or more years, and who, in 1942 received a promotion, to be demoted by a veteran who first became a public employee in 1946, but by virtue of having spent five years in the armed service and several months as a public employee, has piled up a total of years seniority greater than that of the employee with eight or more years in the public employ.

Mr. Speaker, as I said previously, I have no desire to oppose any legislation that is beneficial to veterans, and I have not done so in this session of the Legislature, if that legislation is within reason and fairness. I doubt very seriously if veterans would want this kind of legislation if they knew what it contained. The sponsor of the bill in the Senate is a veteran and apparently in his eagerness to do something for veterans he has not taken into consideration the rights of other people. There were more than one million veterans in Pennsylvania in the last war, and by the same token there were millions of other Pennsylvanians who stayed at home for various reasons. Some could not meet the requirements physically of the armed forces; others were not within the prescribed age limit; some stayed at home to take care of their large families. Due to the explanation I have gotten from the Majority Leader, this bill will permit a veteran who had never worked in public service in his life, to get a job in public service. In case of demotion, or in case where they are going to be laid off he would have a right to take the job with this kind of provision in the bill, even though he had never worked in public service before in his life. Probably one of the most valuable and worthy assets that any person has is his job, and I do not think it is quite fair to take the job of a man without taking into consideration any of the factors that exist in the case. The United States Supreme Court on the question of super-seniority in industry has already handed down a decision in that court more than a year ago. They have ruled it out in industry, and so if super-seniority is no good in industry and it is ruled out by the United States Supreme Court, then in my opinion it is no good in public work. I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. VAUGHN. Mr. Speaker, being interested in veterans' legislation I took the liberty of talking to Senator Donlan about this particular piece of legislation. The way he seemed to explain it, when I asked him about super-seniority, he said there wasn't any in this bill. As far as super-seniority is concerned, he explained the bill like this, that the bill is made up on the basis that a man came out of high school or college and served his time in the war. As an illustration he cited one boy who came out of school in July 1942 and was drafted into the army, and another boy in the same class that went out to work in the liquor store. Five years later the one boy came out of the army, and the other boy is still in the liquor store. All this bill does is to give that boy who came out of the army, if he comes into the same liquor store, the same seniority as the man in there. In other words, if he was in there five years he would be given credit for the same seniority.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, not being a veteran myself but being the father of two veterans in this war, I am very much concerned about veterans' legislation, and I wouldn't want to vote against anything that would discriminate against veterans, but to my mind this bill discriminates against the veterans themselves, for this reason; as it was explained by the Majority Leader, the way I see the bill, let us take for example a liquor store—suppose a man worked in there for six months or one year, served in the armed service two years, got out and got the job. That is proper and all right, but another man who never worked there and then goes and spends five years in the service, the five years would be counted in seniority. It is not fair to the veteran who served two years and came out. Therefore under that interpretation I think that the bill is very unfair for the veterans themselves.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 636, as follows:

An Act to further amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 465) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing certain act" increasing the amount which may be charged by the department for making the necessary examination for approval of architectural drawings specifications or other data

Section 1 Section eight of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 465) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans of examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing certain acts" as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 997) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 8 Approval of Plans It shall be the duty of the owner architect or contractor of every building or structure as described in this act hereafter erected adapted remodeled or altered to submit to the Department of Labor and Industry for approval architectural drawings specifications or other data showing compliance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations of the said department which may be promulgated for the enforcement of the provisions of this act No such building or structure shall be erected adapted remodeled or altered until such plans have been examined and approval given by the Department of Labor and Industry and a building permit obtained in municipalities where such permit is required by ordinance

For making the necessary examination for approval of architectural drawings specifications or other data the department shall make a charge equal to the actual cost of making such examinations not however to exceed the sum of [twenty-five dollars ($25.00)] fifty dollars ($50) and no such drawings specifications or other data shall be approved until payment is made of the fee charged therefor All fees received by the said department for making such examinations shall be paid into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue

Any such owner architect or contractor whose drawings or specifications have been submitted to and approved by said department as herein provided may proceed with the erection adapting remodeling or altering of such building or structure without submitting such drawings or specifications to or obtaining the approval of any other department board or agency of the State government

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 636 is drawn up and brought over from the Senate for the consideration of the House specifically for one purpose and one purpose only. That is to raise the fees for the necessary examination and approval of architectural drawings. When plans and drawings are shown to the department, it takes approximately five minutes to study the plans and to approve same. The fee for such work in the past has been twenty-five dollars for this approval, which is paid by the applicant who is submitting such plans to be approved for public buildings.

Now then, the Department requests in this proposal that the fee be raised to fifty dollars for such approval. I am going to cite an example of the amount of time that is consumed in this Department by relating and incident that happened to a client of mine just several weeks ago in that Department. I took the gentleman over to the Department, he presented the plans and they were approved, and in five minutes we were out of the office, and they charged us twenty-five dollars. This bill raises it to fifty dollars. If a value of fifty dollars is to be placed on five minutes' work by the Department, I say that that creates an additional burden upon the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, especially in this phase of state government.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman say that a veteran who went into the Department to have plans approved for a new home or something that he had built for himself and his family,—Mr. Speaker, I am a little confused—in the case of a veteran going in on a public building, would the fee be raised to that particular veteran from twenty-five dollars to fifty dollars?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the veteran is in the same class as any other individual when it comes to the construction of a building. It costs no more and no less.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman.

We hear a lot of talk about protecting the veterans, protecting the people, reducing their income taxes, and a lot of other things. I don't see that it is necessary that we put this additional burden on the people at this time. I think you should defeat this bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I fear that we have had an epidemic in this legislature of anti-somebody. The gentleman would seek to make this an anti-veterans' bill. The bill is important to the safety of buildings where people gather, and the work involved is much greater than suggested by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, because it takes much more than five minutes. It involves not only the matter of the approval of the plans but the inspection of the building while being constructed, and also the approval of the building itself after the plans will have been approved and the building constructed.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea what the actual expense of inspecting these buildings is.

Mr. SORG. I do have an idea, Mr. Speaker, which I obtained from those who are charged with the responsibility of seeing that the plans are approved. I understand that it was at their request that the bill was introduced because it costs in the neighborhood of fifty dollars.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman got that information from the Department of Labor and Industry which makes this inspection?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that the Department of Labor and Industry has been losing in the neighborhood of twenty-five dollars on every one of these inspections?

Mr. SORG. I would say that is so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. In that case, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman's statements are true, which I judge they are, as he possibly has been told by the Department, then I will not oppose the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to Senate Bill 678, which would make it an unfair labor practice for an employer to contribute to any funds controlled exclusively or in part by the employees' representative or labor organization.

This bill would give to the employer the exclusive right to control these funds and see to their distribution, and the workers would not have any representation on these boards. To my mind this bill is just another of that group of bills designed to shackle the workers with restrictive laws and is designed primarily to prohibit the setting up of health and welfare funds by groups of people who have of necessity bound themselves together in a labor union to protect their free American rights and to bargain collectively for the welfare of their members. The problem of health and welfare of the workers in this country has become one of the major problems of our whole national economy and is one of the vital problems that must be solved if we are to maintain our free enterprise system.

The success or failure of a solution of problems of health and welfare of the workers by collective bargaining might well determine the extent to which the government may intervene in the field of health and medicine. I cannot understand why any one should propose to prohibit or to limit by law an attempt to provide for the health and welfare of the workers by mutual agreements between the parties concerned.

These funds are used in making payments to employees and their dependents and survivors with respect to wage loss not otherwise compensated at all, or adequately under the provisions of Federal or state law and resulting from sickness, death or retirement and other welfare purposes. Wilful negligence in the enforcement of inadequate safety laws in many instances has resulted in major disasters. The numbers alone in the mining industry, to cite one particular industry, annually from 1906 to 1945 averaged 1981 killed, which means for every working day five men are killed.

The average yearly number injured from 1930 to 1944 is 66,968 permanent, total permanent, partial and temporary disabilities. For the period 1930 to 1944, 1,004,524, more than twice the number of men employed in the industry, each one of whom took his statistical chance, as to whether his injury was one that enabled him to return to work in a few days, a few weeks, or whether he would be crippled for life with his back broken, his eyes shot out or his limbs gone.

Despite all efforts to achieve compensation legislation commensurate with the injuries and permanent disabilities, as well as outright death, today's payments are wholly inadequate. There is not a single state that provides compensation payments adequate to maintain a widowed family, or fairly compensate the injured. On top of all this we have the company doctor who is paid out of the workers' pay envelopes. This doctor is selected by the employer, paid for by the employees and acts in behalf of the employer in compensation cases, is the company agent in insurance claims, and determines the physical fitness of job applicants. He testifies against the workers in compensation cases, often rendering unfair decisions with the help of the Coroner, who in many cases is also paid by the companies.

In many cases doctors are hired with the understanding that they treat compensation cases free of charge. This pays double dividends to the company, but the workers pay the doctor. I could go on to great length on this subject of abuses of the company doctor system and many other abuses which make it necessary that funds be set up through collective bargaining contracts between employers and employees. This matter of welfare funds is no new thing in employer-employee contracts.

Sweden had this system fifty years ago, Germany had it before the rise of Hitler. France, Belgium, England, Australia, New Zealand and many others have had these funds for years. Our only trouble here is that we are fifty years behind the times in this respect. In these countries I have just mentioned these funds are controlled exclusively by the workers and their organizations, which is right and proper, for who knows the needs of the workers better than the workers themselves? It is no more than just that the men who toil, get injured, crippled for life or give their lives that great fortunes can be made for the great corporations of this nation, be given their just return on the profits of the products which they produce. This return should be in adequate wages and adequate safeguards for their security during sickness, injury and death.

I cannot believe that all of the Members of this House who are representing the industrial workers of the state in their respective districts will vote for this bill which would prohibit workers from seeking redress of such conditions from their employers through collective bargaining contracts. It is inconceivable that such a vote could be cast as would infringe upon the right of a free citizen to contract with an employer upon the conditions under which he is willing to perform labor.

Under this bill employees could not make collective bargaining contracts covering insurance policies unless they are exclusively controlled by the employer. This bill provides machinery for physical examination of employees which could in many instances, if the employer so desired, enable him to get rid of one half of the personnel in some plants through old age, occupational disease and previous injuries.

The workers should have the right to at least have representation on these Boards of Trustees, which this denies them, as these policies are part of a collective bargaining contract, paid in lieu of wages and are placed on the cost of production and passed on to the consumer in the price of the commodity produced.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I would like if the gentleman might yield for a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. COLE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I am wondering, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman is not speaking on Senate Bill 677?

Mr. COLE. I am not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I would like to inquire of the gentleman,

Mr. Speaker, where in Senate Bill 678 such a matter as the gentleman is discussing is stated?

Mr. COLE. In answer to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, under Senate Bill 678, employes are denied the right to sit in on these funds. They are controlled exclusively by the employer himself. Am I not right, that the employes themselves would have no right to sit in on these funds and the distribution of them, that under the trustee setup they are controlled exclusively by the employer? This bill provides machinery for the physical examination of employes which could in many instances if the employer so desired, get rid of half of the personnel in some plants through old age, occupational disease and previous injuries. The workers should have the right at least to have representation on this Board of Trustees which this bill denies them, as these policies are part of a collective bargaining contract paid in lieu of wages and are placed on the cost of production and passed on to the consumer in the price of the commodity produced.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the bill is entitled to just a little bit further explanation. The real intent of this bill is to qualify employes in establishments where there are too few in number to get group accident and health insurance. Where there are several such groups of employes the bill permits their qualification in order to qualify for such insurance, which everybody agrees is a very salutary provision. It does provide that trust funds be distributed under the direction of those responsible for seeing that the entire amount of the fund is expended for the purpose for which it is intended. This act is unique of all the acts in the forty-eight states in that it specifically provides that in those cases where the employe who might otherwise not be eligible for group insurance can be made eligible under this particular law, that the employers must pay the entire amount of the trust fund. I submit that this bill is fair legislation and recommend it to the Members of this House.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, in further explanation of this bill I want to say that in the past it was necessary that there be fifty employes before they could be eligible to group insurance. By a bill which was passed by this House, No. 683, that number was reduced to twenty-five. There are many communities in our state where there are not twenty-five employes. Take for example a small community that has, say in the neighborhood of five or six grocery stores and about four or five employes in each of those stores. They could go together and select a trustee for those concerns, and the employers pay in to the trustees the group insurance trust fund. The employes don't pay any of it at all. That can apply to grocery stores; it can apply to small plants and that sort of thing. All that is necessary is that they be in the same business.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I still maintain that the way the funds are set up that the employes at least should have representation on the board and that it should not be controlled exclusively by the employer, regardless of whether one firm, two firms or half a dozen firms get together, because after all, any benefits received by this kind of a plan is in lieu of wages and is a part of the wages paid to the employee. Under this particular plan the International Ladies Garment Workers have set up in their collective bargaining contract welfare funds and they are doing a mighty good job. They have a big health center in New York where they have treated in the past year two hundred and some thousand of their members, and the money contributed is raised through collective bargaining. If this bill goes through this kind of contract will be outlawed because the workers themselves control this fund. On the other hand, an examination of the provisions this bill shows that it would allow the employer any time he wanted to could get rid of any employee through the system of the company doctor, which is still another bad feature of the bill. I ask the Members of the House to defeat the bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to remind the Members that a vote to defeat this bill is a vote to continue as ineligible many, many employes who under it might be able to get group insurance, but under the present law cannot.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 817

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 817.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. McDONALD and GALLAGHER offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 16, 1947.

Whereas, on the 17th day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, there was born to Robert and Anna R. Rowen, an infant son, later named William, and

Whereas, said infant son, on arriving at maturity, saw fit to embark on the highly skilled profession of serving his fellow man in the final period after life and before interment, from which activity he acquired the alias of "Digger O'Dell," and

Whereas, the good people of that famous section of the City of Brotherly Love, known as Fishtown, and its surrounding communities saw fit to elect said Digger O'Dell, alias William Rowen, to act and serve as their Representative in the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its present session, and

Whereas, said Representative has achieved some little fame in the present session as an adviser of the younger members in their twilight activities acting as a guide and sponsor of their admission to the Legion Post Home and other spots, and becoming famous for that well-known expression "Take it easy," therefore be it

Resolved, That this House do hereby extend its congratulations to said William Rowen on this, the occasion of the fifty-fourth anniversary of his natal day, with the expressions of its wishes for continued success to come, for health in abundance during the coming years and for the happiness which is the meet and due of a person who has the even disposition and affable nature of our beloved fellow member, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Honorable William Rowen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would also like to extend congratulations.

Mr. ROWEN. Mr. Speaker, at this time I wish to thank Mr. Gallagher and Mr. McDonald for their very fine gesture. I want to say it has been the longest birthday; I have been waiting for the clock to get around to 8:00 o'clock, by which time I hope you will be able to finish the activities of the evening. I thank you.

Section 204 Branch Offices and Sub-Agencies

* * * *

C Any institution may in the case of an incorporated institution in the manner provided by this act for an amendment to its articles or in pursuance of a plan of merger or consolidation in accordance with the provisions of this act and in the case of a private bank with the prior written approval of the department establish a branch at any place within this Commonwealth where at the time such institution proposes to establish such branch any national banking association having its principal office in the same county as that in which the principal office of the institution proposing to take such action is located would have the power under the laws of the United States [now or] hereafter enacted to establish a branch of such national banking association Provided That no such branch shall be established under the provisions of this subsection unless the city borough or community in which it is to be established is without adequate banking facilities or in the case of a merger or consolidation is without adequate banking facilities other than an incorporated institution or national banking association which is a party to the plan of merger and consolidation in accordance with the provisions of this act and Provided further That the establishment of every such branch shall be approved by the Department of Banking and the Banking Board

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in the name of free enterprise I must protest against this bill, particularly since the bankers are so insistent about free enterprise. This bill limits the right of those who might desire to do so to establish branch banks, if some dignitary somewhere decides that they are necessary. I don't see why the growth of the banking business should be subject to such strict rules and regulations. If they are enterprising people and want to broaden the banking system and establish branch banks I don't see why they should not have that right. So I protest against this bill in the name of free enterprise, which I think the bankers should support, instead of creating in each community or trying to create a banking monopoly, and then when they have got the monopoly established, to go on a four-day or five-day or three-day week.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper, is the Chairman of the committee that reported this bill. I am going to vote for this measure on faith. I am going to vote for the measure because it was considered by the Committee on Banking and Building and Loan of which the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper, is Chairman. I know that it has been given full consideration in the Committee meetings, and for that reason I request the Members of this House to vote in favor of it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I feel that this bill is a very important bill and the Members should answer to their names. We do not want to verify rolls. It seems that this bill is very important to small communities, especially the outlying districts which are interested in the subject of branch banking. We are going to insist that the Members answer to their names on this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Members will please answer to their names distinctly.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 615, as follows:

An Act making provisions for community property law providing that the act shall apply to husbands and wives and their property subsequent to the effective date of the act defining separate property and the community property of the husband and wife providing for the management control and disposition thereof defining the ownership of funds on deposit in any bank or banking institution providing for the rights and remedies of creditors providing that either spouse may give or convey his or her community property to the other providing for disposition of community property on dissolution of marriage providing for the substitution of one spouse under certain conditions for the other through legal proceedings in the management control and disposition of community property providing for the administration and distribution of the interests of a deceased spouse in community property

Section 1 All property of the husband both real and personal owned or claimed by him before marriage or before the effective date of this act whichever is later and that acquired afterwards by gift devise or descent or received as compensation for personal injuries shall be his separate property

Section 2 All property of the wife both real and personal owned or claimed by her before marriage or before the effective date of this act which ever is later and that acquired afterwards by gift devise or descent or received as compensation for personal injuries shall be her separate property

Section 3 All property acquired by either the husband or wife during marriage and after the effective date of this act except that which is the separate property of either as hereinabove defined shall be deemed the community or common property of the husband and wife and each shall be vested with an undivided one-half interest therein and all the effects which the husband and wife possess at the time the marriage may be dissolved shall be regarded as common effects or gains unless the contrary be satisfactorily proved

Section 4 The wife shall have the management and control and may dispose of her separate property and that portion of the common or community property consisting of her earnings all rents interest dividends and other income from her separate property and all other common or community property the title to which stands in her name The husband shall have the management and control and may dispose of his separate property and all community property the management control and disposition of which is not conferred upon the wife hereby

Section 5 All real estate whether the separate property of the husband or wife or the community or common property of both shall not be sold encumbered or otherwise disposed of except in the manner provided by law prior to the effective date of this act

Section 6 Any funds on deposit in any bank or banking institution whether in the name of the husband or wife shall be presumed to be the separate property of the party in whose name they stand regardless of who made the deposit and unless said bank or banking institution is notified to the contrary it shall be governed accordingly in honoring checks and orders against such account

Section 7 That portion of the community property under the management control and disposition of the wife or which stands in her name shall be liable for debts contracted by the wife and for torts of the wife committed in the course of acquiring holding or managing such community property but not otherwise That portion of the community property which is under the management control and disposition of the husband shall be liable for debts contracted by the husband and for torts of the husband committed in the course of acquiring managing holding or disposing of the community property but not otherwise The husband and wife and each of them shall be entitled to the exemptions to which they or either of them are entitled under existing laws All debts created by the husband or wife after marriage or after the effective date of this act which ever is later shall be regarded as community debts unless the contrary be satisfactorily proved

Section 8 No creditor shall have recourse to the community property for the payment of debts or liabilities created by either the husband or the wife except as provided in section seven of this act Provided however That any creditor may satisfy his claim or demand out of the community property which was under the management control and disposition of the spouse incurring the indebtedness or liability at the time the debt or liability was contracted or created and which has been subsequently conveyed or transferred to the other spouse and is under the management control and disposition of said other spouse without proof that said creditor relied upon said community property in advancing said credit but without prejudice to the rights of the third party purchasers encumbrancers or other creditors or grantees and provided further that the husband or wife on paying community debts shall as between themselves charge the same against community property

Section 9 The husband may give grant bargain sell or convey directly to his wife and a wife may give grant bargain sell or convey directly to her husband his or her community property in esse Every deed and conveyance made from the husband to the wife or from the wife to the husband shall operate to divest the property therein described of every claim or demand as community property to the extent herein provided and shall vest the same in the grantee as the separate property of the grantee Provided however That the deeds conveyances or transfers hereby authorized shall not affect any existing equity in favor or creditors of the grantor at the time of such transfer gift or encumbrance

Section 10 In the event of the dissolution of marriage by decree of any court of competent jurisdiction the husband and wife shall each be vested with an undivided one-half interest in the community property as tenants in common but nothing herein shall prevent the court from having the same powers with respect to said property as to other property of either the husband or wife

Section 11 Whenever the husband or the wife is non composmentis or has been convicted of a felony or sentenced to imprisonment for a period of more than one year or whenever the husband has abandoned his wife and family and left her and his family if they have children without support or whenever the husband or the wife is an habitual drunkard or for any other reason is incapacitated to manage control or dispose of the community property the other spouse may present a petition duly verified to the court of quarter sessions of the county wherein they reside or if they are non-residents wherein any of the community property is located or situated stating the name of the incapacitated spouse a description of all community property both real and personal and the facts which render the other spouse incapacitated to manage control or dispose of the community property and praying that the spouse filing the petition be substituted for the incapacitated spouse as to the management control or disposition of the community property then under the management control and disposition of said spouse with the same power of managing controlling and disposing of the community property as was vested in the incapacitated spouse

Section 12 In all such cases services of process shall be duly verified to the court of common pleas of the county had as in actions of assumpsit or in such other manner as may be directed by the court

Section 13 Upon the hearing of the petition so filed the court shall render judgment therein either dismissing said petition or adjudging the spouse filing same to have such power of managing controlling and disposing of the community property either real or personal formerly under the management control and disposition of the other spouse as to the court may appear to be just proper equitable and to the best interests of said estate

Section 14 All judgments rendered as in the preceding section provided shall be recorded in the office of the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of the county where said property affected thereby is situated and such judgment when so rendered shall be notice of the facts therein set out

Section 15 Upon the death of the husband or the wife the surviving spouse shall administer all community property in the same manner and with the same duties privileges and authority as are vested in a surviving partner to administer and settle the affairs of a partnership upon the death of the other partner Provided That the surviving husband or wife shall not be disqualified from acting as executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased husband or wife And provided further That the survivor of the husband or wife shall pay out of the community property except exempt property all debts of the community whether created by the husband or the wife And provided further That when all debts of the community shall have been fully satisfied the survivor shall transfer and convey to the administrator or executor of the deceased one-half of the community property remaining to be administered and distributed as other property of the estate either subject to the terms of the will of the deceased or under the laws of descent and distribution as the case may be and thereafter all the interest of the surviving partner in said community property shall be that of a tenant in common

Section 16 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if there is anyone in the House who can explain the implications involved in Senate Bill 615, Printer's No. 626.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would call to the attention of the Members that the bill on their desks has a new Printer's No., 620. Does the gentleman from Allegheny have the bill?

Mr. BROWN. Yes, I have it before me.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 615 is a proposal to establish in the State of Pennsylvania what is known in some other states as a community trust system of holding properties held by husband and wife. Under the provisions of this act all property acquired after the effective date thereof, and subsequent to the marriage of the two individuals, would be held by those two individuals as husband and wife, one-half interest each. It also provides that in the case of dissolution of marriage each of the two individuals shall receive one-half of all the property so acquired. So also in the case of the death of either of the two individuals. It introduces a change in the property laws, so far as that which is held by husband and wife is concerned.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will Section 3 of Senate Bill 615 abolish estates by entirety?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, if the property is acquired after the effective date of this act and after the marriage of the two individuals they will hold it as community property rather than as tenants by entirety, unless by specific agreement they should see fit to hold the same as tenants by entirety.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, wherein in Section 3 can they by any specific agreement establish an estate by entirety?

Mr. SORG. It is not specified in Section 3. There is another provision of the act, however, where community property can be in both individuals and set out in such a manner as they see fit.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman show me that in the act?

Mr. SORG. On page 5, Mr. Speaker, section 9, it is provided that "The husband may give, grant, bargain, sell or convey directly to his wife, and a wife may give, grant, bargain, sell or convey directly to her husband his or her community property in esse. Every deed and conveyance made from the husband to the wife or from the wife to the husband shall operate to divest the property therein described of every claim or demand as community property to the extent herein provided and shall vest the same in the grantee as the separate property of the grantee. Provided, however, that the deeds, conveyances or transfers hereby authorized shall not affect any existing equity in favor of creditors of the grantor at the time of such transfer, gift or encumbrance."

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman then say that that will allow an estate by entirety, as we understand it in Pennsylvania today?

Mr. SORG. Yes, Mr. Speaker, if the parties see fit to so arrange. That is my opinion.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is this the first time that the gentleman has read section 9?

Mr. SORG. It is not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not know that section 9 has only to do with the conveyance of real estate and has nothing to do with the creation of any estate in the two parties?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the only way you can create an estate by entirety with another individual is by a conveyance of one kind or another.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain to me what is meant under Section 10, page 6 of the bill, "In the event of the dissolution of marriage by decree of any court of competent jurisdiction the husband and wife shall each be vested with an undivided one-half interest in the community property as tenants in common." That means that each of them shall hold one-half of the property acquired as described in this act.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman read the other section?

Mr. SORG. "But nothing herein shall prevent the court from having the same powers with respect to said property as to other property of either the husband or wife."

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman explain what that means?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, should there be property that is not community property, that was acquired before the effective date of this act, for instance, by a bill in equity, after a decree of divorce, the property might be divided as, for instance, if it had been held by entirety by the husband and wife.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman look at page 8, section 15, and be kind enough to explain what section 15 means, insofar as the administration of the estate is concerned, which I believe would end on line 12 of page 8?

Mr. SORG. "Upon the death of the husband or the wife the surviving spouse shall administer all community property in the same manner and with the same duties, privileges and authority as are vested in a surviving partner to administer and settle the affairs of a partnership upon the death of the other partner."

Mr. BROWN. Suppose, Mr. Speaker, the surviving spouse does not agree to administer the community property. Who then under the law would administer it?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the surviving spouse could designate any attorney or any individual if he might see fit to do so. If the survivor does not want the property they just don't take it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand then, this gives the surviving spouse the right to nominate. Suppose she does not nominate an administrator. Who administers the community property?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the same thing would happen in a case like that as in the case of a devisee or legatee who does not want the property. They just don't take action to acquire possession.

Mr. BROWN. So that, Mr. Speaker, there would be no administration of the community property if the surviving spouse failed to act?

Mr. SORG. That is my opinion, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Notwithstanding the fact, Mr. Speaker, that the community property and the interest therein may be property that would descend or would be distributed to other persons?

Mr. SORG. Not necessarily, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Could it be, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, in the case of dissolution of a partnership, and the surviving partner refuses to act, under the Uniform Partnership Act, those who have an interest have the right to ask for an administrator.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman read that into section 15?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I do read that into section 15, because specifically that is the right of the surviving partner.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman show me in section 15 how he reads that discretionary power into section 15, when the only power given to administer community property is in the surviving spouse, and that power is mandatory in the surviving spouse.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, under the Uniform Partnership Act the only power designated is in the surviving partner, and in the event of the failure of the surviving partner to act, anyone who has an interest in the property can insist that either that surviving partner do so or ask for the administration himself or herself.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman one more question? In the event a man who was married and who acquires property subsequent to the passage of this act, and he dies intestate leaving to survive him two minor children, how would the property affected by this bill be distributed under the intestate laws now and how would it be distributed under Senate Bill 615?

Mr. SORG. In the same way, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, doesn't the gentleman know that the property under Senate Bill 615 would be community property?

Mr. SORG. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, wouldn't then the surviving spouse have an undivided one-half interest in the property?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, wouldn't the children then take one-third of the one-half interest?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, under the present law and with the same situation the children would take one-third of the whole estate?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, so that there is a change in our laws of descent under this bill?

Mr. SORG. There isn't any change in the effect of the intestate laws on the estate that is held by the decedent. I might suggest that if they were tenants by entirety the intestate laws would not apply, and that would go at the present time.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I repeat the question?

I don't believe the gentleman caught the question at all. My question was if a man who had separate property acquired subsequent to the passage of this act died intestate, leaving to survive him his widow and two minor children, under our present intestate laws what interest would the children have in his estate?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's premises are impossible. After the passage of this act the decedent will not have departed his life in possession of any separate property.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Elk be kind enough to answer the question? The question is if there was a man who died, having a separate property, leaving a spouse and two minor children, and he died intestate, what interests would those children have in that property today?

Mr. SORG. One third, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if after the passage of this act a man died, leaving separate property and leaving a wife and two minor children, and he died intestate, what interest under this law would those minor children have in that property?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, one-third of what the husband died possessed of.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, that would be one-half or one-sixth to the children?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. That is all. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I don't know the exigencies that pressure us to pass an act of this kind that cuts across two fundamental property rights that we have in Pennsylvania established for many, many, many years. No one knows and no one could tell at this present time, if this bill becomes law, whether it can be possible or may be possible to create an estate by entirety in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The most serious thing about this bill is that it upsets completely our laws dealing with intestacy. After two years the advisory committee of the Joint State Government Commission brought in an act here revising our whole laws dealing with intestacy, and now for some reason which is not clear to me, by this bill we are going to upset all of our laws dealing with intestacy. If that is what you want you have a perfect right to it, but the people of the Commonwealth have no appeal from the action of this Legislature, especially at this particular time.

I say to you that this is the most ridiculous and absurd piece of legislation presented to this General Assembly in this session. It is so absurd that the clarifying amendments presented by the Majority Leader to this House yesterday, which attempted to clear up the bill, were withdrawn by him upon his own motion. If we pass this bill none of us know what is in it. I have heard the Majority Leader say time and time again that we are passing bills on faith. If we are passing bills on faith then I say we are disregarding the pledge we made to the people of this Commonwealth and the pledge we took under the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I fear that the gentlemen uses strong adjectives to introduce complications into a comparatively simple situation. This bill simply can be explained as a measure which seeks to set up a community property estate in husband and wife in property that is acquired after their marriage.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, yesterday we passed Senate Bill 723 which provided for the large manufacturers. Today we are considering Senate Bill 615 which for all purposes is intended to take care of the large executives and their incomes.

Senate Bill No. 615 is designed to permit a very select class of Pennsylvania citizens to defraud the Federal Government of a certain portion of their income tax obligations. To win public approval for this Bill false propaganda has been circulated. (1) That all those required to pay income tax will save money ranging from 15% for those with $3000 income and less, to 25% for those with higher incomes; (2) that the citizens of Pennsylvania will save 100 million dollars.

In order to work this fraud it is necessary that the present laws relating to the rights of husband and wife be changed. That a fiction be created whereby all property be considered as property in common and both participate in the production of the income. In this manner each spouse is entitled to one-half of all property and all income hereafter. Each spouse can file a separate income tax return, regardless which of them in reality earned the income.

The public is not informed as to the serious damages caused by this change in our property laws. No lawyer can now foresee how extensive the affects of this law can be regarding the property rights of husband and wife. To mention a few results: The wife or husband, as the case may be, can legally claim one-half of the real estate, money in the bank or other assets, regardless of the name thereon; one-half of the income, regardless who earns it; in the event of divorce, the wife will be entitled to one-half of all property; in cases of separation, the wife could legally claim one-half of the income and go into Court to have her husband support her from the other half of his half of the income, providing that her separation is justifiable.

Permit me to cite some figures to prove to you that all income earners do not benefit from this proposed legislation. These calculations, I am about to present are all based on a family or husband and wife and two children, an average American family;

Income	Tax 1946	With S. B. 615	Saving	Pct.
$3,000	$131	$159	—$28	Loss
5,000	480	470	10	2%
10,000	1960	1700	260	14%
25,000	8970	7610	1360	15%
50,000	25380	19105	6275	25%
100,000	67320	52200	15,120	25%

What will result if the Federal Government's budget is materially upset by a widespread practise of this fraud? Additional taxes will have to be levied. Even those who will not benefit from the enactment of this legislation. Peter will be robbed to pay Paul. Peter, the one with a small income, the poor, to pay Paul, the one with the high income or the rich. We passed a law a few days ago to close the door to the penny chislers on the cigarette tax and we now propose to open the doors to those who cheat in thousands of dollars. For these reasons I am opposed to Senate Bill No. 615.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAPANO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. In the case of the first figures the gentleman cites, Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire how he arrives at the figures that he will pay more after the passage of Senate Bill 615?

Mr. CAPANO. I figure, Mr. Speaker, on the basis of the figures as given in the schedule of taxes levied.

Mr. SORG. Does the gentleman figure on the basis of separate returns?

Mr. CAPANO. I figured it, Mr. Speaker, on the basis of joint returns and then figured on the basis of separate returns.

Mr. SORG. Did the gentleman figure on the basis of joint returns in both instances?

Mr. CAPANO. Not in the case of the three thousand dollar income. They were taken separately, considering Senate Bill 615.

Mr. SORG. Do I understand the gentleman took the separate returns in one computation and joint returns in the other?

Mr. CAPANO. No, I figured all of it first as joint returns under the 1946 tax and then I took it subsequently as it would be under 615, and added them together. In other words as I told you, on the three thousand dollar income, their joint return in 1946 would be one hundred thirty-one dollars. Their separate return added together would be one hundred fifty-nine dollars under Senate Bill 615.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman make any computation on the basis of joint returns after the passage of Senate Bill 615?

Mr. CAPANO. It would be the same, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Therefore there would be no money paid by anybody to compensate whoever might make a saving in tax.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAPANO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. May I ask the gentleman what proportion of the national income do Pennsylvanians pay on their income tax, what proportion does Pennsylvania pay of the national tax program?

Mr. CAPANO. I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. Approximately ten per cent, I think is the figure. Well now, Pennsylvania then will pay more income taxes, because I understand nine or ten other states are paying much less under the community property law.

Mr. CAPANO. As I stated, if this practice is widespread it would naturally result in the Federal Government budget being unbalanced and additional taxes would be levied in order to make up the shortage.

Mr. SPROUL. May I ask if the gentleman is interested in the taxes of the national government or those of the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. CAPANO. As has been suggested, both, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane, wanted to speak on this bill. I am in hopes that in the next five minutes he will come into the chamber. Tax dodging, smuggling and other assaults upon constituted government are an old Spanish custom. They have their seat in old Mexico and part of our national domain, New Mexico. Arizona perhaps followed in the line, so we have a community property law in the Mexican belt. A very ancient tradition would have a community property law of sorts in Louisiana.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I am very much interested in this development because I have seen a gradual rapprochement between the majority party in the north and that portion of the Democratic party in the south that is most degenerate, and it is a very, very interesting development indeed that Pennsylvania should come into this chamber displaying the banners of Louisiana, Arizona, New Mexico, Old Mexico, and I haven't any doubt of Franco of Spain himself.

I see the gentleman from Fayette approaching. He is going to say something about 615 too. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask a question or two of the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this act has two salient features. I just want to be sure that one does not acquire any financial advantage under this act by marrying a rich widow.

Mr. SORG. Not if she is rich when he marries her, Mr. Speaker. It is only what he acquires afterward.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gold digger who marries a wealthy bachelor, does she stand to profit under this act?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am amazed that the gentleman would suggest that a widow marry a bachelor.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I should say a sugar daddy, —a gold digger marries a sugar daddy. Does she profit under this act?

Mr. SORG. This act applies only to property acquired after the marriage, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, am I privileged under this act to share equally in the earnings of my wife.

Mr. SORG. The gentleman is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is one good feature of this act.

Getting back to the fundamental economic situation, the women of this Commonwealth have command of a budget of expenditures at the present time exceeding ninety million dollars. That is what they are spending every year. Eighty per cent of the insurance policies in force are made out for women. Practically every man that takes out insurance names a woman as his beneficiary except that species of insurance that is taken out for business purposes. Ninety per cent of all women that write insurance policies name a woman as beneficiary, and thirty of our major corporations in this country by their stock ownership could be controlled by women if they personally and individually voted their stock interests, so that if under this bill one shares in the earnings of one's wife, that is one virtue. I wish that the Majority Leader had explained more clearly what happens in the case of divorce, if he would clear up my mind on what happens under this bill in the case of divorce, and then I will yield to the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, in the case of divorce, properties acquired after the marriage of two individuals and not disposed of otherwise by the joint action of the individuals before the divorce, is divided equally between them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, who is responsible under this bill? What are the arrangements for dependents on joint property, on community property? Where do the dependents come in under the Federal Act? Is there any relation to that in this bill?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, under the Federal Act dependency is based upon actual support.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, who supports the children? Out of whose half of the community property are the children supported?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the children are supported, I am sure, out of the property of those to whom their custody is awarded in the divorce proceeding.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, where does the custody of the children figure in as a charge on the community property, before the divorce, if the children are neglected and if they are not properly provided for and if it is necessary to take action in the courts to secure a financial provision for the children for their education or for their care? Against which portion of the community property is the charge made?

Mr. SORG. Both of them have an equal responsibility, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Under the act, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, that is under the existing law. This act does not affect that existing law as to the custody and responsibility.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have one further word to say. I suggest that all the Members of this House who have read this bill at least once and who understand it, vote, and those who have read it and don't know what it means, endeavor to vote "present" or absent themselves. If we pass enough legislation like this this House will awaken in about three months after the Members return to their homes.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I understood the Majority Floor Leader to say in answer to a question by the Minority Floor Leader when he asked about divorce proceedings, that the custody of the children would be awarded to certain persons, and they would have the right of supporting the children. I am not clear in my mind, as I understand it, that the divorce court has anything to do with custody, unless that is something new in the law or brought in by Senate Bill 615. I would like the gentleman to explain what he meant.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, either I did not make myself clear or I made a misstatement or the gentleman misunderstood me. I don't remember the exact phraseology I used. I merely meant to indicate to the gentleman from Cambria that the courts have the right to award the custody of children on the petition of either party and after hearing the facts custody is awarded to the one who is most deserving of the custody of the children. In that event the person having the custody certainly would be the one to have the right to claim credit for dependency in the tax case.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, from what the gentleman has just said, in case the husband, who is primarily responsible for the support of the children, would be charged with the support by the court, he could only have one-half of his property to support the children on, and the other half would go to the wife, is that correct?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the husband will have all of his property. He will have full and complete ownership of the interest set up in this act.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, let us presume that he is a man who has no property except the property acquired after the marriage, then there is a divorce and he was not responsible for the divorce. Let us presume the worst situation, that he was compelled to divorce his wife.

These situations happen every day in court and that is the reason this bill is so important. I say to the Majority Leader, let us suppose that he was compelled to bring an action to divorce his wife, and the court grants him the divorce on good and valid grounds, and he has three children to support, and the custody of the children would be awarded to him. This wife from whom he secured a divorce because of her conduct walks out with one-half of his property. He is responsible for the support of his children, whether they be three or four, he only has the other half to rely upon, is that not correct?

Mr. SORG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. I would like to amend the answer with the statement that hard cases make bad bargains. I submit there are more good cases than bad in Pennsylvania.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not concerned and I am not at this time interested in who saves any money by virtue of income tax returns, but if the example I cited to the Majority Floor Leader, which was admitted on the floor of the House to be the case from the example I cited, would so change our laws today in Pennsylvania, heaven knows this bill ought to be defeated.

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, I have to admit in the discussion of the merits of this particular bill that I am not qualified to stand here and submit to the Members of this House an opinion as to whether or not it accomplishes the good that it purports to accomplish, and yet at the same time does not encourage or create a great many more evils which offset any of the benefits which you and I as individuals receive.

Mr. Speaker, this bill in the Judiciary Committee received a great deal of discussion. We received it in the very closing hours of this session. No opportunity was given to the members of the Committee to really study this bill and its possible effect upon our fundamental property law. It has been reported out on the floor of the House. Most of the Members of this House followed the discussion that occurred near the Speaker's rostrum last evening. There were as many divergent ideas about the effect of this bill as there were Members present at that conference. I can only say to you honestly and sincerely that in my own opinion there has never been introduced in this House a measure which will so seriously effect our fundamental property laws in Pennsylvania as this particular bill does.

As I read the bill, and I express solely my own opinion, I think it eliminates by law the estates-by-entireties. When you go into the field of divorce law, the jurisdiction of our courts is now established by law, by acts, and by adjudication of the courts. The example that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, cited is a very definite situation. I can only call to your attention the fact that we amended last night or attempted to correct that possible evil. In almost every instance in which we have divorce actions in Pennsylvania, about ninety-nine out of one hundred are uncontested divorce actions. That means that the spouse, whether it be the husband or wife, in order to procure the divorce must of necessity establish a case within the law before the divorce will be granted. The natural result of that situation is the spouse appears before the Master or the court, whichever case it may be, and make out the other spouse to be the blackguard on that particular situation. That was the purpose of the amendments, in order to correct that situation, where we have an innocent spouse, the wife or husband gets the divorce, with either innocent party nevertheless assenting to the situation or at least tacitly doing so by having agreed to it. We find that the court has the record as against her husband and attempts to divide the property in a situation based upon the circumstances of the case. We would have a situation, and this is one illustration where very divorce in Pennsylvania would probably wind up in being contested in order to prevent one or the other spouse from getting something on the other in the divorce action. I don't say that is a bad situation; it might have a very salutary effect upon the divorce situation in Pennsylvania. Most individuals are very much disturbed when the necessity arises in the course of their lives that require the attention or services of an attorney. I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, that there was introduced in the House no piece of legislation which is going to give more work to the attorneys in Pennsylvania than this particular bill in the next few years. If it becomes a law I predict that at the next session of the legislature we will be very busy trying to plug up the holes in our fundamental property laws that this act attempts to tear down.

I say sincerely and honestly that I don't know what the ultimate effect of this particular bill is really going to be. There isn't an attorney in this House who knows what is going to do. There is enough in this bill apparent on its face to disturb and upset the advice and opinion of every Member of this House.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I submit to you if there ever was a bill that ought to be studied by this House, and its legal effect given every consideration before we submit it to this General Assembly for passage, it is this particular measure. Since we are now in the closing hours of the session and that opportunity has not presented itself I agree in self-protection that the Members of this House ought to vote this bill down.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I agree that we are here making a somewhat fundamental change. I submit, however, that the statements made concerning the abolition of income by entireties of an estate between a husband and wife is somewhat in error, by reason of those provisions in the law that permits them after the property is acquired and after they hold the property, that they can dispose of it, and establish estate they desire, jointly between them. The law applies only to the effect of the acquisition of the property until they hold it in this particular type of estate, at which time they can usually agree between themselves, if they desire to hold the property by entireties, which, of course, is necessary at the present time.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the Majority Leader to tell me whether or not in the case of John Doe, who would leave or have, —let use take the even figure of sixty thousand dollars in personal property, let us say in cash. He dies and has a wife and two children. Would it be possible under this act to leave one-third to his wife and one-third to each child?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman whether he has in mind the distinction between property which each decedent may have had before the marriage.

Mr. LAUGHNER. No, Mr. Speaker, I am talking about personal property or cash that he acquires or that he and his wife acquire after the marriage.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, if he and his wife acquired sixty thousand dollars after the marriage he would have only one-half of the sixty thousand dollars for disposition. I would like to remind the gentleman also, Mr. Speaker, that the present law specifically sets up the disposition of that in the event the decedent does not have a will.

Mr. LAUGHNER. I understand that, Mr. Speaker. Then will the gentleman please answer this question; under this act if the sixty thousand dollars was cash, as I understand thirty thousand dollars would automatically go to the wife, and then the only part of the additional or the remaining thirty thousand dollars that could be left to each child would be, in the case of two children, one-third of the remaining thirty thousand dollars, is that correct?

Mr. SORG. That is correct. I should like to direct the gentleman's attention also to the fact that under our present laws the wife has a right to take against any attempt that the husband might make by testamentary disposition at least one-third of his property at any rate. The wife can take against the husband's will to the extent of twenty thousand dollars in that case.

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to bring out in the argument that this bill is going to make work for the attorneys. I cite for your consideration the illustration just given by the Majority Leader.

We now have in Pennsylvania estates by entireties. This act is not going to affect such existing estates, but as I read the bill it will be impossible to create them as we now do. So we have a situation where the husband and wife earning income after the marriage or after the passage of this act, whichever comes later, becoming the owner of an undivided one-half of the community property, and each one of them entitled to one-half of that particular income. We would have a situation where we as individuals not learned in the law and not knowing what we can do about it, ask "What are you going to do about it?" You will have to go to an attorney to find out because you are going to find that we will have an undivided one-half interest in a particular estate, and the only way you can create an estate by entireties, first of all, is you have got to separate the properties, and you will have to decide whether or not that can be done. Let us assume for illustration that it can be done. Then the argument is advanced that having gotten the title into the individual hands of one or the other spouse, that they can establish an estate by entireties. Whether that can be done or not, I don't know. Certainly you as individuals are going to have to admit you are not going to solve it yourselves without the aid of counsel.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I believe that not only the majority, but all of us in the House are interested in the creation and preservation and maintenance of our homes. Under our present law such a thing as young couples entering into the marriage state is impossible. The passage of this law means goodbye forever.

In connection with this law which has been referred to as the Western Law, I am informed that all we need do in Nevada to get a divorce is to go to a hotel and register, pay your room rent six weeks in advance, hang your socks on the bed post, and at the end of six weeks they will give you a divorce. We don't have such a situation in Pennsylvania and I know we don't want it. This bill opens up the gates for dissension, dissatisfaction, separation and divorce.

Those of you who do not understand the legal phraseology, I want to tell you what "entireties" means. An estate-by-entireties is when a man and wife have their deed in two names. That is the way most young husbands and wives start out, wanting to get a home, having the right idea and wanting to work together. They buy the home in two names for the protection that it gives both of them. When they own their own home in their two names, and when the husband or wife dies you are not confronted with the horrible situation that you have heard discussed that will affect your wife and children, if you adopt this antiquated piece of legislation. When a husband and wife own real estate in their two names, and the husband dies, as far as the law is concerned we know the wife owns everything and there is no appraisalment, there is no inheritance tax to be paid, there is no interference with the family or anything else. She goes right on as if her husband had lived.

Mr. Speaker, you have heard the discussion here between the Majority leader and the Minority leader as to what happens under this bill in such situations, should this bill become a law. I don't know of anything in my career that in my mind will do more to break up homes and increase divorce than the enactment of this law. After next September 1, which is just sixty days away you cannot own a home in Pennsylvania or purchase a home in Pennsylvania in your two names and have the protection that you have today, and I don't care what other lawyers say to the contrary. No one will be able to arrange his estate where you can hold your property in two names, and why in the world we should vote for this change in our fundamental law and create this opportunity of breaking up homes, is beyond me. What happens? You own your home in the two names, and the husband dies, there is no settling up of the estate. What happens if you adopt this piece of legislation? This law says that your property, community property shall be settled like two partners. You and I go out here in the automobile business or the coal distributing business, and we decide to quit our partnership. The law says the partnership shall settle up the estate, and a division of the estate shall be made. Are we going to reduce the state of matrimony to the level of contracts in the case of the death of either party? Do we want to reach that point in civilization in Pennsylvania? I have sat here for a good many days, I have a great deal of respect for the membership of this House, and I certainly hope that it is not my privilege to stay here and listen to the majority of this House saying that my sons and daughters or my grandchildren in the future will be subjected to the inconveniences and hardships which would be imposed upon them by the passage of this bill.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am more inclined to agree with the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane, and under the example given by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that this law would have more of a tendency to prevent divorce than it would to encourage it, for the simple reason that the consequences are more severe, particularly in the case of the one who has only one-half interest in the property. The husband and wife owning the community property, if a divorce is granted and the property is divided, there will be a little more serious attention given to the divorce proceedings and a little bit more anxiety in connection with getting it, because the property will become involved, which makes it just a little bit more serious, in my opinion. I want to say to the gentlemen that if a husband and wife under Section 9 of this act specifically want to set up an estate by entireties under exactly the same situation as exists under the present law, they can do so. If it is an independent tenancy by entireties and not community property, it is divested by reason of the setting up of the tenancy by entireties, and the same proceedings in the state laws applies.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Elk answer this question, say that a man marries a lady or a girl and she has a judgment against her, is the husband responsible for her judgment?

Mr. SORG. He is not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I, as a layman, fear to tread upon legal ground, but I have enough faith in the ability of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, on any bill passed by this House during this whole session, but I am somewhat confused.

As a layman I am not confused by the legal interpretation of this bill upon the floor of the House because I believe that this bill will give the people of Pennsylvania some of the advantages given in the other states, and I believe that we should be put on a par with other states. I am not a tax dodger, but it gives certain privileges to those who are able to get around the law, and they are not compelled by law to pay certain taxes. I like the privilege of figuring my income in the cheapest way I can, and I am going to ask the laymen of this House to vote for this bill and we won't get involved with the lawyers. So I ask the laymen of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I am not on the floor to oppose or support this bill. I would like to ask a question which might be directed to the Majority Leader or you or anyone else who might be able to answer it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Shall I state my question, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. State your question.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, supposing I have acquired some property in my life, part of it before I was married, and the balance after I was married. I have children; we go along for a number of years and you come to the parting of the ways with your wife, and you decide that you would like to have your children have two-thirds at least of your property, you are willing to give your wife the rest, and you are willing to step out. Can you do that or can't you?

The SPEAKER. The Chair yields to his attorney.

Mr. SORG. Yes, Mr. Speaker, Section 9 of the act specifically provides that either husband or wife can convey to the other the estate in any manner.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, supposing that instead of the troubles that you run into, you are not feeling so well and you go to a doctor and say, "I am sick," and the doctor says, "I am sorry, you will probably live two weeks," and you decide to make a will. You feel while your wife was unfaithful with you, you have considerable property and you know that one-third of your property will take care of her amply for the rest of her life, and you would like to leave two-thirds to your children, can you do that?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, with reference to the community property at least acquired after the marriage, it must be divided equally unless a conveyance were made prior to the death. It could not be done by will.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, could you convey it before death without the consent of the wife, two-thirds to the children and one-third to her?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, you could not without the consent of the wife convey two-thirds, neither one can.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader another question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, I am not clear. I want to be clear, —before interrogation, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say unless something has happened in the last ten days my questions will not be pertaining to divorce. I think I am in pretty good shape. I am not thinking of death right now. Would it be possible under the present law, using my example a few moments ago of a man leaving sixty thousand dollars in cash, would it be possible to leave twenty thousand dollars to each child, and twenty thousand dollars to his wife under the present law?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, that would be possible with the exception of the amount known as widow's exemption.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, would it be possible under this act to leave one-third to each?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it would be possible to leave only one-half to the children.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, could you leave all of the one-half, or the thirty thousand dollars, to the children, or would you have to leave under this act thirty thousand dollars to the wife and one-third of the remaining to each child?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding, and I have made specific inquiry in discussing that situation, if the community property consists of sixty thousand dollars, the thirty thousand dollars remaining after the undivided one-half interest of the widow, would be entirely at the disposal of the decedent in whatever manner he may see fit, because he will have acquired an interest under this act by reason of the community property estate.

Mr. LAUGHNER. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, is it possible, as suggested by the Minority Floor Leader, for those of us who do not understand the bill before us to vote "present?"

The SPEAKER. It is not possible to vote "present." The Constitution requires a yea and nay vote.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the Chair rule that by consent of the House a Member cannot be permitted to vote "present?" I think, Mr. Speaker, that the House can place a Member in contempt for refusing to vote, but I suggest to the Chair that the House can by consent permit a Member to vote "present."

The SPEAKER. The Chair might state that answering "present" is not a vote, and therefore he could not be recorded as voting in response to his name. It is not a vote and therefore he could not be recorded on the roll as voting if he answers "present" to his name.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the record show the names of those who are recorded as not voting? We have or we did have at the last session a situation where we listed those not voting.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might state to the gentleman that those recorded as not voting are those who are not present in the hall of the House at the time the roll is called.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is right, Mr. Speaker, and I suggest to the Speaker the practical and technical effect of voting "present." I also suggest to the Speaker that the force of the rule regarding voting "present" is to enable the House to compel the presence of a quorum. If voting "present" did not prevent a quorum on a bill, then it will be necessary for the House to compel the Members to vote, so that the record would show the presence of the quorum, but no rule prohibits by permission of the House the voting of "present," when a quorum is present.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will again state to the gentleman that the rule of the House requires a Member of the House to vote for or against a bill.

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, how would this bill affect insurance policies of two types, one in which there is a specific beneficiary named, and one which would be payable to a man's estate—

Mr. SORG. Who is the insured, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, the husband being the insured, and dies, and has two types of insurance policies, one payable to his estate, and the other has a specific beneficiary, say his wife or one of his children or a relative.

Mr. SORG. Is it a life insurance policy that the gentleman is referring to, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. RICHTER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, this bill would not affect the disposition of the principal of the insurance at all by reason of the fact that he will have been deceased, and the marital status will not exist at the time the contract takes effect.

Mr. RICHTER. Say that I have an insurance policy payable to my estate, Mr. Speaker, and the premiums on that policy have been paid from what might be called my half of the money coming in. If that money was payable to the estate upon my death would the wife automatically receive one-half of that money or could that be disposed of by will or trust?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it could be disposed of by will. It would not be affected by this act.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, by the passage of this act, I would say that it would help only the lawyer, and I as a lawyer, of course, will welcome the passage of this bill so far as that is concerned, but God spare the laymen.

Mr. LOVETT. Now, members if you want to go home, go ahead, we have been here a long time, and there is no hurry now; let's be fair about it. Mr. Speaker, you have heard now from all the attorneys and from the rank and file, I wonder,—if you took a vote of the people of Pennsylvania, I am afraid that this bill would be doomed. All I want to ask for, Mr. Speaker, is that we have a very quiet House, and that the members will answer to their names, and only those in the House who vote be recorded.

The SPEAKER. Only those answering to their names will be recorded.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I beg the indulgence of the House. This is a most important piece of legislation. You have been indulgent, but to those of us who have such misapprehension about this bill, there are just one or two questions that should not be allowed to go on the record unchallenged as they are now.

The gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, as I understood him, asked the question, could a married man having property in his own name make a deed to his children. Under the law now a man can make a deed to his children, if his wife joins in that deed. If this bill becomes law and if it is community property, such as property acquired by him after the marriage, he cannot make a deed to his children, even if his wife wishes to join with him, because under Section 9 the only right to convey, and I quote Section 9: "The husband may give, grant, bargain, sell or convey directly to his wife," it doesn't say anything about children, "and a wife may give, grant, bargain, sell or convey directly to her husband his or her community property in esse." Now, we are doing this thing hurriedly and we are anxious to get home. I have been here as long as anybody else and I am anxious to get home, but I am not anxious to put this fraud out upon the people of this Commonwealth until we have exhausted all reasonable means to show to the people that this is a scheme to dodge income taxes, where we are going to tear down the whole House in order to get the stove out.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is in grave error when he says that under this bill the husband and wife cannot convey property that they own as community property, not only to their children but to anybody they want. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, it is not so much a tax deduction or a tax dodging bill. I read in the papers yesterday that a tax reduction measure for the people generally was vetoed. Here we have an opportunity to give at least married people among the people an opportunity to avail themselves of some assistance to accomplish that result.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Lovett, Weiss and Mills.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 860, as follows:

An Act to make unlawful the possession of untaxed or unstamped cigarettes and providing for summary conviction and penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whosoever not being an officer agent or employe of a commissary ship's store or voluntary unincorporated organization of the Army or the Navy personnel operating under regulations promulgated by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy or not being a duly licensed dealer under the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 341) as re-enacted and amended known as the Cigarette Tax Act and entitled "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale making an appropriation and providing penalties" shall have in his possession two hundred (200) or more cigarettes upon which State Cigarette Tax has not been paid or to the containers of which Pennsylvania cigarette tax stamps are not affixed in the amount required by law shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and costs of prosecution for each two hundred (200) cigarettes found in his possession the cigarettes shall be forfeited to the Commonwealth and in default of the payment of the said fine and costs he shall be imprisoned in the county jail one (1) day for each dollar of fine and costs unpaid

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, this bill would make it a crime to have in your possession two hundred untaxed cigarettes, that is a carton of cigarettes, and the penalty provided is a twenty-five dollar fine and a day in jail for each portion of the fine unpaid.

When the tax bills were before us I predicted that the people of Pennsylvania, rather than pay this unfair and inequitable tax, would go outside the Senate of Pennsylvania to the State of New Jersey and the State of Maryland to buy their cigarettes so that they could have approximately sixty cents on a carton of cigarettes. In reply to my prediction the Majority Floor Leader said that I had no faith in the people of Pennsylvania, that the people of Pennsylvania would not go out of the State to buy their cigarettes, and being good Pennsylvanians they would buy them in the State Pennsylvania.

Now, what happened after that? Immediately all of the newspapers in Pennsylvania carry advertisements that you can buy your cigarettes in the State of New Jersey by mail at one dollar and twenty-six cents a carton, saving approximately sixty cents a carton. These ads have appeared in practically every newspaper in Pennsylvania, and today I saw an ad in one of the Pennsylvania newspapers, and also there was a radio program on the air telling the people of Pennsylvania that they could buy cigarettes in the State of New Jersey and save sixty cents a carton.

What did these people in whom the Majority Floor Leader had great faith do? They went across the bridge into Camden, New Jersey, and all the gasoline stations just on the other side of the river from Philadelphia went into the cigarette business. They found that the business was so profitable that they established the gasoline business as a mere side line. So what did the administration do? Realizing full well that my prediction would come true, and realizing that the yield on the cigarette tax would be substantially reduced, they introduced this bill in the Senate. In addition thereto they provided in the Criminal Code a section so that if a person went to Camden and bought a carton of cigarettes he would be committing a crime and he would be subject to a fine, and the inability to pay the fine would result in a jail sentence.

I say to you that this crime is a very minor crime, and that already the cigarette dealers in New Jersey have a way of getting around our tax bill. They are going to provide for the people of Pennsylvania one hundred and ninety-nine cigarettes in a carton, so that when you go to Camden and you buy one hundred ninety-nine cigarettes you can go over the bridge with this illegal carton. Then we have certain people who go to Camden and buy a carton of cigarettes and smoke one of them and bring the other hundred ninety-nine home.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the Department of Revenue, realizing what they are up against, has introduced a companion bill to 860, that is 861, which provides that the State Police may make search of any conveyance or vehicle without warrant. So, you can see, Members of the House, what I predicted when these tax bills were passed, that the people would go out of the state, they did go out of the state, and I say to you that this tax, being so high and unfair, will result in a loss to the Commonwealth of ten million dollars, and if the cigarette tax law is held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, we will be back here in a special session to correct these defects.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 860 must be read in connection with the bill that passed this House the other day, I believe, under a misapprehension. The bill that went to the Senate provided for a search without warrant. Under the provisions of the bill that we sent to the Senate, as I say, under the impression that the bill did not do what it said it did, we enacted a measure which would authorize the State Police to enter your home at any time with out warrant for the purpose of searching for contraband. Of course, what they will be searching for will be cigarettes, and I am submitting to the Members of this House, and I am submitting to the Majority Leader the contention that to cover up House Bill 860, that a measure authorizing the searching of homes without warrant is an obnoxious procedure, and that therefore, in view of the fact that the search without warrant measure has passed, the only way we can remove the desires to make the search is to defeat Senate Bill 860, because if we defeat this bill then there would be no reason why the State Police will have any reason at any time of the day or night without warrant to enter your home.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to support this measure. It is simply a measure directed against the bootlegging of cigarettes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are not Senate Bills 860 and 861 part of a series?

Mr. SORG. They are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does not Senate Bill 861 authorize search without a warrant?

Mr. SORG. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does not the Majority Leader agree, Mr. Speaker, that at least some of the Members of the House passed upon Senate Bill 861 under a misapprehension?

Mr. SORG. I do so agree, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the Majority Leader submit to this House the contention, or rather the assertion, that he will defend a search-without-warrant measure?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I believe that had Senate Bill 861 come to a debate on the floor of the House, and in that bill it provided a similar procedure to that provided for the enforcement of our liquor tax revenue laws, that I would have taken that stand.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

There you have it. Two hundred cigarettes mark you as a law breaker, and as a law breaker and having two hundred cigarettes in your possession that do not have the stamps on, the State Police can come at 3 or 4 o'clock or 5 o'clock in the morning, rap on your door and enter your house and search from cellar to garret to find two hundred cigarettes, simply on the mere suspicion that you might have two hundred cigarettes.

And the officer with whom the same is filed shall forthwith send one of said copies of such affidavit to the county commissioners or the board for the assessment and revision of taxes as the case may be whose duty it shall then be to proceed as hereinbefore directed for the assessment and recovery of the taxes due from such decedent to the said counties or cities coextensive therewith with interest as above provided and for that purpose to present a claim therefor to the orphans' court of the proper county or to proceed by action or suit at law in any court of competent jurisdiction for such recovery thereof or to take any or all appropriate steps or procedure for the collection of said taxes.

And provided further That it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or board of revision of taxes upon their making any assessment or reassessment where no return has been made or an incorrect inaccurate false or incomplete return has been made as aforesaid to give notice thereof to the taxable or his or her executor or administrator of the assessment and when they will sit to hear an appeal therefrom.

Section 5 If any taxable resident shall fail to file a return or fail to include in any return all of his property made taxable by this act or shall file a return which is false incomplete incorrect or inaccurate the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners shall make an assessment of tax against such resident of the amount of tax for which such resident is liable or for which he is believed by the board of revision or county commissioners to be liable to which estimated return the board of revision of taxes or county commissioners shall add twelve per cent and the aggregate amount so obtained shall be the basis for taxation.

The board of revision or the proper county commissioners shall notify by mail such resident of the estimated assessment. If such resident is dissatisfied with the assessment so made he may on or before the day fixed for appeals from assessments present reasons supported by oath or affirmation for his failure to file a return to include all of his taxable property therein or for having made a return which was incomplete incorrect or inaccurate and the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners as the case may be may if satisfied with the excuse so presented permit the taxpayer to file his own return and substitute said return for the estimated return made by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners. In all cases where a false return has been filed by the taxpayer the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners may not relieve the taxpayer from the payment of the twelve per cent penalty but the estimated return shall be final except in those cases in which a true and correct return shall reveal a higher assessed value than that contained in the estimated return in which case the tax and penalty shall be based upon the true valuation.

An assessment as herein provided may be made by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners at any time within five years after any property owned held or possessed or alleged to have been so owned held or possessed by any resident should have been returned by him for taxation notwithstanding he shall have paid a tax assessed on the basis of returns previously made or filed and notwithstanding the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners shall have made previous assessments against such resident. In any such case no credit shall be given for any penalty formerly assessed and paid.

Section 3 The said act is hereby amended by adding thereto after section five thereof certain new sections to read as follows:

Section 5.1 (a) Any resident against whom an assessment is made may petition the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners for a reassessment. Notice of an intention to file such a petition or to appear and be heard shall be given to the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners within thirty (30) days after notice of such assessment is given or sent by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners to the taxpayers as provided in this act. The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners shall hold such hearings as may be necessary to hear and determine petitions for reassessment at such places and at such times as may be determined by rules and regulations of the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners and each petitioner who has duly notified the board of revision or the county commissioners of an intention to file a petition for reassessment or to appear and be heard shall be notified by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners of the time when and the place where such hearings shall be held. All such petitions shall set forth specifically and in detail the ground upon which it is claimed the assessment is erroneous or unlawful and shall be accompanied by an affidavit under oath or affirmation certifying to the correctness of the facts stated therein. If no petition for reassessment is filed with the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners the petitioner may in lieu thereof appear at the hearing and present his petition orally in which event all testimony or statements of fact shall be made under oath or affirmation.

(b) If such petitioner is dissatisfied with the action of the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners on his petition for reassessment he shall have the right to appeal to the court of common pleas of the county where he resides at any time within sixty (60) days after notice of such action is given to him by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners. If any resident shall fail to give due notice of an intention to petition for reassessment and to file a petition for reassessment or to appear and be heard after due notice of his intention to do so or to appeal to the court of common pleas within the time and in the manner herein set forth the right to do so shall be forever barred and any such resident so failing shall not thereafter be permitted in a suit for the recovery of such tax to set up any ground of defense which might have been determined either by the board of revision of taxes or county commissioners or the court of common pleas as aforesaid. In all cases of petitions for reassessment and appeals the burden of proof shall be on the petitioner or appellant as the case may be and every appeal to the court of common pleas under this section shall specify all the objections to the assessment and any objection not specified in the appeal shall not be considered by the court.

Section 5.2 The executor of every will and the administrator of every estate shall file with the register of wills or clerk of the orphans' court an additional copy of the inventory and appraisal of such estate. The register or clerk with whom the same is filed shall forthwith send a copy of said inventory and appraisal to the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners as the case may be whose duty it shall then be to proceed to assess and collect the taxes due from such decedent. Such assessment shall include all property owned held or possessed by the decedent which should have been returned by him for taxation for any former year or years not exceeding five years. In any case where a false incomplete incorrect or inaccurate return has been previously filed the board of revision or the county commissioners shall make an additional assessment for the five years immediately preceding the year of assessment in the same manner and form provided in this act. The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners may proceed to collect the said tax by presenting a claim therefor to the orphans' court of the proper county or may proceed by action or suit at law in any court of competent jurisdiction or take any and all other appropriate steps or procedure for the collection of such taxes.

Section 5.3 (a) The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of tax penalties and interest imposed by this act.

(b) The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners or any employee authorized by them in writing is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records of any resident in order to verify the accuracy of any return made or if no return was made to ascertain and assess the tax imposed by this act. Every such resident is hereby directed and required to give to the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners or their duly authorized employees the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized. The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners are hereby authorized to examine any person under oath concerning any property which was or should have been returned for taxation and to this end may compel the production of books papers and records and the attendance of all persons whether as parties or witnesses who they believe have knowledge of such property. In the event of the refusal of any taxpayer to permit the examination of his books and records or upon his refusal to appear before the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners or to testify or in the event of his refusal to produce books papers and records which the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners have directed to be produced the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners may have recourse to the court of common pleas of said county which court shall upon cause shown direct the attendance of witnesses and the production of books papers and records. Any information gained by the board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners as a result of any returns investigations hearings or verifications required or authorized by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person or agent divulging such information shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to undergo imprisonment for not more than three (3) years or both in the discretion of the court.

(c) The powers conferred by this act upon the board of revision of taxes and the county commissioners relating to the administration and enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the said board or county commissioners by law.

Section 4 Section sixteen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 16 [That the tax upon personal property imposed by the first section of this act shall be collected by distraint or otherwise as other taxes for county purposes or in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes are collected under the laws of this Commonwealth. Provided however That no tax by said first section imposed shall be collectible or collected for the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen it being intended that the tax upon such personal property for said year shall be collected by and for the State under existing legislation.]

Section 16(a) The tax imposed by this act shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum until paid.

(b) The board of revision of taxes or the county commissioners may at any time transmit to the prothonotary of their respective counties certified record of taxes imposed under this act and the penalties and interest thereon. The record so transmitted shall contain the name of the taxpayer his address amount of tax penalty and interest due and the year for which said tax has been assessed and levied and it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to enter and docket the same of record in the prothonotary's office in a docket which shall be designated "Personal Property Tax Lien Docket" and such tax lien shall be indexed as judgments are now indexed. All taxes imposed under this act together with penalties and interest thereon shall be a lien on the real estate of taxpayer within the county until paid after the same shall have been entered and docketed of record by the prothonotary. All such liens shall have priority to and be fully paid and satisfied out of the proceeds of any judicial sale of said real estate before any other obligation judgment claim lien or estate with which the said real estate may become charged or for which it may become liable save and except only the costs of the sale and of the writ upon which it is made and the real estate taxes imposed or assessed upon said property. The lien of said tax shall continue for a period of five years from the date of entry and may be revived and continued in the manner now or hereafter provided for revival of judgment and it shall be lawful for a writ of scire facias to issue and be prosecuted to judgment in the manner in which such writs are now ordinarily employed.

(c) Claims for taxes due under this act may be collected by action in assumpsit brought by the county against the taxpayer or may be presented at the audit of any estate in the orphans' court.

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I understand you are on the conference report on Senate Bill 689, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the conference report on page 2, purported to be signed by the committee on the part of the House, contains the names Fleming, Haller and Berger. It should be Messrs. Fleming, Haller and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barrett. I wish the record to be corrected and to so state.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman for the correction. The record will distinctly show the correct names of the committee on conference.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 707

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 707, Printer's No. 622.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 707, entitled: "An Act relating to boarding houses for children providing for the licensing and inspection thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare defining offenses and prescribing penalties"

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

CHARLES R. MALLERY,
JAMES S. BERGER,
LOUIS KLEIN,
(Committee on the Part of the Senate)
JOHN C. WALTON,
GEORGE D. STUART,
ROBERTS WHEELER, Jr.,
(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act relating to boarding houses for children providing for the licensing and inspection thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare defining offenses and prescribing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Definition Exclusions The term "boarding house for children" as used in this act shall mean any place maintained operated and conducted for hire gain or reward for the reception of more than two children between the ages of three and sixteen years of age who are unaccompanied by parent or guardian for the purpose of providing such children with full time care food and lodging The term "boarding house for children" shall not be construed to include (1) institutions maintained by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof (2) institutions boarding houses foster homes or any other places for the care of children to which the several courts of the Commonwealth or the county institution districts shall send children (3) Any place conducted by or in which children may be placed by institutions and social agencies duly incorporated as nonprofit corporations whose corporate purposes include the placement and care of children (4) Any bona fide nonprofit educational institution whether incorporated or not (5) any place conducted by a person or persons related to the children received herein by blood or marriage within the second degree (6) vacation boarding houses or vacation camps caring for children for a period of time not to exceed ninety (90) consecutive days or (7) any place selected by a parent for the temporary care of his children gratuitously or for pay during his absence or (8) places licensed under any other law of this Commonwealth

The word "department" as used in this act shall mean the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth

Section 2 Maintenance Without License Prohibited No person or persons not expressly exempted as above provided shall maintain operate or conduct any boarding house for children without having a license therefor issued by the Department of Welfare

Section 3 Application for License Any person or persons desiring to secure a license for maintaining operating and conducting a boarding house for children shall make application therefor to the department upon forms to be prepared and furnished by the department

Section 4 Issuance of License The department when satisfied that the applicant or applicants for such license are proper persons that the place propose d to be used as a boarding house for children is a fit and suitable place for such purpose and that all the requirements of this act and the rules and the regulations of the department promulgated hereunder have been complied with shall issue such license without cost and shall keep a record thereof and of the application therefor

Section 5 Term and Contents of Licenses All licenses issued by the department shall be for a period of not more than one year The license shall state the name of the licensee or licensees the particular premises where such boarding house may be maintained operated and conducted and the maximum number of children which may be boarded therein at one time Applications for renewal of licenses shall be made in the same manner and shall be subject to the same qualifications as applications for original licensures No fee shall be charged for such renewals

Section 6 Number of Children to be Kept Posting License No greater number of children than is authorized by the license therefor shall be kept at any one time in any boarding house for children The license shall at all times be posted in a conspicuous place on the premises where such boarding house for children is maintained

Section 7 Records to be kept by Licensees Every person licensed to maintain operate and conduct a boarding house for children shall keep a record in duplicate of every child received the date of its reception the name and address of the person from whom received the date of its discharge and the name and address of the person institution court or agency to whom delivered or discharged The Department shall prescribe and furnish forms for such records together with such instructions as may be required to secure the complete detailed registration of all children received by such boarding houses or released therefrom One copy of each record shall be retained by the licensee The other shall be forwarded to the department within a period of thirty days after each child is received in or discharged from the boarding house for children

Section 8 Department to Adopt Rules and Regulations The department is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this act for the issuance and renewal of such licenses and the proper maintenance operation and conduct of such licensed boarding houses for children and for the effective enforcement thereof Such rules and regulations shall be designed to insure normal lives for all children maintained in boarding houses for children

Section 9 Right to Enter and Inspect the Premises Any employe or authorized agent of the department the health authorities in cities of the first and second class shall have the right to enter visit and inspect all boarding houses for children licensed or requiring a license under this act for the purpose of determining the suitability of the applicants or licensees and the premises for a license or to determine whether they are properly conducted and that the children therein are being properly treated cared for and maintained

Section 10 Suspension of License Whenever the department finds that any boarding house for children licensed under this act is not properly maintained operated and conducted or that the children therein have been subjected to mistreatment or abuse it shall suspend the license of such boarding house and shall note such suspension upon the face of the record thereof and shall give written notice of such suspension to the licensee or licensees by delivering the notice to him or them in person or by registered mail or by leaving it with an adult person residing on the licensed premises Whenever any license is suspended by the department the written notice of suspension shall specify the reason for such suspension and shall direct the licensee to correct or remedy the causes of the suspension within a period of time to be specified in the notice

Section 11 Revocation of License If at the end of the period of suspension or such further time as the department in its discretion may grant the cause or causes have not been remedied or corrected the department shall petition the juvenile court or court having similar jurisdiction of the county wherein such boarding house for children is located to revoke the license and to direct the disposition of the children maintained therein If after hearing at least ten days' notice of which shall be given to the licensee the court is satisfied that the licensed place is not properly conducted or that the children therein are not properly treated cared for or maintained it shall enter a decree revoking the license granted by the department and directing the disposition of the children maintained therein

ment agencies Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to interfere with the discretion of the several courts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or of any of the existing child placement agencies of this Commonwealth to place any child in any institution boarding house for children foster home or other place for the care of children

Section 13 Offenses Penalty Any person who operates a boarding house for children without having obtained a license within thirty days after being notified by the department so to do or who operates a boarding house for children after his license has been revoked shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) or undergo imprisonment not exceeding six months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 14 Effective Date This act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 814

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 814, Printer's No. 621.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 814, entitled: "An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled 'An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities' by removing certain restrictions for a limited period of time as to the licensing of veterans' organizations."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

FRED P. HARE, JR.,
FRASER P. DONLAN,
BURTON E. TARR,
(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

BAKER ROYER,
JOHN J. VAUGHAN,

(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities" by removing certain restrictions for a limited period of time as to the licensing of veterans' organizations

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 No licenses shall hereafter be granted by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages or the retail sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages in excess of one of such licenses of any class for each one thousand inhabitants or fraction thereof in any municipality exclusive of licenses granted to hotels as defined in this act and clubs but at least one such license may be granted in each municipality except in municipalities where the electors have voted against the granting of any retail licenses Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as denying the right to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew or to transfer existing retail licenses of any class notwithstanding that the number of such licensed places in a municipality shall exceed the limitation hereinbefore prescribed but where such number exceeds the limitation prescribed by this act no new license except for hotels as defined in this act and veterans' clubs as hereinafter provided shall be granted so long as said limitation is exceeded Any branch post camp or chapter of a veterans' organization nationally organized and also recognized by The United States Government or any agency thereof or any incorporated home association of such branch post camp or chapter whose active and voting membership is the same as such branch post camp or chapter which files a proper application with the required fees and bond within eighteen months after the effective date of this act may be licensed any time after its incorporation whether or not it shall have been in existence and operation for a period of one year

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

HOUSE BILL No. 35 AND COMMUNICATION
TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 35, together with the communication from the Governor, be taken from the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this motion is not debatable. All I want to do is to inform the Membership of the House that they understand that this is House Bill No. 35, the bill which destroys the safety and health conditions of laboring women in Pennsylvania and lowers the standards. I just want the House to remember that that is what they are voting on, and I would ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. Lovett, Chervenak and Weiss and were as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 7, 1947.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 35, Printer's No. 442, for further consideration.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

JAMES H. DUFF.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE BILL No. 35 RETURNED TO GOVERNOR
WITHOUT AMENDMENT

Mr. SORG on behalf of the sponsor offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 16, 1947.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That House Bill No. 35, Printer's No. 442, entitled "An act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 1024), entitled 'An act to protect the public health and welfare, by regulating the employment of females in certain establishments, with respect to their hours of labor and the conditions of their employment; by establishing certain sanitary regulations in the establishments in which they work; by requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted; by providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry and others; by prescribing penalties for violations thereof; by defining the procedure in prosecutions; and by repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions thereof,' changing hours of labor and restrictions relative to age in certain employments and extending provisions to include additional persons," be returned to the Governor without amendment.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, there was some reason why our Honorable Governor returned House Bill No. 35 to the House. I find that there may be a possibility that the Governor wanted to amend House Bill 35 and take out some of the bad features. But on the action of the Majority Floor Leader, I suppose that is not true, because, now we are going to return, or we are being asked to vote to return House Bill 35 to the Governor as he returned it to us.

House Bill 35 was a bad bill, and that is the reason why the Governor returned it. A lot of the Members of this House voted against House Bill 35 at the time it passed this House, and at that time there was some hope at least that House Bill 195 in its original form, introduced in this House, was being considered as a companion bill to House Bill 35.

Now, my friend Mrs. Dye, who is the sponsor of House Bill 195 and House Bill 35, if I am correct in that statement, was very sincere in trying to do something for the working woman of Pennsylvania. She was very sincere as far as House Bill 195 was concerned. She felt that any damage that would be done under House Bill 35 House Bill 195 would certainly make up for it. But my good friend Mrs. Dye has the heart of a woman, and she was very sincere on House Bill 195, but the wolves got after Mrs. Dye, and the Manufacturers' Association and a few more of the blue pencil boys have done a lot of tricks to this bill. They emasculated it. Of course, I felt sorry for my lady friend, Mrs. Dye, when they treated her like that on a bill which she was really and truly so interested in having passed in the interest of the women of Pennsylvania. I feel that she was really sincere and wanted to pass a good bill in the interest of the women of Pennsylvania, but I am awfully sorry that they treated her like that. I wouldn't have done it; I would have been much fairer, much nicer in my actions on House Bill 195. I would have let the lady have the bill that she introduced to protect and help the working women of Pennsylvania, and I am awfully sorry that that happened.

Now, there is only one way in which I can help Mrs. Dye at this particular time, that is if I could get this House of Representatives to refuse to return the other section which was the head-on engine at the beginning and now is the caboose. If we could just cut off this caboose now, and not send it back to the Governor, at least I think that we would have then accomplished something because at least we would have Bill 195 of Mrs Dye over on the Governor's desk for his signature, which I admitted the other day gets the toe in the door and maybe at some other session of the legislature we can really give something to the working women of Pennsylvania in regard to equal pay for equal work.

For that reason and that reason alone I am going to ask the Members of this House to help Mrs. Dye now when she really needs help, because this would be really a plug to give her assistance, and if we killed off House Bill 35 she really could go back to the women of Pennsylvania and say, "Well, I really got my foot in the door and I didn't do any harm." But if you get House Bill 35 I am afraid that the women of Pennsylvania, rather than getting any further consideration, will be deprived of a lot of safeguards that we placed around women in Pennsylvania industry. We even went so far in House Bill 5 to make the Department of Labor hold a hearing before they could say that any particular work done by the women in that particular plant was unfit for women. Do you understand what that means? You say to the Department of Labor and Industry you do not have the right to say to a corporation or anybody else in this state that the conditions are unfit for female labor unless they hold a hearing first.

So, my friends, I am sincere and I hope this House will not vote to return House Bill 35 to the Governor, and we will take the Governor off the spot too.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to say that House Bill 35, if enacted into law, will turn the clocks of Pennsylvania back twenty years so far as working conditions for women are concerned, and I want to repeat with all sincerity the thing I said two months ago, when this bill was defeated, that if it becomes law it will come back to haunt us.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

CLARENCE D. BECKER,

JOHN W. LORD, Jr.,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

HERBERT P. SORG,

CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr.,

JAMES E. LOVETT,

(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act defining and regulating certain installment sales of motor vehicles prescribing the conditions under which such sales may be made and regulating the financing thereof regulating and licensing persons engaged in the business of making or financing such sales prescribing the form contents and effect of instruments used in connection with such sales and the financing thereof prescribing certain rights and obligations of buyers sellers persons financing such sales and others limiting incidental charges in connection with such instruments and fixing maximum interest rates for delinquencies extensions and loans regulating insurance in connection with such sales regulating repossessions redemptions resales and deficiency judgments and the rights of parties with respect thereto authorizing extensions loans and forbearances related to such sales authorizing investigations and examinations of persons engaged in the business of making or financing such sales prescribing penalties and repealing certain acts

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be shown and may be cited as the "Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act"

Section 2 Findings and Declarations of Policy It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of legislative finding

(a) That an exhaustive study by the Joint State Government Commission discloses nefarious unscrupulous and improper practices in the financing of the sale of motor vehicles in this Commonwealth which are unjustifiably detrimental to the consumer and inimical to the public welfare Such practices prevail not only among some sellers but also among some sales finance companies and some banks which acquire contracts arising out of installment sales of motor vehicles and which frequently influence the credit policies of sellers

(b) That the agreement for the installment sale of motor vehicles in this Commonwealth has been generally cast in the form of the so-called "Pennsylvania Bailment Lease" contract in which the seller is technically the lessor and the buyer is technically the lessee. By the use of this fictional instrument in the installment sale of motor vehicles the extension of credit to the purchaser has been so inextricably entwined with the alleged bailment of the motor vehicle as to deprive the consumer of the benefit of existing laws.

(c) That consumers because of these legal technicalities and because of their unequal bargaining position are at the mercy of unscrupulous persons and are being intolerably exploited in the installment purchase of motor vehicles. Such exploitation is evident in the unfair provisions of the installment sale contract exorbitant charges for credit extortionate default extension collection repossession and other charges unconscionable practices respecting execution of contracts refinancing of contracts prepayment refunds insurance repossession and redemption.

(d) That practices enumerated and others equally pernicious have existed to such an extent that regulation of the installment selling of motor vehicles is necessary to the adequate protection of the public interest. Adequate regulation of installment selling must include control of the functions of selling and financing of motor vehicles whether exercised by the same or by different persons.

Therefore it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to promote the welfare of its inhabitants and to protect its citizens from abuses presently existing in the installment sale of motor vehicles and to that end exercise the police power of the Commonwealth to bring under the supervision of the Commonwealth all persons engaged in the business of extending consumer credit in conjunction with the installment sale of motor vehicles to establish a system of regulation for the purpose of insuring honest and efficient consumer credit service for installment purchasers of motor vehicles and to provide the administrative machinery necessary for effective enforcement.

Section 16 Transfer of Installment Sale Contract

A The seller of a motor vehicle under an installment sale contract executed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall not sell transfer or assign the obligation represented by such contract to any person in Pennsylvania or elsewhere who is not licensed as a sales finance company pursuant to the provisions of this act

B A sales finance company licensed pursuant to the provisions of this act shall not sell transfer or assign the obligation represented by a motor vehicle installment sale contract executed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which it has lawfully acquired to any other person in Pennsylvania or elsewhere who is not licensed as a sales finance company pursuant to the provisions of this act

C Whenever an installment sale contract is lawfully sold transferred or assigned to a person who is licensed as a sales finance company pursuant to the provisions of this act such new holder shall furnish to the buyer in such contract a written notice of such sale transfer or assignment excepting when assignment is made only to secure a bona fide commercial loan Such notice shall set forth the name and address of the new holder and shall notify the buyer of the name and address of the person authorized to receive future payments on such contract If such notice has not been given any payment or tender of payment made to and any service of notice on the last known holder by the buyer shall be binding upon any subsequent holder

D The provisions of this section shall not apply to an assignment of an aggregation of installment sale contract which is executed by a seller or sales finance company only as collateral security for a bona fide commercial loan obtained at lawful rates of interest from a person regularly engaged in the business of lending money on the security of such assigned collateral and under which in the absence of default or other bona fide breach of the loan contract ownership of the assigned contracts remains vested in the assignor and collection of payments on such assigned contracts is made by the assignor and provided such assignment and loan contracts are not for the purpose of evading or circumventing the provisions of this act

Section 17 Insurance

A buyer of a motor vehicle under an installment sale contract may be required to provide insurance on such motor vehicle at the buyer's expense for the protection of the seller or subsequent holder Such insurance shall be limited to insurance against substantial risk of damage destruction or theft of such motor vehicle provided however the foregoing shall not interfere with the liberty of contract of the buyer and seller to contract for other or additional insurance as security for or by reason of the obligation of the buyer and inclusion of the cost of such insurance premium in the principal amount advanced under the installment sale contract Such insurance shall be written for the dual protection of the buyer and of the seller or subsequent holder to the extent of his interest in the motor vehicle Such insurance shall be for an amount and period of time and upon terms and conditions which are reasonable and appropriate considering the type and condition of the motor vehicle the amount of the time balance and the schedule of payments in the installment sale contract

B The buyer of a motor vehicle under an installment sale contract shall have the privilege of purchasing such insurance from an agent or broker of his own selection and selecting an insurance company acceptable to the seller provided however the inclusion of the cost of the insurance premium in the installment sale contract when the buyer selects the company agent or broker shall be optional with the seller

C Whenever the seller contracts to purchase at the buyer's expense such insurance on a motor vehicle sold under an installment sale contract such insurance shall be purchased through an agent and/or broker authorized to conduct business in Pennsylvania and such insurance shall be written by an insurance company qualified to do business in Pennsylvania. The status of the buyer and seller or holder as set forth in such insurance contract shall conform to the status of these parties in the installment sale contract. The cost of the premium on such insurance to the buyer shall not be in excess of the amount of the premium which others are required to pay to such insurance company for similar coverage and in no event in excess of rates established in the then current published applicable manual of a recognized standard insurance rating bureau or the rates fixed by authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

D Whenever the seller contracts to purchase at the buyer's expense such insurance on a motor vehicle sold under an installment sale contract a copy of the policy or a certificate of insurance shall be delivered to the buyer within thirty (30) days of the date of the buyer's signing of the installment sale contract

E The insurance policy which is furnished to the buyer when the insurance is placed by the seller or subsequent holder at the buyer's expense shall set forth complete information as to the effective dates amounts of premiums and coverage and shall contain all the terms of the insurance contract. When a certificate of insurance issued under a master policy is furnished to the buyer in lieu of an individual policy such certificate shall set forth all informations as to effective dates amounts of premiums and coverage and shall contain all the terms of the insurance contract embodied in the master policy to the same extent as would appear if an individual policy were issued and shall give due notice that it is not an insurance policy

F When the seller or subsequent holder has placed at the expense of the buyer insurance on a motor vehicle sold under an installment sale contract and the buyer prepays the time balance under the contract prior to the expiration date of the insurance such insurance shall remain in force unless the buyer requests cancellation thereof. The seller or holder shall not cancel the insurance under such circumstances without the buyer's consent nor shall the seller or holder coerce the buyer to cancel the insurance. Unexpired insurance premiums received by the seller or holder resulting from cancellation of insurance which was originally placed at the buyer's expense shall be paid to the buyer or credited to any matured unpaid installments under the contract

G When the seller contracts to purchase insurance at the buyer's expense and such insurance is cancelled by the insurance company prior to expiration the seller or subsequent holder shall place comparable insurance with another insurance company and furnish the buyer with a copy of the insurance policy subject to the same requirements of this act applicable to the original policy. In the event the holder is unable to obtain such insurance in another insurance company he shall immediately notify the buyer who may then obtain such insurance from an insurance company agent or broker of his own selection and the holder shall be liable for any additional costs incurred by the buyer in rewriting such insurance for the unexpired period for which the original insurance was written. The holder under these circumstances shall also be liable to the buyer for any loss suffered by the buyer through negligence on the part of the holder in promptly advising the buyer of his inability to obtain replacement insurance

Section 18 Other Costs Included in Amount Financed

A In addition to the cost of insurance premiums authorized in the preceding section of this act the seller of a motor vehicle under an installment sale contract may require the buyer to pay certain other costs incurred in the sale of a motor vehicle under such contract as follows

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 800

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 800, Printer's No. 975.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 800, entitled: "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the supreme court and superior court."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

LOUIS H. FARRELL,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

HERBERT P. SORG,
HENRY J. PROPERT,

(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of Quarter Sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court

Section 1 The duly constituted authorities of cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class shall have the authority by ordinance or resolution for general revenue purposes to levy assess and collect or provide for the levying assessment and collection of such taxes on persons transactions occupations privileges subjects and personal property within the limits of such political subdivision as it shall determine except that such local authorities shall not have authority by virtue of this act to levy assess and collect or provide for the levying assessment and collection of any tax on a privilege transaction subject occupation or personal property which is now or does hereafter become subject to a state tax or license fee nor have authority to levy assess or collect a tax on the gross

* Section 5 Payment of any tax to any political subdivision pursuant to an ordinance or resolution passed or adopted prior to the effective date of this act shall be credited to and allowed as a deduction from the liability of taxpayers for any like tax respectively on salaries wages commission other compensation or on net profits of business professions or other activities and for any income tax imposed by any other political subdivision of this Commonwealth under the authority of this act

Payment of any tax on salaries wages commissions other compensation or on net profits of businesses professions or other activities to a political subdivision by residents thereof pursuant to an ordinance or resolution passed or adopted under the authority of this act shall be credited to and allowed as a deduction from the liability of such persons for any other like tax respectively on salaries wages commissions other compensation or on net profits of businesses professions or other activities imposed by any other political subdivision of this Commonwealth under the authority of this act

Payment of any tax on income to any political subdivision by residents thereof pursuant to an ordinance or resolution passed or adopted under the authority of this act shall to the extent that such income includes salaries wages commissions other compensation or net profits of businesses professions or other activities but in such proportion as hereinafter set forth be credited to and allowed as a deduction from the liability of such persons for any other tax on salaries wages commissions other compensation or on net profits of businesses professions or other activities imposed by any other political subdivision of this Commonwealth under the authority of this act

Where a credit or a deduction is allowable in any of the several cases hereinabove provided it shall be allowed in proportion to the concurrent periods for which the taxes are imposed by the respective political subdivisions but not in excess of the amount previously paid for a concurrent period

Section 6 Any tax imposed under this act shall not be subject to any limitations under existing laws as to rate or amount

Section 7 Any such political subdivision shall have power to prescribe and enforce penalties for the nonpayment within the time fixed for their payment of taxes imposed under authority of this act and for the violations of the provisions of ordinances or resolutions passed under authority of this act

Section 8 If any section provision or part of this act shall be held unconstitutional such unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity of the remaining sections provisions or parts of this act the legislature hereby declares that it would have passed the remaining sections provisions or parts of this act if it had known that such sections provisions or parts thereof would be declared unconstitutional

Section 9 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for reasons which I have repeatedly stated upon the floor of this House, I am opposed to House Bill No. 800 in its present form. I am not, however, expressing a conviction or a decision arrived at by the minority party caucus; I am only voicing a purely personal stand.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

SENATE BILL No. 569, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eleven of the act, approved the sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861), entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole'; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employees; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor; and for other cognate purposes, and making an appropriation," by increasing the compensation of district supervisors in counties of the first and second class.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading reconsidered in the Senate and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 1 by striking out after the word "amend" the word "section" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "sections five and"; page 2, line 7, by inserting after the word "district" the words "the chairman and the members of the board and of";

Amend section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out after the second word "Section" the word "eleven" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "five"; page 3, by inserting after line 9 the following:

"Section 5 The Chairman of the Board shall receive a salary of (ten) eleven thousand dollars ($10,000) $11,000 per annum and each of the other members of the board shall receive a salary of (nine) ten thousand dollars ($9,000) $10,000 per annum.

Section 2 Section eleven of the said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 767) is hereby further amended to read as follows"

Amend page 4 by striking out all of lines 12 and 13, and inserting in lieu thereof the following"

"Section 3 This Act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

costs shall be payable by the county except where there is a default

(c) Before the bureau makes any transfer of tax claims from the office of the county treasurer and enters the same in the proper dockets the director shall examine such returns and determine in writing those claims if any the liens of which in his opinion have been lost or the returns of which are invalid on their face and which cannot be corrected The director shall file his findings in the office of the bureau and copies thereof shall be furnished to any taxing district having an interest in any claims determined by the director to have been lost or invalid The director shall within ten (10) days after such filing give notice once a week for two (2) consecutive weeks in two (2) newspapers of general circulation if so many are published in the county and in the legal journal if any designated by the court for the publication of legal notices (1) of the date of his filing of such findings (2) where a copy of the findings may be secured and (3) that any taxing district having objection to the findings may file exceptions with the bureau within fifteen (15) days from the date of the filing of the findings If after hearing thereon the exceptions are disallowed by the bureau the taxing district may within fifteen (15) days thereafter appeal by petition to the court of common pleas specifically setting forth the findings to which objection is made the reasons therefor and the refusal of the bureau to sustain their exceptions Upon the filing of the petition in open court the court shall order the petition and the findings of the director and any other petitions filed docketed to the same number and shall fix a day for hearing the petitions of which such notice shall be given to all parties interested as the court may direct After hearing the court shall enter its order either affirming modifying or reversing the findings of the director as to it shall appear just and proper The claims held lost or invalid by the findings of the director where there has been no appeal or after affirmation or modification of such findings by the court or in the opinion of the court reversing the findings of the director shall not thereafter be further proceeded with The decisions of the court shall be final

(d) Not later than the thirtieth day of June each year the bureau shall make up from the tax returns received from the taxing districts as aforesaid a claim for each property returned which shall contain the unpaid taxes against such property which are due all taxing districts as found in the various returns Such claims shall be entered by the bureau in a suitable claim docket and may be in the form of written or typewritten lists A claim shall cover the unpaid taxes due all taxing districts but the amount due each taxing district shall nevertheless be shown separately A number of years' taxes of different kinds may be included in one claim Any claim shall be amendable by leave of the bureau upon notice to the defendant as the bureau may require

Section 308 Notice of Filing of Returns and Entry of Claim

(a) Not later than the thirtieth day of June of each year the bureau shall give notice of the return of said taxes and the entry of such claim to each delinquent taxable by United States registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid addressed to the owner at his last known post office address If no post office address of the owner is known or if a notice mailed to an owner at such last known post office address is not delivered to him by the postal authorities then notice as herein provided shall immediately be posted on the property affected Each mail and posted notice shall (1) show all the information shown on the claim entered (2) state that if payment of the amount due the several taxing districts for said taxes is not made to the county treasurer on or before the thirty-first day of December next following or no exceptions thereto filed the said claim shall become absolute (3) state that on July first of the year in which such notice is given the one (1) year period of redemption shall commence to run and that if redemption is not made during that period as provided by this act the property shall be sold at judicial sale and there shall be no further redemption after such sale

(b) In the case of claims for taxes heretofore filed in the office of the prothonotary which have not been heretofore reduced to judgment where the lien of such claim has not been lost the respective taxing districts shall return to the bureau on or before the first Monday of May one thousand nine hundred forty-eight a complete list of such claims and the properties against which the same are filed and the bureau shall give such owners the same notice as above provided

(c) Notice given in the manner provided by this section shall constitute proper service on the owner A statement in the claim entered that due notice of the same was given shall be conclusive evidence that notice was given as required by law

(d) The costs of such mail and posted notices shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings and shall be paid by the owner the same as other costs

Section 309 Contents of Claims Entered All claims for taxes returned made up as a claim and entered in the claim docket in the bureau shall set forth

(a) The names of the taxing districts for which filed

(b) The name of the owner of the property against which it is filed

(c) A description of the property against which the claim is filed sufficient to identify the same A description of the property shall be deemed sufficient if it contains (1) a reference to a record of a deed or other instrument of conveyance which describes the property or (2) a reference to the number or numbers and block of the property in a plan recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county and the record of such plan or (3) a reference to the number on any lot and block plan officially adopted by a taxing district or (4) a statement of the street and number of the property as officially designated by public authorities of a taxing district as of the time the property was assessed or (5) where the property is not identified by reference to the record of a deed or other instrument of conveyance and may not be identified by street and number or by recorded plan or by a lot and block plan a statement of the approximate acreage of the property and the name of at least one (1) owner of adjoining property if such statement is accompanied by information showing the character of and use to which the property is devoted as for instance "dwelling and lot" "vacant lot" "vacant land" or "hotel restaurant apartment house office building bank building manufacturing plant industrial plant and the lands belonging thereto" or "farm and the buildings thereon" or "plant nursery and buildings thereon" or "forest or woodland" or "wasteland" or "coal oil or other mineral severed from the surface" etc or intelligible abbreviations thereof A variation in the description of the property given in the claim filed from that shown on the assessment for tax purposes shall not constitute an irregularity and shall not invalidate the claim The aforesaid description shall not be deemed exclusive

(d) The year or years period or periods for which the respective taxes were levied and the amount of taxes due for each year or period and the penalties and interest due thereon at the time of filing

(e) That due notice of the returns of such taxes the entry of the claim and that the same would become absolute if no exceptions were filed was given to the owner in the manner required by law

Said claim shall be entered in the office of the bureau in the proper claim docket and be signed by or have stamped thereon a facsimile signature of the director

Section 310 Property Included in Claims The property described in tax claims shall include the whole property against which the tax was levied In all cases where a tax is levied on separate and distinct properties as one estate the taxing district shall upon request before a claim therefor is entered in the claim docket apportion the same rateably upon the separate and distinct properties The bureau to which any such tax has been returned on proof that the properties were separate and distinct at the time the tax was levied shall apportion the charge against such properties When apportioned they shall be treated and considered in all respects as if separate and distinct claims had been entered Payment and satisfaction of any one portion may be made without prejudice to the claim as against the rest

Section 311 Claims Become Absolute On the first day of January next following the notice hereinbefore prescribed if the amount of the tax claim referred to in the notice has not been paid or no exceptions thereto filed the claim shall become absolute Every such claim shall bear interest as hereinbefore provided to the date of payment or date of sale held under the provisions of this act except in the case of claims where the owner is paying his taxes under the provisions of any law abating penalties interest and costs or either in which case the claim shall bear no interest and costs unless there is a default in payment in which case interest shall run on the amount due on the claim at the time of default and penalties interest and costs abated shall be added as provided by the act of Assembly abating the same

Section 312 Lien Lost if not Returned or Transferred to Bureau Any such claim for taxes if such taxes were returned to the bureau or transferred from the office of the county treasurer to the bureau within the time required by this act shall remain a lien upon said property until fully paid and satisfied or until said property shall be sold as provided in this act If a tax is not returned or transferred to the bureau within the time required by this act its lien on the property shall be wholly lost But where a tax has not been returned or transferred as required by this act a taxing district may nevertheless proceed by action in assumpsit to recover the amount of any taxes due and owing by an owner at any time within six (6) years after the taxes first became due

Section 313 Substitution of Defendants Any taxing district may before or after return of a claim to the bureau but before such claim shall become absolute on its own motion strike off the name of any defendant in any claim filed and may substitute as a defendant any person who may have an interest in the property as owner or who is the personal representative of an owner who has died but such substitution shall always be without prejudice to any intervening rights and in such cases notice of the proposed substitution shall first be given by the taxing district to all parties in interest

Section 314 Proceeding to Attack Validity of Claim

(a) Any claim for taxes may prior to the time it becomes absolute be set aside or reduced in amount by the bureau in which it is filed if the claim is found invalid in whole or in part by reason of the fact that the taxes for which the claim was entered were paid in whole or in part to a proper officer or agent of the taxing district

Any such claim prior to the time it becomes absolute may be set aside or reduced in amount by the court of common pleas on appeal as hereinafter provided for any reason which constitutes a just sufficient and valid defense to the claim in whole or in part except want of notice of the return and entry of the claim by the bureau or for any dispute in the amount of the claim which involves the amount of the assessed valuation of the property or the validity of the tax levied

(b) Any defendant in any such claim at any time before the first day of January next following the notice as aforesaid may file with the bureau exceptions to the claim as entered or to any part of the claim The bureau after giving due notice to the taxing districts interested shall hold a hearing thereon and either disallow the exceptions or allow the exceptions in whole or in part and strike off or reduce the claim in accordance with the evidence produced and the powers of the bureau as hereinbefore prescribed

If the defendant is aggrieved by the decision of the bureau he may within fifteen (15) days after notice thereof of appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of the county setting forth the defense he has to the claim or any part thereof and the refusal of the bureau to allow his exceptions and strike off or reduce the amount of the claim Thereupon the court shall grant a rule on the taxing district or districts to show cause why the claim should not be set aside or reduced in amount as prayed for in the petition The petitioners shall give notice of such proceeding to the bureau

(c) The issues raised by the petition and the answer thereto by the taxing district or districts shall be tried by the court or a jury

(d) The petition and the answer or answers thereto if an issue of fact is raised shall be endorsed with a statement signed by the party or his attorney in the following form

"Jury trial demanded" or

"Jury trial waived"

The endorsement of "jury trial waived" on both petition and answer or answers shall be deemed a waiver of a trial by jury of every issue in the proceeding

(e) No taxpayer shall have the right to proceed by petition to the court of common pleas to open a claim absolute under the provisions of this act except on the ground of payment of the tax involved or failure to receive notice The remedy provided by this section to contest a tax claim entered shall be deemed exclusive except as herein otherwise provided

(f) After verdict by the court or the jury the court shall by its final order either affirm or set the claim aside or reduce the amount of the claim and fix the proper amount thereof in accordance with the verdict and shall assess the costs of the proceedings as it shall determine Any party aggrieved by the final order entered in the proceeding may appeal to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases Upon final order of the court or upon final disposition thereof upon appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court if the entire claim has not been set aside such return shall become absolute

Section 315 Entry and Indexing of Claims Satisfaction Every return made to and every claim made up by the bureau and the result of every proceeding thereon entered in accordance with this act shall be docketed in appropriate dockets in the office of the bureau and entered in suitable indexes and when so entered shall continue the lien of the tax against the property charged with the tax

When a claim is stricken off or reduced or satisfied by payment or a sale has been held of the property covered by the claim the director shall cause a note thereof to be made on such docket and index and shall authenticate the same

Article IV Sequestration

Section 401 Petition for Sequestrator After the expiration of twenty (20) days from the time the claim becomes absolute except in cases where the property is essential to business of a quasipublic corporation the court shall on the petition of the bureau appoint it as sequestrator of the rents issues and profits of the property bound by the claim

Section 402 Authority for Petition The bureau may present any such petition on its own motion and shall do so at the request in writing of any taxing districts

Section 403 Procedure to Obtain Possession If either the owner against whom the claim is entered being in possession of the property sequestered or the party in possession refuse to pay a fair rent to the sequestrator the court shall upon the petition filed grant a rule on the property owner or party in possession to show cause why possession of the property should not be delivered to the sequestrator The petition and rule shall be served on the owner or party in possession in such manner and within such time as the court may direct If the rule is made absolute the court shall award a writ in the nature of a writ of habere facias possessionem directed to the owner or party in possession commanding him to deliver possession to the sequestrator within fifteen (15) days thereafter unless such property is occupied by the owner and his family for a home in which case he shall be commanded to deliver possession within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 404 Powers of Sequestrator A sequestrator shall have power to retain possession of the property as sequestrator until all taxes owing to the several taxing districts shall have been collected or paid He shall have power (a) to lease the property for a period not exceeding one (1) year with the usual privilege of renewal or termination thereof upon three (3) months' notice but not for the purpose of extracting any minerals or oil or the cutting of timber (b) to make such repairs to the property as may be reasonably necessary to restore and maintain it in a tenable condition and to carry insurance on such property (c) to advertise the property for rent (d) to collect the costs of repairs advertising and commissions of rental agents from rentals collected or from a redeeming owner (e) to sell and dispose of growing crops and (f) to appoint a licensed real estate broker or agent as agent to collect the rentals of the property and pay such agents the customary commissions for rent collections The bureau shall not in any case without prior approval of the county commissioners or in case of cities of the first class the city council incur any expense for the maintenance repair or alteration of any property in excess of eighty per centum (80%) of the amount of rental to be received from such property within a period of one (1) year under a lease entered into at or before the time such expense is incurred All commissions costs and necessary expenses shall be deducted from the rents collected before paying the net balance towards taxes

Section 405 Return of Possession Any owner of the property may redeem it from the sequestrator and be again entitled to possession thereof upon payment of the amount of taxes then owing upon the property after the payment of commissions costs and expenses of the sequestration proceedings Upon payment of all taxes and costs or the satisfaction of the taxes and costs by collection of rentals the sequestrator shall transfer possession of the property to the owner subject to any existing lease given by the sequestrator which lease shall be assigned to the owner The sequestrator shall in such cases enter satisfaction on the record of the tax claim

In any case where it appears to the sequestrator that property taken into possession does not yield any revenue or not sufficient revenue to continue in possession thereof he may with the consent of the court return possession of the property to the owner subject to any existing lease given by the sequestrator and thereafter such property may be sold at the next sale held at least ninety (90) days after such return of possession in the manner provided by this act

Section 406 General Powers and Remedies of Sequestrator Sequestrators appointed under this act shall have and exercise all the powers and shall be entitled to use all remedies conferred by law upon sequestrators in other proceedings so far as applicable

Sale of Property

Section 601 Date of Sale (a) Commencing on the second Monday of July of each year or on any day to which a sale may be adjourned or readjusted such adjournment not to be for a longer period than sixty (60) days or any day to which a sale may be continued the bureau shall sell such property (except where the property is essential to the business of quasi-public corporations) against which a tax claim has become absolute and the period of redemption has expired (without the property having been redeemed) or against which a tax judgment has heretofore been entered under any other law which judgment has not been satisfied and on which a sale has not been stayed by agreement in the manner hereinafter provided and where the property subject to the claim or judgment is not or no longer remains in possession of the sequestrator The bureau may for convenience and because of the number of properties involved schedule sales of property in various taxing districts or wards thereof on different dates but all sales except as herein otherwise provided shall be held by the bureau by the end of the said calendar year Taxing districts shall notify the bureau of tax judgments which have prior to the effective date of this act been entered under any other law in order that properties subject to the lien of such judgments may be included in the sale

(b) No property shall be exposed to sale where the delinquent taxes involved in a claim are being paid by the owner under any law abating penalties interest and costs or either unless there has been a default by the owner in payment in which case the sale of the property shall be proceeded with as herein provided at the time fixed for the next scheduled sale occurring at least (90) days after such default

Section 602 Notice of Sale Prior to any scheduled sale the bureau shall give notice thereof once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks in two (2) newspapers of general circulation in the county if so many are published therein and once in the legal journal if any designated by the court for the publication of legal notices Such notice shall set forth (a) the purposes of such sale (b) the time of such sale (c) the place of such sale (d) the terms of the sale including the approximate upset price (e) the descriptions of the properties to be sold as stated in the claims entered each description commencing with "....."

Name of Owner

Description

The description may be given in intelligible abbreviations

Such published notice shall be addressed to the "owners of properties described in this notice and to all persons having tax liens tax judgments or municipal claims against such properties"

In addition to such publications notice of the sale shall also be given by the bureau by United States registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid to each owner at least ten (10) days before the date of sale addressed to his last known post office address or if no post office address is known or if the notice addressed to the owner is not delivered to the owner by the postal authorities such notice shall be posted on the property

The published notice the mail notice and the posted notice shall each state that the sale of any property may at the option of the bureau be stayed if the owner thereof or any lien creditor of the owner on or before the date of sale enters into an agreement with the bureau to pay the taxes in instalments in the manner provided by this act and the agreement entered into

In case the property of any corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is advertised for sale the bureau shall give to the Department of Revenue the notice required by section one thousand four hundred two of the Fiscal Code of the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343)

No sale shall be defeated and no title to property sold shall be invalidated because of proof that mail notice as herein required was not received by the owner

The costs of such advertisement and notices shall be taxed as part of the costs of such proceedings and shall be paid by the owner the same as other costs

Section 603 Agreements to Stay Sale Any owner or lien creditor of the owner may at the option of the bureau prior to the date of any scheduled sale enter into an agreement in writing with the bureau to stay the sale of the property upon the payment of twenty-five per centum (25%) of the amount due on all tax claims and tax judgments filed or entered against such property and the interest on the taxes returned to date as provided by this act and agreeing therein to pay the balance of said claims and judgments and the interest thereon in not more than three (3) instalments (the last instalment to include all costs due) all within one (1) year of the date of said agreement the agreement to specify the dates on or before which each instalment shall be paid and the amount of each instalment and the costs So long as said agreement is being fully complied with by the taxpayer the sale of the property covered by the agreement shall be stayed But in case of default in such agreement by the owner or lien creditor the bureau after written notice of such default given by United States mail postage prepaid to the owner or lien creditor at the address stated in the agreement shall proceed with the sale of such property in the manner herein provided at the next scheduled sale of property to be held at least ninety (90) days after such default

Section 604 Sales of Property of Quasi-Public Corporation Where a claim becomes absolute and the property covered thereby is essential to the business of a quasi-public corporation the bureau shall have the right of execution thereupon as in cases of judgments against such corporations Upon the distribution of any fund realized by a sale of the franchises and the whole or any part of the property and assets of the corporation the court shall determine the actual value of the property bound by the tax claim and the claim shall be preferred with other like claims to the extent of the value of the property thus determined

Section 605 Upset Sale Price The bureau shall fix as the upset price to be realized at the sale of any property upon a claim absolute the sum of (a) the tax liens of the Commonwealth (b) the amount of the claim absolute and interest thereon on which the sale is being held (c) the amount of any other tax claim or tax judgment due on such property and interest on the judgment to the date of sale (d) the amount of all accrued taxes whether or not returned a record of which shall be furnished to the bureau by tax collectors receivers of taxes and taxing districts (e) the amount of the municipal claims against the property and (f) the record costs and costs of sale including pro rata costs of the publication of notice and costs of mail and posted notices in connection with the return of the claim and mail and posted notices of sale

cial claims against any such property to certify the amount thereof to the bureau for the purpose of including the same in the upset price

No sale of property shall be made by the bureau unless a bid equal to the upset price is made and where sufficient is not bid the sale shall be continued from month to month without further advertisement for not more than three (3) months in order to give the bureau a chance to sell the property at private sale or to petition court for an order to sell the same freed and discharged of all liens as hereinafter provided

Section 606 Payments by Purchasers at Sales The purchaser of any property at any such sale shall as soon as the property is struck down pay to the bureau the entire purchase money In case said amount is not so paid the sale shall be voided and the property shall be put up again at the same sale

Section 607 Bureau's Return to Court Notice Confirmation Appeal (a) It shall be the duty of the bureau not later than sixty (60) days after a scheduled sale was held to make a consolidated return to the court of common pleas of the county wherein it shall set forth (1) a brief description of each property exposed to sale (2) the name of the owner in whose name it was assessed (3) a reference to the record of the tax claim on which the sale was held (4) the time when and the newspapers in which the advertisement for sale was made with a copy of said advertisement (5) the time of sale (6) the name of the purchaser if any and (7) the price for which each property was sold or that no bid was made equal to the upset price and the property was not sold Upon the presentation of said return if it shall appear to said court that such sale has been regularly conducted under the provisions of this act the said return and the sales so made shall be confirmed nisi

(b) The bureau shall at the expense of the county within ten (10) days after confirmation nisi of the return publish a general notice once in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county and in the legal journal if any designated by rules of court for the publication of legal notices stating (1) that the return of the bureau with respect to any such sale for taxes has been presented to the court (2) giving the date of such presentation and (3) that objections or exceptions thereto may be filed by any owner or lien creditor within sixty (60) days after the date of return otherwise the return will be confirmed absolutely

(c) In case no objections or exceptions are filed to any such sale within sixty (60) days after the date of return a decree of absolute confirmation shall be entered as of course by the prothonotary

(d) Any objections or exceptions to such a sale may question the regularity or legality of the proceedings of the bureau in respect to such sale but may not raise the legality of the taxes on which the sale was held or of the return thereof to the bureau or the claim entered therefor In case any objections or exceptions are filed they shall be disposed of according to the practice of the court If the same are overruled or set aside a decree of absolute confirmation shall be entered by the court

(e) If such objections or exceptions are sustained and the court deems the defect not amendable it shall by its order or decree invalidate the sale and order another sale to be held in conformity with this act at such time and under such conditions as it shall fix

(f) From the decision of the court of common pleas any party interested may appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court as in other cases

(g) If no objections or exceptions are filed or where objections or exceptions are finally overruled and the sale confirmed absolutely the validity of the tax its return for nonpayment the entry of the claim or the making of such claim absolute and the proceedings of the bureau with respect to such sale or the time of holding the sale or of petitioning court for an order of sale shall not thereafter be inquired into judicially in equity or by civil proceedings by the person in whose name such property was sold his or her or theirs or his her of their grantees or assigns or by any lien creditor or other person whatever There shall be no period of redemption after such sale and the sale shall be deemed to pass a good and valid title to the purchaser free from any liens or encumbrances whatsoever except such liens as are hereafter specifically saved and in all respects as valid and effective as if acquired by a sheriff's deed

Section 608 Deed When the purchaser has paid the amount of his bid it shall be the duty of the bureau to make to the said purchaser his or their heirs or assigns a deed in fee simple for the property sold Each such deed shall be duly acknowledged before the prothonotary by the director and a notation of such deed and acknowledgment shall be duly entered on the proper records The deed shall before delivery be recorded in the office for the recording of deeds at the cost of the purchaser

Section 609 Certain Liens Divested by Sale Every such sale shall discharge the lien of every obligation claim lien or estate with which said property may have or shall become charged or for which it may become liable except no such sale shall discharge the lien of any ground rent or mortgage which shall have been recorded before such taxes became liens and which is or shall be prior to all other liens except other mortgages and ground rents

Section 610 Proceedings When Upset Price Not Bid In cases where the upset price shall not be bid at any such sale the property shall not be sold at that time and the sale shall be continued from month to month for not more than three (3) months without further advertising and the bureau shall sometime within one (1) year from the date of such sale file its petition in the court of common pleas of the county setting forth the tax claim upon which the property was exposed for sale that neither the owner his heirs or legal representatives or any lien creditor his heirs assigns or legal representatives or other person interested has redeemed the property that the property was exposed to public sale and the date of such sale that before exposing the property to public sale the bureau fixed an upset price as herein provided and that it was unable to obtain a bid sufficient to pay said upset price Upon the presentation of such petition accompanied with searches showing the state of the record and the ownership of the property and all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages and ground rents against the same the court shall grant a rule upon all parties thus shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that said property be sold freed and cleared of their respective claims liens mortgages and ground rents The rule shall be made returnable in not more than thirty (30) days from the date the petition was presented

Section 611 Service of rule Service of the rule shall be made in the same manner as writs of scire facias are served in this Commonwealth When service cannot be made in the county where the rule was granted the sheriff of the county shall deputize the sheriff of any other county in this Commonwealth where service can be made If service of the rule cannot be made in this Commonwealth then the rule shall be served on the person named in the rule by the sheriff by sending him by registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid at least fifteen (15) days before the return day of the rule a true and attested copy thereof addressed to such persons last known post office address The sheriff shall attach to his return the return receipts and if the person named in the rule has refused to accept the registered mail or cannot be found at his last known address shall attach evidence thereof This shall constitute sufficient service under this act

Section 612 Hearing and Order If upon hearing the court is satisfied that service of the rule has been made upon the parties named in the rule in the manner provided by this act and that the facts stated in the petition are true it shall order and decree that said property be sold at a subsequent day to be fixed by the court freed and cleared of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind to the highest bidder and that the purchaser at such sale shall take and thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and clear of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind except ground rents separately taxed. Out of the proceeds of such sale shall be paid the costs set forth in the upset price at the prior sale and the additional costs incurred relative to this sale including the fee for title search not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15). The remainder of said proceeds shall be distributed by the county treasurer as hereinbefore provided. After the purchaser shall have paid over the purchase price the bureau shall make and deliver a deed in the manner hereinbefore provided. When aforesaid petition for sale is presented within three (3) months after the date of the former sale the court on its order shall direct that no further advertisement is required. In cases where said petition is presented after the three (3) month period has expired the court shall in its order fixing a subsequent sale direct that the readvertisement of such sale need not be published three (3) consecutive weeks nor include a list and description of the lands to be sold but need only be advertised by one (1) insertion in one (1) or two (2) newspapers as hereinbefore provided for such advertisement at least thirty (30) days prior to the sale and include the purpose the time the place and the terms of such sale with a reference to the prior advertisement.

In any such petition for sale the bureau may if it deems the same advantageous request the court to fix the place of sale at the property to be sold and if the court is convinced the taxing districts interested will be benefited thereby it shall order the sale to be held on the property to be sold.

Section 613 Properties Not Sold Because of Insufficient Bid May be Sold at Private Sale. (a) Any time within one (1) year after any property has been exposed to public sale and such sale is continued because no bid was made equal to the upset price as hereinbefore provided the bureau may on its own motion and shall on the written instructions of any taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against said property agree to sell the property at private sale at any price approved by the bureau. Notice of the proposed sale stating the price and the property proposed to be sold shall be given to each such taxing district and to the owner of the property. The corporate authorities of any taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against the property which is to be sold or the owner may if not satisfied that the sale price approved by the bureau is sufficient within fifteen (15) days after notice of the proposed sale petition the court of common pleas of the county to disapprove the sale. The court shall in such case after notice to each such taxing district the owner the bureau and the purchaser hear all interested parties. After such hearing the court may either confirm or disapprove the sale as to it appears just and proper. If the sale is disapproved the court shall at the same time fix a price below which such property shall not be sold.

(b) When an offer to purchase any such property has been received and the price has been disapproved by the bureau the bureau shall on the written instructions of any interested taxing district submit by petition the proposed sale to the court of common pleas of the county for approval. The court shall after affording the owner and each taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against the property an opportunity to be heard on such notice as the court deems appropriate approve or disapprove the sale. If the court approves the sale it shall be consummated with like effect as though it had been approved by the bureau and by all taxing districts having said interest.

Section 614 Options. (a) The bureau shall have the right to accept option money to bind the private sale of any such property at the price offered therefor which shall be credited to the purchase price when the sale is effected or be retained for the use of the taxing districts if the purchase price is not paid over. But if the purchase price is not approved or confirmed as hereinbefore provided and the sale is not consummated for that reason the option money shall be returned to the prospective purchaser. (b) Before a petition is presented to court for a subsequent sale as herein provided the bureau shall have the right to accept option money from any person who agrees to bid a certain agreed price for the property at the sale and such money shall be credited to the purchase price if such person purchases the property at the sale at a price not less than the agreed price. If said person does not bid the amount agreed upon or more or if the purchase price is not paid over then the option money shall be retained for the use of the taxing district. But if the property is sold to any other bidder for a price in excess of the agreed offer the option money shall be returned to the person having deposited the same. (c) Such option money shall be deposited in the county treasury.

Section 615 Deeds. When the price for the private sale of any said property has been finally approved or confirmed as hereinbefore provided the bureau shall upon payment over of the purchase price less the option money if any make to the purchaser his or their heirs or assigns a deed in fee simple for the property sold. Each such deed shall be in the name of the bureau as trustee grantor and shall be duly acknowledged before the prothonotary by the director. Such deed shall convey title to the purchaser free clear and discharged of all tax claims and tax judgments whether or not returned filed or entered as provided by this or any other act.

Section 616 When Bureau Shall Petition Court for Public Sale to Divest All Liens. The bureau may on its own motion during or after the aforesaid continuance of the prior sale after receiving the consent of all taxing districts having any tax claims or tax judgments against said property and shall on the written directions of such taxing districts file its petition in the court of common pleas for an order to sell the property at public sale free and discharged from all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind in the manner hereinbefore provided. If within the period of ten (10) months after the date of said prior sale the said petition has not been filed or the property sold at private sale the bureau shall within the next immediately following two (2) months file its petition as aforesaid and sell the property at the time and place prescribed in the order of court if such order is made.

Section 617 Errors as to Descriptive Names etc May be Amended on Petition. When a property has been sold at public sale as herein provided and there are errors in the description or in the spelling of any person's name or other obvious errors in the claim or in the return to court or in any petition relative to the proceedings or in the bureau's tax deed such error may be amended by a petition to court for a rule on all parties interested to show cause why the records should not be amended and such errors corrected. After hearing on the rule the court may make such order relative thereto as to it seems just and proper.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was before us earlier in the evening I made a motion to drop the bill from the calendar. Since that time a more careful study of the bill has revealed many discrepancies and conflicting phrases in the bill that make it even in worse shape than I originally thought it was. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I again move you that Senate Bill 578, Printer's No. 603, be dropped from the calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat surprised at the motion made by my good friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor. We all know that good things are left often for the last, and this being the last bill on our calendar, it appears to me that the Members of the House want the privilege of voting on this bill, for it is a good thing.

Senate Bill No. 578, as I related yesterday, with its optional features amends the delinquent real estate tax sale law. It clarifies the record and corrects a system by which tax sales' titles can also be clarified and become as good as any title that can be given on real estate. The purpose, therefore, is to simplify and to strengthen collection of delinquent real estate tax laws.

The bill establishes one agency to receive all real estate tax claims. It provides a uniform method for conducting tax sales. This bill is the result of five years of study by the Local Government Commission and is endorsed by the State Association of County Commissioners, the Pennsylvania School Directors' Association, and also the city, borough and township organizations throughout our Commonwealth.

For these reasons, therefore, I oppose the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, feeling as I said before, that the House should be given the privilege of voting for or against this measure. So I ask that the motion be defeated.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have always been interested, especially for the past five or ten years, in the efficient collection of taxes in Pennsylvania and have made a thorough study of a plan to consolidate all different tax collecting agencies having records of delinquent taxes, and consolidate them in the office of the County Commissioners in the county where the tax claims are. This is a very fine bill and will result in a very fine collection of taxes in Pennsylvania, and in deference to the men who have worked so hard on this bill I ask the membership to vote down the motion and give us a chance to debate this bill and vote on it in a good parliamentary manner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is this bill an optional bill that will permit the county commissioners to either adopt this procedure or not?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say there is such a provision in this bill, which I think is not effective.

Mr. TURNER. In what manner, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I intend to discuss all those matters if we are going to debate the bill. I do not think I should discuss it on this motion.

Mr. TURNER. That will be all. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill to revise and consolidate the laws of Pennsylvania relative to delinquent taxes and the sale of real estate on which the delinquent taxes have not been paid. Let me say at the start that in my opinion this is not a good bill. My reasons for making that statement are these: This bill does not apply to Philadelphia, to Pittsburgh, to Scranton, to any third class city unless it wants it, or to any county unless it has agreed to be subject to its provisions.

Mr. Speaker, my experience here has been that when there is anything good in a bill before this House, the Members of the House in the districts or municipalities mentioned want it. This bill does something for the poor taxpayers and home owners in all the townships and all the boroughs in the State of Pennsylvania, and I repeat, if there is anything good in the bill, why don't these other districts avail themselves of the provisions of this bill? The conditions set up in this bill are practically no different from what they are today. If an owner of real estate today does not pay his taxes they are returned on the first Monday of May preceding the month in which they are returned to the County Commissioners' office, where they are transcribed and sent to the County Treasurer's office. There the County Treasurer holds them for two years, and if the taxes are not then paid the County Treasurer holds a sale in which the property is sold at a tax sale, and the owner of the property has two years from the date of that sale to come in and pay his taxes and redeem his property. If there is no bidder at the Treasurer's sale the county must buy the property, and in buying the property the County Commissioners do not spend one cent of money. Not only must the County Commissioners hold the property for two years more for these owners to redeem, but if they do not sell the property for five years or ten years or any length of time, while title to that property remains in the county, then the former owner can redeem the property by paying all the taxes against it.

The worst feature in the bill is this, it abolishes the right of redemption as it formerly existed. As I said before the mechanics of the bill are practically the same. It is two years from the date that the tax is levied until the County Treasurer conducts the sale. On the day he conducts the sale anyone buying the property receives a valid deed that day from the County Treasurer, and the former owner is forever debarred from coming in and claiming his property.

This bill also repeals the law that we have on our books today which permits the former owner to come into the County Commissioners, if they still own it and show a title to the property, and redeem it for a period of five years without any cost to the county, but all the taxes, costs and interest must be paid by the former owner. Therefore, no one can lose a cent by continuing as is done at the present time. This bill if enacted into law would set up two systems to cover delinquent taxes in all counties having second and third class cities and second class A. In my own County of Cambria, if this law is enacted, the City of Johnstown, being a third class city, can pass a resolution to the effect that it would not be governed by the new law. Then you would have one set of laws governing delinquent taxes outside the third class cities, and another set of laws governing delinquent taxes in the third class cities.

Take Westmoreland County, for example, where there are five third class cities. You might have two or three different laws in the third class cities and still a different one governing the collection of delinquent taxes in the county. It would do away with the duty of abstracting titles and certifying them, and the only result of that would be a greater cost in the property taxation and the transfer of property.

Now, this law if enacted would become effective on the first day of January, 1948. This law also repeals all delinquent tax laws from 1804 down to and including 1941. Hence on January 1, 1948, if this bill be enacted, those delinquent tax laws are no longer in effect. Then some time in the month of January 1948, if the county sees fit, it can pass a resolution saying that they will not accept the terms of the new law.

The question I would like to have answered by those who support this bill is, will that resolution passed by the County Commissioners in the middle of January, 1948, reinstate the laws or reenact the laws on real estate that were divested on January 1, 1948.

Mr. Speaker, this bill if enacted, as I said before, applies only to townships and boroughs where there will be no period of redemption for the poor taxpayers. Two years after the bill is passed it will be sold and the title gone, but in the cities of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Scranton and in the third class cities there will be no limit to the time at which the former owners could redeem that property so long as the County Commissioners still own it. Nothing in my mind can be more unfair or discriminatory.

It is well known that the coal companies in the last few years have been selling their homes to the miners on the installment payment plan, some for as long as ten to fifteen years. If the prediction of some of the statesmen comes true, that there is going to be an economic reaction unfavorable to the working people, I ask you what is going to become of the homes of these poor people. It will not then be a case of removing a poor man out of his home because he refuses to work, but removing him from his home because he does not make the payments on it. Also, if they do make their payments and pay their taxes he is going to run foul of the racketeer. On the day on which the house is sold at a tax sale, the racketeer will be there with a few hundred dollars, and because the home owner is in distress, the racketeer will be able to buy that property for a few dollars and receive a good and valid deed for it. I believe it is the intention of this House to protect the small home owner and his family, therefore, I ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I think I should just say a word about this bill. On page 63 lines 11 to and including 18, there is an amendment which carries all the provisions of House Bill 419. This bill was introduced in the House and passed third reading by a vote of 199 to nothing, and it provided for the sale of property that had been held by the taxing body. That bill is badly needed in our county, and I think in lots of others, due to the fact that there has been a terrible racket by people buying up bankrupt land companies, and then coming in and completing the sale after the advertising has taken place and the sale is up before the judges for confirmation. I certainly hope that this bill will be supported.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, I would say that this is a very good bill and not a bad bill. At this session of the Legislature we have passed a great many salary increase bills. We have had a huge budget all over the State of Pennsylvania.

The school districts, we will soon pass House Bill 417 which will place a burden on the Commonwealth and on the various school districts. As I said before, those who have had to do with the collection of taxes in Pennsylvania realize that something will have to be done to speed up and make more efficient and more careful the collection of taxes in Pennsylvania. So they developed the idea of a tax claim setup, which will mean the speeding up of the collection of taxes.

Mr. O'Connor says that there is no right of redemption after two years, but I say that during the two year period after you get your tax notice the taxpayer is protected every inch of the way. This bill has been meticulous to give him notice at every step in a proceeding and even after two years if he has made a serious attempt he can get another year to pay his taxes on the instalment plan.

This is a "may" bill, and answering Mr. O'Connor, I might say this is mandatory in the townships and boroughs of Pennsylvania, but it is true as to the third class cities, that they can come under it if they want to. We would like to see the counties come in under it; it would be a step in the right direction if they would all come under the provisions of this act. There would be one place in the county for the payment of taxes. And in the third class cities, in our case, our city treasurer has the city tax sales, conducts the city tax sales. The third class school districts file their tax bills in the Prothonotary's office. Then we have all the other taxes filed or returned to the County Treasurer's office. It would certainly be a pay-off in our county. It would facilitate things for all the tax sales and the searching of title and generally carrying on good government.

We are asked to carry House Bill 800 on account of the fact that real estate taxes have not been collected as well as they should in our Commonwealth. Liens are filed in the Prothonotary's office. They are revised every year, year after year. Under this bill the taxes will be collected and the property put back on the tax roll. I say that the little annoyances and inconveniences mentioned by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, is a smoke screen. This bill has been studied and given a great deal of thought by men who are interested in tax collections and who are also interested in home rule, good local home rule government.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, as to the provisions on page 63 of this bill, I am wondering if Mr. Waterhouse knows that the provisions of this bill apply only to the former owners and that the former owner is the only one who could come in after the ordinary period of redemption and pay it on instalments. It cannot be taken advantage of by him or me or anyone else.

Mr. Johnson has said that this bill would speed up the collection of taxes. I differ there with him. This bill is designed primarily to take the last bite out of the poor man, the home owner, the working man. You have provided by legislation here that you can tax the husband's wages for the wife's school tax and his own tax as well, and this is the last straw. Now, you don't speed up the collection of taxes by cutting your taxes but by stealing the homes from the poor home owner after two years, instead of giving him the right to come in and redeem his property over a period of years, which right he has had for a long, long time.

Again I ask you to vote this bill down and not penalize those of us who live in the townships and boroughs.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 580

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 580, Printer's No. 617.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 580, entitled: "An Act to further amend section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled 'A further supplement to and act entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine' by establishing an exception for capital actually and exclusively employed in coal mining or coal mining and preparation plant business and the laundering and/or supplying of laundered articles and meat processing and/or curing business with regard to the capital stock tax and franchise tax on domestic and foreign corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies and postponing the effective date of said exemption."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

MONTGOMERY F. CROWE,
A. H. LETZLER,
BURTON E. TARR,
(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)
EDWIN C. EWING,
EUSTACE H. BANE,
(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act to further amend section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by establishing an exemption for capital actually and exclusively employed in coal mining or coal mining and preparation plant business with regard to the capital stock tax and franchise tax on domestic and foreign corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies and postponing the effective date of said exemption

Section 1 Section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (Act Number 97) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class nonprofit corporation and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That the tax of five mills imposed by this subsection on reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years on thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight shall apply to the taxation of capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint association (A) organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and (B) organized for coal mining purposes provided further that after said two year period the provisions of this section shall not apply to the taxation of of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations (A) organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such a enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain and (B) organized for coal mining purposes and which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on coal mining or coal mining and the preparation of coal for market but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing or coal mining or coal mining and the preparation of coal shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing or coal mining or coal mining and coal preparation business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business or in the coal mining or in the coal mining and preparation plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing or in coal mining or coal mining and preparation situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees not exclusively engaged in manufacturing or in coal mining or coal mining and preparation in this Commonwealth is hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employees

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing or to coal mining or coal mining or preparation in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules. If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule.

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth on expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth.

The amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and except rents and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rental or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth. If a taxpayer maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state.

In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contract shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year.

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditure of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection (b) the franchise tax of five mills imposed by subsection (b) on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and for fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations (a) organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and (b) organized for coal mining or coal mining and preparation without excluding from the numerator of the applicable fractions tangible property actually and exclusively used in manufacturing or coal mining and preparation compensation of employees exclusively engaged in manufacturing or coal mining and preparation and gross receipts from business strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing or coal mining and preparation.

After said two year period the provisions of this subsection shall apply to the taxation of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes and coal mining and preparation.

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the Treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law. Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly. Provided further That corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations liable to a tax under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner than for the whole body of stockholders or members thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals. Provided further That the tax of five mills imposed by this section on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and sixty-six and for each calendar year thereafter or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each fiscal year thereafter shall apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering and for the processing and curing of meats their products and by products excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors. Provided further That in case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock. Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall be retroactive to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-seven so that domestic and foreign corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing and coal mining and preparation purposes shall pay the tax imposed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and one thousand nine hundred forty-eight as other domestic and foreign corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I arise to oppose the adoption of this report, and I would ask the indulgence of the House, notwithstanding the fact that the hour is late, because we all know that we are going to have to be here for some time. I am suffering with a cold and therefore am physically feeling below par, and I am suffering with some mental disability caused by the session, which therefore makes me feel pretty sore.

When a man enters into the armed forces of his country he expects that he may be ordered into the trenches or into the front line, and that as a result he may be subjected to shot and shell and bombs and other instruments of warfare that may cause him to be wounded or maimed. However, that is a part of the routine, the very thing for which he has entered the service, and he does not have a feeling of ill will. On the other hand when a man enters the Legislature of Pennsylvania he too must expect to be subjected to the exigencies of legislative battles and to take his defeats as they come along with a smile, and though his head may be bloody, still it will be unbowed.

In the years I have been here I have had to take some pretty hard punches; I have had to take some pretty hard kicks and I have taken some pretty hard blows, but I still have been able to raise my head, bloody but still unbowed.

Last week we had Friday the thirteenth. Friday the thirteenth to me was a painful day. Last summer the Reference Bureau spent many weeks here in the study of the codification of the liquor laws of Pennsylvania, and during the months of December and the early part of the winter we labored diligently in an endeavor to produce a code that would reconcile things that were controversial. It was introduced into this House, it was reported from Committee and it was immediately subjected by a great many people, and particularly by the press, to the greatest amount of misstatement, misconception and abuse and everything else that you could think of. Now, there were a lot of good things in that bill, but they didn't seem to be brought up or mentioned, each time they took a punch at the most controversial things, but the bill sailed through this House and over into the Senate and there it met a barrage of amendments. Until, may I say, they tore her tattered ensign down, and set every threadbare sail. They gave her to the God of Storms, the lightening and the gale, and she sank beneath the waves.

And then we labored in the Attorney General's office and in the Reference Bureau we worked for many weeks over a bill that we thought would promote stream clearance in Pennsylvania, a sewerage disposal bill which created a lot of controversy here but passed the House and went to the Senate. And again, in the wee small hours of Friday the thirteenth they brought out their submarines and gave us a couple of shots and scuttled 551 and also scuttled the stream clearance program for the next two years, as I see it.

But, Mr. Speaker, I sat here in the wee hours of Friday the thirteenth, with messengers coming from the Senate to tell me that 117 had been pickler, that 551 had been sent back to committee, but I didn't mind that very much. I just thought it was a repetition of the exigencies of legislative battles.

But then, Mr. Speaker, a new day had dawned, then the fourteenth, and then I thought maybe a new sun had arisen over my legislative experience.

And then I found 666 on the calendar, a bill that ripped out of existence the Tunnel Commission in Delaware County and substituted another one. I thought that surely the country Members and the Democratic Members on the other side of the House would have sympathy for the poor farmers of Delaware County against the city slickers of Philadelphia and they would arise to my defense once I reported it out, but, Mr. Speaker, I had under-estimated the capacity of that leader of the Philadelphia delegation, Charley Smith. He had with his cohorts and assistants and other persons led this House on House Bill No. 666, and I found out that he not only had the country Members with the city slickers, but that he had penetrated the ranks of the Democrats on the other side of the House. After the session was over, I think the Philadelphia newspapers, particularly the Philadelphia Inquirer, who promote that sort of contest, gave to Charlie Smith the highest award for the job he had done for Philadelphia in the Legislature in this session.

I never mind being defeated by a champion, I never mind being defeated by one who shows that he has the capacity for leadership to play the game, and to the gentleman from Philadelphia I take off my hat for the victory he won on 666. I am still kicking my coattails for the way I handled it. With all the complaints that I have, and all the ills that I have suffered in this session I have now sunk to the depths of ignominy on Senate Bill 580.

In the early part of this session the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, sought to right a wrong that was committed in 1938. The Capital Stock Tax Act carried exemptions for manufacturers, for laundries and meat processors. In 1937 the laundry processors were taken out. I imagined the manufacturers went to sleep and thought they were safe, but in the next session they were dropped. In the session of 1941 or 1943, they passed a bill reinstating the manufacturers exemption but postponed the effective date until a year after the war.

So in this session, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, sought to rectify the omission of the laundries and the meat processors from the manufacturers' exemption and sought an amendment.

And then, Mr. Speaker, there came riding into the House a very wondrous bill. It placed in the group of exempted corporations under the manufacturers exemption corporations engaged in mining and in the processing of coal, and immediately when we saw it we grabbed it to our bosom as a kindred spirit. We didn't think it had a right to be in the act because it had a historical background, but nevertheless, it was here—we had no opposition to the coal people, we felt we would go right along with them and we put up an amendment in the bill providing that the laundries and the meat processors would go along with the coal mines under the manufacturers' exemption. There was no opposition to that amendment on the floor. The bill passed here and went back to the Senate, and then one of those famous plays of the diamond was made and all of a sudden we found that on Senate Bill No. 580, the Senate refused to concur in the House amendments. Well, that rather startled us. We historically had the right to be there; they were the newcomers, but the newcomers were objecting to us being associated with them on the same bill. So we had a Conference Committee appointed and I finally after a good deal of struggle was able to get it over to the committee. I thought that the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, should be there, but we found that there were priorities that were necessary to get anywhere.

But a committee was appointed and we met with the august Senate. I wish that I could always engender for my legislation the spirit of righteousness of soul that pervades the Senate, and that surrounds the atmosphere in the Senate in any discussion into which they enter, with a gracious plea for the righteousness of the cause for which they stand. In a few minutes I found that they had five coal men to one for the meat processors and for the laundries. We were not objecting to them, they were in the bill, they were not taken out. The coal men finally placed flowers in my hands, they placed even a lily there, and smothered me with kindly words of feeling. The things that I said to the Committee in there would not stand repetition on the floor of the House.

Mr. Speaker, we come to the time when I am going to plead to the Members of the House to at least give me a break, at least wipe out that Friday the thirteenth, at least do not agree to this report. I have no objection to the coal men coming under the exemption. There is much to be said in their behalf, but why do they come straggling in the House and kick us out of the act when we have a right to be exempt. Why did they pack the Committee with five to one and kick me out? The only way I can secure justice, the only way in the end that justice shall reign supreme in this session of the Legislature is by you men here in this House coming to our rescue, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, and also all of these people in the State of Pennsylvania who are entitled to this consideration. We ask you in this last hour of the Legislature to rise to our defense and vote "no" on this report.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe there is a new "champ" in the House. The old champ came back.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please repeat his remark?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, there is a new "champ" in the House. The old champ has made a great comeback.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman like to reconsider Bill 666 at this time?

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Section 3 Section one thousand two hundred forty-one of said act as added by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1112) is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1241 For the purposes of this subdivision of Article XII of this act the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(1) "District Pupils" of a school district shall designate all pupils enrolled in the public schools of the Commonwealth and of adjacent states who are residents of a given school district except those pupils who are enrolled in the public schools maintained by the vocational school district. The territorial limits of which include the school district. "District Pupils" of a vocational school district shall designate all pupils enrolled in the public schools maintained by the vocational school district who are residents of the district.

(2) "District Teaching Units" A district's number of teaching units shall be obtained as follows: (1) divide by twenty-two (22) the number of district pupils in average daily membership in a public high school; (2) divide by thirty (30) the number of district pupils in average daily membership in a public elementary school; and (3) add the quotients obtained under (1) and (2) above.

(3) "Average Daily Membership" shall be computed in accordance with the rules of procedure as established by the Department of Public Instruction for the school term 1944-1945.

(4) "Minimum Subsidy" shall designate the minimum amount per teaching unit payable by the Commonwealth to any school district or vocational school district under the provisions of this act. The minimum subsidy [shall be six hundred dollars ($600)] for the school year 1946-1947 and the school year 1947-1948 shall be seven hundred dollars ($700) and for each school year thereafter eight hundred dollars ($800).

(5) "Maximum Subsidy" shall designate the maximum amount per teaching unit which may be payable by the Commonwealth to any one school district or vocational school district under the provisions of this act. The maximum subsidy for the school year [1945-1946 and for the school year 1946-1947 shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) and for each school year thereafter two thousand dollars ($2000)] 1946-1947 shall be two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) for the school year 1947-1948 two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) for the school year 1948-1949 two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) for the school year 1949-1950 two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) and for each school year thereafter two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600).

(6) "Standard Reimbursement Fraction" School districts or vocational school district's standard reimbursement fraction shall be computed annually in the month of [November] December by the Department of Public Instruction.

In the case of a school district its standard reimbursement fraction shall be computed for the school year [1945-1946 and the school year 1946-1947 by subtracting from one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by five-one thousandths (.005) and dividing the difference so obtained by one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) and for the school year 1947-1948 and for every school year thereafter by subtracting from two thousand dollars ($2000) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by five-one thousandths (.005) and dividing the difference so obtained two thousand dollars ($2000)] 1946-1947 by subtracting from two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by six-one thousandths (.006) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) for the school year 1947-1948 by subtracting from two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by six-one thousandths (.006) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) for the school year 1948-1948 by subtracting from two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by six-one thousandths (.006) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) for the school year 1949-1950 by subtracting from two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by six-one thousandths (.006) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) and for every school year thereafter by subtracting from two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by six-one thousandths (.006) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600).

A school district's assessed valuation to be used for purposes of computing the standard reimbursement fraction shall be the assessed valuation of the district's taxable real property as determined for the preceding year for county tax purposes. Provided That if the assessed valuation as determined for county purposes does not adequately represent the market values of the taxable property the State Council of Education may ascertain such market values and base the reimbursement to any one school district upon the market values ascertained by the State Council of Education. Provided further That if any system for the equalization of the values of real property throughout the Commonwealth shall be provided for by act of assembly each district's assessed valuation to be used for purposes of computing its standard reimbursement fraction shall be the valuation placed upon its taxable real property under such system.

In the case of a vocational school district its standard reimbursement fraction shall be computed for the school year [1945-1946 and the school year 1946-1947 by subtracting from one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) an amount determined by multiplying the assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800) and for the school year 1947-1948 and for every school year thereafter by subtracting from two thousand dollars ($2000) an amount determined by multiplying the assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand dollars ($2000)] 1946-1947 by subtracting from two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) an amount determined by multiplying the assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) for the school year 1947-1948 by subtracting from two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) for the school year 1948-1948 by subtracting from two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) an amount determined by multiplying the assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) for the school year 1949-1950 by subtracting from two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) and for every school year thereafter by subtracting from two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600) an amount determined by multiplying the school district's assessed valuation per district teaching unit by three-one thousandths (.003) and dividing the difference so obtained by two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600)

A school district's or vocational school district's number of district teaching units for purposes of determination of the standard reimbursement fraction shall be obtained as follows (1) divide by twenty-two (22) the number of district pupils in average daily membership in a public high school during the preceding school term (2) divide by thirty (30) the number of district pupils in average daily membership in a public elementary school during the preceding school term and (3) add the quotients obtained under (1) and (2) above except when the pupil-teacher ratio exceeds thirty-three (33) in which case the sum obtained under (1) and (2) above shall be multiplied by thirty-three (33) and the product so obtained shall be divided by the pupil-teacher ratio of the district. Provided That no school district or vocational school district shall be credited with less than one teaching unit or be assigned a reimbursement fraction lower in value than the minimum subsidy divided by the maximum subsidy. Provided further That until the end of the school term during which the present hostilities shall cease as determined by proclamation of the Governor all one-room schools operated in accordance with the provisions of the act to which this is an amendment shall be credited with at least one teaching unit. Upon cessation of such hostilities such one-room schools shall be credited with at least one teaching unit only if their operation is approved by the State Council of Education. The State Council of Education shall withhold its approval of any one-room one teacher school unless (1) topography distance or condition of roads are such as to make transportation of pupils impractical or (2) it is impossible to accommodate pupils in existing graded schools in the district or other districts or (3) the district is financially unable to construct a consolidated school.

Section 4 Section one thousand two hundred forty-two of said act as added by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1112) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1242 Every school district and every vocational school district shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the [fiscal year 1945-1946 and] school year 1946-1947 on account of the instruction of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools an amount to be determined by multiplying the number of teaching units based on the number of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools by [one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1800)] two thousand two hundred dollars ($2200) and by the district's standard reimbursement fraction

The amount of payment to be made by the Commonwealth to any school district the school year 1947-1948 for the school year 1946-1947 on account of the instruction of pupils under the provisions of this section shall not be less than the amount paid to the district during the school year 1945-1946 on account of the salaries of full time members of the teaching and supervisory staff of the district

Every school district and every vocational school district shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the school year 1947-1948 [and for every school year thereafter] on account of the instruction of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools an amount to be determined by multiplying the number of teaching units based on the number of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools by [two thousand dollars ($2000)] two thousand three hundred dollars ($2300) and by the district's standard reimbursement fraction

Every school district and every vocational school district shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the school year 1948-1949 on account of the instruction of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools an amount to be determined by multiplying the number of teaching units based on the number of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools by two thousand four hundred dollars ($2400) and by the district's standard reimbursement fraction

Every school district and every vocational school district shall be paid by the Commonwealth for school year 1949-1950 on account of the instruction of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools an amount to be determined by multiplying the number of teaching units based on the number of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools by two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) and by the district's standard reimbursement fraction

Every school district and every vocational school district shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the school year 1950-1951 and for every school year thereafter on account of the instruction of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools an amount to be determined by multiplying the number of teaching units based on the number of all pupils in average daily membership in the district's public schools and joint elementary schools by two thousand six hundred dollars ($2600) and by the district's standard reimbursement fraction

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section when because of sparsity of population road or climatic conditions or lack of other available high school facilities the State Council of Education has approved the continued operation of a small high school the district shall receive an amount based on a number of teaching units equal to the number of teachers approved by the State Council of Education as being required to provide a satisfactory educational program in such school provided that the number of teachers employed is not less than the number approved

For no year shall any school district or vocational school district receive less than [six hundred dollars ($600)] the minimum subsidy per teaching unit

Section 5 Sections one thousand two hundred forty-four and one thousand two hundred fifty-two of said act as added by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1112) is hereby amended to read as follows

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the report of the Committee of Conference was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 896

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 16, 1947.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 896, Printer's No. 965, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

JAMES H. DUFF.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Elder vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title by inserting at the beginning thereof after "An act" the following:

To further amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 579) entitled "An act to fix the salary and mileage of the members of the General Assembly and to provide for the furnishing of such postage stationery and supplies as may be necessary for the conduct of their offices and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith"

Amend title, page 1, line 7, by striking out after the word "providing" and before the part word "ex-" the following: "a monthly" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "an"

Section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 579) entitled "An act to fix the salary and mileage of the members of the General Assembly and to provide for the furnishing of such postage stationery and supplies as may be necessary for the conduct of their offices and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 999) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the salary of the members of the General Assembly shall be three thousand dollars ($3000) for each biennial session and mileage to and from their home at the rate of five cents per mile circular for each week a member was in actual attendance at the session to be computed by the ordinary mail route between their homes and the capital of the State The salary of the members of the General Assembly shall be five hundred dollars ($500) and mileage as aforesaid for each special or extraordinary session lasting less than one calendar month and seven hundred and fifty dollars ($675) and mileage as aforesaid for each special or extraordinary session lasting one calendar month or more and no other compensation shall be allowed whatever except each member of the General Assembly shall receive an allowance for clerical assistance and other expenses incurred during his term in connection with the duties of his office the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars ($2500) for each two year period of service payable six hundred dollars ($600) on July 1 of each year and six hundred dollars ($600) on November 30 of each year commencing July 1, one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven [one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) in postage for each regular biennial session and fifty dollars ($50) for each special or extraordinary session]

Amend Sections 1 and 2, page 3, by striking out lines 4 to 13 inclusive.

Amend Section 3, page 3, line 14, by striking out after the word "Section" and before the word "The" the numeral: "3" and inserting in lieu thereof the numeral: "2".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ELDER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the defeat of the conference report on House Bill No. 454 to increase the resident hunter's license by only fifty cents beginning in 1948, is one of the worst blows ever delivered against future hunting for the masses in Pennsylvania.

The principal opponent, either deliberately or otherwise, failed to ascertain the status of the unallocated balances since the Game Commission established its budget on June 1, 1947, made it appear that there is a huge sum lying idle in the treasury. The truth is that the Commission has budgeted for the current year a total of almost $3,300,000, while the revenue for last year was only $2,400,000. The balance had to be taken out of the reserve which the Commission accumulated during the war.

I understand that in next year's budget the Commission will be forced to exhaust all of its remaining reserve. This means that two years from now the Game Commission will be scraping the bottom of the barrel, and will face almost certain curtailment of most of its field operations, including the expansion of the recently launched farm-game program, and its game stocking, land management, and law enforcement programs.

This opposition was spearheaded by the same people who were unsuccessful in forcing the Commission to accept a defective petition to abrogate a doe season a few years ago. Attempts have been made at regular intervals ever since to vent their spite on the Commission and the sportsmen.

In their behind the scenes maneuvers they also attempted to get the General Assembly to raid the public hunting grounds bought by the sportsmen and transfer them to another Department, and they defeated the sportsmen's new fish code by inserting damaging amendments.

It is most unfortunate that these uninformed or intentionally vicious persons have been able to thwart the desire of almost a million sportsmen for assured good future hunting in Pennsylvania. They deserve severe condemnation for their tactics.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. WALDRON offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 16, 1947.

We, Members of this House are delighted to have among us again the Secretary to the Chief Clerk of the House who tho a good and faithful servant deserted her master on or about June 7th.

For on that date, the former Rosa Ann Barbush was married in Harrisburg to Mr. F. Walker Nichols, a resident of our capitol city.

The newly weds spent their honeymoon in the Poconos, and it can be assumed will never regret their stay there; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House congratulates Mr. and Mrs. F. Walker Nichols upon the step they have taken; excuses gladly the bride's necessary absence from our midst; and wishes the couple a long and happy marriage; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk shall transmit a copy of this resolution to Mrs. F. Walker Nichols in token of our good wishes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DIX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as a matter of record I wish to state that I am opposed to several of the road changes made in Wayne County under House Bill 852.

In the County of Wayne nearly thirty road changes were made in House Bill 852, in which the House has recently concurred in the Senate amendments. These are fare more changes than in any other county in the Commonwealth, and more than the combined changes in a half dozen counties adjacent to Wayne. Although the Senator of my district was consulted on these changes several weeks before the Bill was in the House, I was not in any way consulted until the Bill was ready for introduction in this House, and when it was too late to confer with nearly one hundred township supervisors of Wayne County.

In view of the fact that so many changes were made in Wayne County and the further fact that within the past few days I have learned of many protests by the supervisors of Wayne County, I wish to go on record as not being in favor of all those road changes to which the township supervisors of Wayne County object, and wish to further go on record that I believe it is the duty of the State Highway Department to put in good condition all those roads turned back to the townships by the State Highway Department.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a short recess. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, remarks were made in the House of Representatives this afternoon, which seemed to me to imply improper motives to a bill in this House. I have prepared a statement in connection with the remarks made this afternoon and I ask leave to include my statements as a part of the record in order to save the time of the Members of the House this evening.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has that privilege. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread on the Journal of the House. The gentleman will please send his remarks to the desk?

(Extended remarks of Mr. Tompkins.)

A statement was read from the floor of the House this afternoon by the voice of the gentleman from Lycoming, but by the hand of the Executive Director of the Game Commission, which imputes sinister and improper motives on my part in opposition to the conference report on House Bill 454.

This is not the first time that the hand of the Executive Director, speaking through other voices has attempted to vilify me, nor do I suppose that it will be the last, whenever he does not gain his point.

I am not here however to deal in personalities, as that will settle nothing for the good of the sportsmen of this state.

I am here however to lay before the Members of this House certain issues which I will leave up to their judgment as to whether or not a Member of this House can freely oppose measures coming before it without having diabolical motives assigned to such opposition.

I do say when the time of Game Commission personnel is used to prepare decorations for the private hunting lodge of a Member that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds.

I do say when the time of Game Commission personnel is used to furnish and prepare information for publication in a privately copyrighted pamphlet that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds.

I do say when a Game Farm superintendent is reprimanded by the President of the Game Commission for exceeding his quota in the production of game, while staying within his budget, that it is time to inquire into the need for additional funds.

I do say when sportsmen's clubs throughout the State in order to have any game, must place it there at their own expense, I think it is time to inquire into the management of the Game Commission.

I do say that if the Game Commission has enough money that they will send over to this House a bill, which was never introduced, asking an appropriation of $100,000 with which to purchase a piece of land in the City of Harrisburg, upon which to later erect a Game Administration Building, that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds. Would the money proposed to be spent for this project have placed any game in the fields? Were perhaps the increased license fees they were asking for to be used as a reserve fund for this purpose?

I have introduced legislation at this session to benefit the hunter and some of it was legislation desired by the Game Commission. When the bill for increased fishing license was before the House I supported it from this floor. When the bill to increase the salary of the Fish Commissioner was before this House, I voted for it, and later voted for the adopting of the Conference Report. When the fish code was before this House I amended it by changing the beginning season on frogs from July 2 to July 1; to eliminate fine refunds; and set up a method for field settlement receipts.

At the specific instance of the gentleman from Lycoming I did not amend the license fee in said code to increase it from $1.50 to $2.00 to conform to the previous action taken by the House as he thought it might defeat the code, or perhaps the separate bill for such increase. I introduced a bill relating to Game Commission Poster which was later killed in the Senate. I introduced a bill to authorize the Department of Forests and Waters to raise vines and shrubs, part of which were intended for wild life development in this State.

Many game bills have been before this House and if you will check my voting record you will see that I voted for every one of them. Because I oppose one bill relating to Game, and I oppose it because after repeated inquiry by myself and another Member of this House we were unable to obtain information from the Game Commission to justify such increase, at the time the bill was before the committee for investigation, the Executive Director of the Game Commission has resorted to his time honored retreat of vilification and smear.

There were 137 negative votes cast against House Bill 454 last evening, and yet the gentleman has the temerity to say that my single vote among the 181 cast killed his bill, and that I did it because of some past fancied grievance.

What the sportsmen want is more game, not promises, programs, dreams or shams. When they can reduce themselves to the purpose for which they are created, and can justify themselves, I will be the first to support not a 50 cent increase by a $2.00 increase

REMODELED QUARTERS FOR CHIEF CLERK

Mr. BRUNNER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 16, 1947.

Whereas, The present quarters assigned to the Chief Clerk and his staff are small, cramped and inconveniently located to the members of the House, and

Whereas, The Majority Whip of the House was assigned offices far removed from the Hall of the House of Representatives, and

Whereas, The present assignment of offices for the Chief Clerk, Staff and Majority Whip of the House is detrimental to the functions of said officers and impedes their efficiency, and

Whereas, The quarters formerly occupied by the Treasury Department are now available and are more spacious and better located; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies of this Commonwealth be requested to remodel the quarters formerly occupied by the Treasury Department for the use of the Chief Clerk and the Majority Whip of this House of Representatives, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to the Honorable Chester M. Woolworth, Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

MAILING OF FILES OF MEMBERS

Mr. STUART offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 16, 1947.

Resolved, That the Bureau of Publications, through the Department of Property and Supplies, be directed to mail files of bills and journals on the desks of Members desiring to secure the same, to places designated by them, all files being received by them through the office of the Chief Clerk.

FILING OF COMMITTEE RECORDS WITH CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the Chairmen of Committees that under the rules they are directed to file all bills and records that are in their possession as Chairman of Committees with the Chief Clerk, who in turn is directed to retain these bills and records in his custody.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, 1939 was the first time I sat in the hall of this Legislature, and I was filled with ambition and I was filled with pride. I have enjoyed the sentiments that go with being an outsider in the House and with the thrill that goes with being on the inside of the management of the House, the leadership, with you, Mr. Speaker, in 1943.

In 1943 when we adjourned we had a ceremony similar to what we had last week, when compliments were paid to you, Mr. Speaker, and to me as Whip, and I said at that time that I was not overly sentimental, but at the same time I could not help a feeling of nostalgia. Since that time I have served two years in the Navy, I came back and through the kind regard of the people of my district I served again on the floor of this House. I have enjoyed myself again, and I have been thrilled with the membership and the friendships that went along with it.

Now, I am closing out my term in the House, and I want to sing just one short sentence, not a swan song, that I will not be back, except as an outsider sitting in the aisle over here, not as a Member but as a former Member. That I can look forward to the day that the Speaker will say "There is a former member here" and the boys will stand up and give me a little cheer. But I am saying this only out of the deepness of my heart, as I will not be back, but I want everybody here—I don't want to say "hello" and "goodby" to everybody in this House, because I will be here in the House again, I will be back sitting over here watching things going on and saying "Hello" to everybody and renewing acquaintances. I want every Member of this House to know that I cherish their friendship during the time that I have spent with them in the time I have been here, and I want to say goodby formally but not finally.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair might say to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that he realizes why he wears that smile, coming from the same district as the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, and a good friend of the Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman may be in error. He may not be elected Mayor of Johnstown.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might say to the gentleman if he needs a few good campaign speeches that the Speaker could probably give him a few to help elect the gentleman as Mayor of the city of Johnstown.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, my friend and colleague has reminded me of a story on skepticism. There was a girl, a young girl who walked in the forest every day. One day she was walking along and she saw a little frog lying in a puddle. She passed the frog, and the frog said, "Hello, little girl," the little girl said, "Who said that?" She looked around and said "Did you say that?" The frog said "Yes, I did." And she said "How can you speak, a little frog?" The frog said "I am not a frog, I am a fairy prince who was turned into a frog by a wicked witch, and I must go home and sleep on the pillow of some young girl, so I will return to my state as a fairy prince." So the little girl took him home and placed him on her pillow and went to sleep, and when she woke up sure enough there was the fairy prince lying on her pillow in the morning with her. And do you know, Mr. Speaker, to this day her mother doesn't believe that that is how he got there.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 896, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 579) entitled "An act to fix the salary and mileage of the members of the General Assembly and to provide for the furnishing of such postage stationery and supplies as may be necessary for the conduct of their offices and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" providing an expense and clerical allowance for members of the General Assembly

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. NOT VOTING—1

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, coming into the closing hours of this session I do not intend to make a speech tonight, but I did spend part of the evening trying to advance the spirit of friendship and cooperation that has been going on on the floor of this House this afternoon.

We saw earlier in the evening how the gentleman from Delaware made a comeback in championing his cause. We have seen the champion from Philadelphia looking down from his throne, but in order to carry the congeniality of the occasion and to smooth the way for everybody concerned and just generally make people happy all around, I have arranged with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles Smith, who has a lot of control apparently over the tunnel properties down there, to have Mr. Turner appointed on the new Tunnel Commission, and then every Friday, Saturday and Sunday he will be allowed one of those coin boxes at the end of the tunnel. We are going to hand him a good job and that will help to pay him for the weekends and time will not be so heavy on his hands.

So, Mr. Speaker, in recognition of the gentleman's new appointment to the new Tunnel Commission, I recommend that the House give him a good hand.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The SPEAKER. In this corner we have weighing two hundred and fifteen pounds, the champion of Delaware, Mr. Turner, the man of the hour.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, for his kindness in electing me to this office. I regret that under the Constitution I will be unable to hold, because it carries with it, which Charles Smith was very careful to say, a salary of five thousand dollars a year. In the second place I have to resign from that position at the end of the summer, because Charley Smith told me after the bill passed he was working that side of the road.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 569.

An Act to further amend section eleven of the act, approved the sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861), entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole'; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employees; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor; and for other cognate purposes, and making an appropriation," by increasing the compensation of district supervisors in counties of the first and second class.

SENATE BILL No. 578.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is pleased to announce that we have present a former member of the House, who through the good graces of his constituents has been moved across the hall and is now a Member of the Senate.

As you Members well know, during the week the Chair has had to chastise severely Senators on the floor, but the Chair has noticed a former House Member, educated in parliamentary procedure in the hall of this House, sitting on the side of the House. The Chair might say that he did not seem to have enough strength in his right arm to raise his gavel and ask that he be removed. The Speaker's heart was softened on this last night of this 1947 session, and if the gentleman, with the permission of the House, wishes to make a confession at this late hour, the Chair is certain the Members of the House might even let him take the microphone.

The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

SENATOR MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, thank you very much. I thought that I might escape the Chair's attention, but he evidently recognized me.

I did want to come over once more to the hall of the House and sit in my chair with the Members of the House, to see if the seat still fits me, because many times since I got over on the other side I have regretted the fact that I had left this side of the Assembly.

I want to say that I keep coming over here to try out this seat for size. Sometimes I think if I really would do the thing I want to do I would come back and again sit here with you fellows, because over there we have such a sense of nobility, we never raise points of order.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say to you this, when my friend, Elwood Turner, was crying here this afternoon about all of his bills which we had been killing over there, if I were sitting over here, I probably would have raised the point of order that he was not speaking on the bill.

I am certainly glad that my good friend, Elwood Turner, made his point. I might tell you that nobody feels quite so glad as I do that Elwood has finally won a victory in this House. I don't know whether he puts that on the ground that he makes such fine pancakes, or that he is such a fine outstanding gentleman. Elwood, to you I desire to say that I am glad that you won the victory that you so richly deserved.

I hope that the Reporter is not taking all this down. I want to say that if I were in the Senate, they probably would expunge these remarks.

One of the Senators told me this afternoon that the thing he wants to do is to come over here and occupy seat 208 in the House of Representatives, and if he does, I hope that you will treat him fairly and squarely, because he is one of the outstanding gentleman of the Senate. I hope you will show him the respect that he deserves.

Thanks to you again. It is a great privilege to come back here and talk to you and to the rest of the Members of this House, and I am certainly glad to be able to be here with you today. I hope that Mr. Waterhouse will be waiting to take me back from here because I want to "get the heck" out of Harrisburg.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have asked consent to make this statement before the distinguished Senator retires from the hall of the House?

A few minutes ago I heard you speak about the august body, the Senate, and throughout this session and all previous sessions I have heard the Members here speak in glowing terms of that august chamber, that distinguished branch of the General Assembly, the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I started to study how this Senate came about, and lo and behold! I found out that the Senate is not the distinguished chamber, it is the House of Representatives. I challenge you, Mr. Speaker, and I challenge every Member of this House to search history and name one Member of the state Senate whose name went down in history in the fight for freedom in this country.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, and our distinguished Senator, when the framers of the Constitution of Pennsylvania adopted the Constitution they were fearful to entrust that thing which determines a government as to whether it shall be a democratic form of government or a totalitarian form of government, in the hands of the Senate, and they wrote into our fundamental law that all tax raising measures shall originate in the House of Representatives. That was no accident; it was not there by chance. It was there because they were people who knew what taxation without representation meant, and therefore they delivered that ultimatum to the House of Representatives and there it is today.

Mr. Speaker, another Senator has entered, and I hope he will listen too. In the Constitution of Pennsylvania there is another power. Next to the power of taxation is the power to remove people from office, the power to impeach them. The courts say that the power of impeachment stands there to protect the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and again the people said, "We shall not entrust that power in the hands of the Senate; we shall place that power in the hands of the House of Representatives," and no officer of this Commonwealth can be impeached unless the information or the indictment arises in the House of Representatives.

So, Mr. Speaker, to my very good friends, the new Members, before they get tainted with the idea that the Senate is an august assembly, I suggest to them that they read their Constitution and read the history behind it, and they will see that the House of Representatives is the body that stands between anarchy and the freedom of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the gentleman declines to be interrogated. He is afraid of lawyer's questions.

Mr. BROWN. I implore you, Mr. Speaker, to recognize the Senator from Crawford just a minute, Mr. Mahany.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would confide to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that the Chair now recognizes the forlorn Senator in the second aisle of the House this time.

Senator MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, has convinced me that the only thing that the Senate can do is to confirm Notaries Public.

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, since the Senator has returned to the floor, may I implore him that I might interrogate him?

The SPEAKER. Will the Senator from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Senator MAHANY. Knowing, as I have heard, that no one has ever declined to be interrogated on the floor of this House except the estimable woman from my district—

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, Senator Mahany, who has designs on seat No. 208?

Senator MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, perhaps it was not 208, it was the last seat in the House. This gentleman perhaps is sitting in seat 208. The gentleman said he wanted to take the last seat in the House of Representatives, meaning he was taking the most ignominious seat here.

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, I readily realize that I have occupied seat 208 in this House, but I don't know about this ignominious statement. I want to know who that individual may be.

Senator MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, Senator Tarr has said to me something about the fact that he couldn't get any legislation through the House, so he came over here to speak for himself.

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Senator.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON GOVERNOR

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor and inform him that the House is ready to adjourn sine die has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON SENATE

Mr. BRUNNER. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is ready to adjourn sine die at 8:00 p. m. today has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair during this entire session, as he mentioned the other night, has had the most splendid cooperation of all the Members of this House. Since 1943, when I first was in a position of leadership in this House, I know it was the desire of our friend, the then Speaker, Mr. Fiss, and those in a position of leadership, particularly in the planning with the Parliamentarian, that they have an orderly closing of the legislative session, without the usual turmoil and lack of dignity and decorum.

I want to say that I believe the Members who have been here for a much longer period of time than I will admit that this is probably the finest demonstration of the kind of closing which I know has been the desire of the leadership of this House for many, many years.

The Chair wants to thank the Members who have stood by during these two days for their fine attendance at these sessions, even to this very minute. I think of those lines, as I drop the gavel for the last time on this rostrum, of that song with which we are all familiar,—it may be that this has not been the most perfect session; perhaps we could not call the things we did the most perfect things, but I do feel as we retire from this body, and as we think of the hand clasps and the well wishes, the scenes upon this floor tonight, that we in our hearts have that "perfect day," and that we can truly repeat the lines.

"When we come to the end of a perfect day
We think of the friends we have made."

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

The SPEAKER. This being the day and the hour fixed by a concurrent resolution adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives as the time when this General Assembly shall adjourn sine die, I now declare this 137th regular session of the House of Representatives adjourned without day.
